Miracle From the Deep.
Gold and High Finance.
Who Understands Either?
Chance for the League.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

A MIRACLE from the deep comes to encourage those that love and respect courageous men. Two brave German fliers, Willy Rody and Christian Johanssen, and their Portuguese companion, Fernando Costa, have been found after clinging to the floating wreck of their airplane for more than 150 hours.

SAD FLYING news relates the death of Peter J. Brady, president of the Federation Bank and Trust Company of New York and head of Mayor Walker's committee on aviation.

He believed that it was his duty to fly, and he flew constantly, although he was not a pilot. He was killed when a plane piloted by James Goodwin Hall, breaker of many records, crashed into a house on Staten Island.

THE STEP taken by England "modifying" the gold standard, which means ABANDONING THE GOLD PARITY OF ENGLISH BANKNOTES temporarily, demonstrates Great Britain's determination to free herself from domination by the huge piles of gold upon which France and the United States sit like old Fafner in the Wagner opera.

The British empire, finding itself without an adequate gold supply, must arrange to transact business without such a supply, and does the only thing possible.

IN SUSPENDING the gold standard, without abandoning it, Britain goes back to her condition of 1924, and previously, canceling the gold standard act of 1925 that required the Bank of England to sell gold at fixed prices, payable in pounds.

Under that act, if you had a 10-pound note the Bank of England was compelled to give you a certain amount of gold for it.

The British over-estimated their financial strength, especially when they tried to put gigantic India on a gold basis, thus helping to destroy the value of silver and making worthless the money of over half the people on earth.

WHAT THE EFFECT of Britain's action, or the action forced upon Great Britain will be, on this and other countries, you will learn from our voluble professional "great financiers."

And as they know as little about world finance and the gold fetish as a child unborn, you will not learn MUCH.

EXPERIENCED FINANCIERS who do not guess, have no definite opinion as to the ultimate results of Britain's action.

It might increase the value of silver by convincing nations that it is dangerous to destroy one or two metals that have been used, side by side, as money for 5,000 years.

Any British obligations specifically payable in gold or in dollars will be paid according to contract. There is no hint of repudiation of any obligation.

MR. J. PIERPONT MORGAN, who talks briefly on all occasions and rarely for publication, made an exception yesterday, telling a reporter in London that he looks upon the British gold action as "a hopeful sign, and not a discouraging event."

He knows about British conditions, and believes that the British government has taken the second of necessary steps, the first being to balance the budget, the second, this step in regard to gold. He predicts "the restoration of trade in England."

THE NEW YORK Stock Exchange and Americans generally received the British news optimistically, putting up prices of important stocks.

United States Steel went up more than 4 points, and stock exchange authorities, taking steps to discourage short selling, acted wisely and promptly.

THE ENGLISH pound sterling sold off, as was expected. Britain had tried the impossible with her sudden restoration of the gold standard and the attempt to extend it to India.

The British pound may sink to $3, probably not lower. But the British will remember that the price at which other nations buy your money doesn't matter much. France stabilized her franc at 20 per cent of its original value, paying debts, including borrowings from England, with that kind of money.

Since then the French have accumulated more than $4,000,000,000 solid gold, about one-third of the world's total supply.

During the war our dollars were selling at a discount of 50 per cent in Spain, and below par in China. But that did not hurt us.

PRIME MINISTER BENNETT, of Canada, says his country will maintain the gold standard.

A "high French official" at Geneva says:

"France and the United States together can and must support the pound sterling."

Perhaps they should have supported it earlier.

More than $4,000,000,000 in gold piled up in France, more than $5,000,000,000 in the United States, make up more than 60 per cent of the world's total gold supply. Such accumulations compel other nations to get along without gold if they can.

But no one need fear that our five yellow billions will diminish in value seriously. "Gold, gold, yellow and cold" is too firmly established for any successful attack.

MEANWHILE, AS Britain temporarily goes off the gold standard, the world's affairs go on as usual. You will read this morning what President Hoover had to say in his attempt to persuade the American Legion that

MAHATMA GANDHI
HIS ARRIVAL IN ENGLAND

Indian Leader, Comedian To Meet

LONDON, Sept. 22—(INS.)—A meeting between Mahatma Gandhi, Indian independence leader, and Charles Chaplin, American film comedian, was arranged here today by mutual friends.

Chaplin, who plans to return to America shortly after a lengthy European sojourn, will meet Gandhi this evening at the home of C. L. Katial, an Indian doctor.

When informed that Chaplin had expressed a desire to meet him, Gandhi was only mildly interested. He asked:

"Who is Mr. Chaplin?"

But when told of Chaplin's international fame as a screen player, Gandhi readily agreed to the meeting.

DRY CHANGE FAVORED BY WAR VETS

Sub-Committee Action Makes Demand for Modification Big Issue of Convention

International News Service.

DETROIT, Sept. 22.—The prohibition issue became the paramount question before the thirteenth annual convention of the American Legion early today when the resolutions sub-committee, by a vote of 9 to 7, decided to recommend a modification of the dry law. It was a momentous victory for the anti-drys.

This decision of the resolutions sub-committee was a surprise to convention leaders, who had expected a dry report. Its action meant the prohibition issue would be submitted to the convention for a direct vote—something the Legion leaders had never anticipated. It marked the greatest parliamentary upset in Legion history.

FULL COMMITTEE CALLED

A call was immediately issued for a session of the full resolutions committee, on which every state in the union is represented. High Legion officials informed International News Service that the resolutions committee would support the recommendation of the sub-committee and that the prohibition issue would be thrown onto the floor of the convention with a report favoring its modification.

The full resolutions committee may upset the sub-committee's report, but such an outcome is not anticipated. If the full committee does support the sub-committee, the prohibition issue will be tossed before the convention for a direct vote for the first time in its history.

The anti-dry leaders of the convention spent the early hours this morning conferring on a report. They could not agree on how the dry law should be amended. In their disagreement lay the only hope of the drys for victory.

One group, represented on the sub-committee, has proposed the

HEAT RELIEF TOMORROW FORECAST

Thunderstorms to Precede Break in Torrid Wave Here, Brotzman Predicts

The long September heat wave will be shattered with the advent of autumn tomorrow, Forecaster W. S. Brotzman today predicted.

As the mercury hovered around 90 again, reports from the plains states were that much lower temperature prevailed as far east as Indiana, with snow and sub-freezing weather in Wyoming.

Tundershowers are likely to precede the drop in temperature, Brotzman said. The record high temperature for this date is 94, recorded in 1895.

MANIAC SOUGHT IN YACHT DEATH

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service.

HUNTINGTON, N. Y., Sept. 22—The trail which Long Island authorities hope will lead to the murderers of Benjamin Collings pointed toward New York City this afternoon. District Attorney Alexander Blue, in charge of the case, announced that he had asked Manhattan police officials to check up on an insane middle-aged man and a boy, both of whom might be found in New York.

According to Mrs. Collings, the crime was committeed by two such men as Blue had in mind. Meanwhile, Felix di Martini, private investigator, was expected to question Mrs. Collings once more, this time at her home in Hillcrest, Cann.

WILMINGTON, Del., Sept. 22—(AP.)—The Delaware State Police late last night picked up a middle-aged man and a youth on suspicion of being wanted in connection with the death of Benjamin P. Collings in Long Island Sound recently, but they were later released.

President Hoover Arrives in Capital

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22—(AP.)—President Hoover arrived in the capital early today from Detroit, where he spoke yesterday before the American Legion.

TWO SAVED IN RUINS OF BUILDING

Rescued After Hours in Wreckage of Apartment; One Killed, Many Injured

International News Service.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—Miss Clara Bell, 24-year-old waitress, trapped in the collapse of a double apartment building, was rescued from the wreckage today and rushed to the Presbyterian Hospital by police.

A short time later, George Jamison, 41, was removed from the ruins. He was rushed to the Presbyterian Hospital in a critical condition. Police had pumped oxygen into his lungs for hours while he was imprisoned in the wreckage.

George Mitchell, a tenant, was killed in the crash.

More than a dozen other persons, men, women and children were injured in the crash.

Miss Bell smiled pluckily as firemen worked frantically to reach her. She said:

"I'm all right, but my leg is pinned beneath a board."

Cause of the crash was not determined. One resident of the apartment house was quoted as saying he notified the Fire Department that cracks had appeared in his bedroom but that no cognizance was taken of his report. A short time later the buildings sagged inward and collasped, burying a score of residents in the wreckage.

U. S. Orders Wilkins To Bring Sub Home

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(AP.)—Sir Hubert Wilkins has been informed by the Shipping Board that he must deliver his submarine Nautilus to a United States North Atlantic port.

Wilkins leased the discarded Navy craft through the Shipping Board for $1 a year. He had asked what must be done with the vessel after examination at Oslo led some to say it was too dilapidated to cross the Atlantic.

Aimee's Husband Loses Six Pounds

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 22.—(INS.)—David L. Hutton, baritone choir singer, weighed 235 pounds when he eloped with Aimee McPherson, noted woman preacher. Today he weighs a mere 229. Aimee explained the loss of weight by announcing she had compelled her newlywed husband to cut out candy, cake, pie and other sweets.

M'GOVERN PETITIONS GRANTED

Park and Coyne Seek State Assistance in Inquiry; Judge Must Make Request

Recounting of 17 additional ballot boxes was ordered today by Judge James R. Macfarlane when he granted petitions presented in Common Pleas Court by Edward O. Spotts, Jr., an attorney representing County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern.

At the same time it was learned the District Attorney's office had been given information that ballot box stuffers were at work when the grand jury investigation of election thievery started on Friday.

Faced with the specter of court action, the stuffers, the informants said, deserted their task and made desperate efforts to obliterate traces of their tampering.

Source of the information given the District Attorney's office regarding Friday's alleged ballot stuffing was closely guarded, but it was said to have come from half a dozen or more persons.

DISTRICTS AFFECTED

The districts in which recounts were ordered today are:

Second District of Bridgeville; Second District of Third Ward, Etna; First District of Second Ward, Glassport; First District of Forward Township; First Ward, East Pittsburgh; First District of First Ward, Etna.

Fifteenth District of Fifteenth Ward; Fourth of Ninth; Fifth of Ninth; Fourth of Tenth; Fourteenth of Tenth; Seventh of Thirteenth; Twelfth of Twelfth; Fifth of Sixteenth; Second of Ninth; Tenth of Sixteenth, and Twelfth of Fifteenth, all in Pittsburgh.

CLOSED BANKS' AUDIT RUSHED

Bank examiners and newly appointed receivers for the three banks which closed their doors yesterday are rushing the work of organizing staffs to audit all accounts and to hasten the issuance of receiver's certificates.

Up to this morning no definite estimate could be made of the time necessary for this work. It was generally thought that about 30 days would elapse before receiver's certificates could be issued.

Member banks of the Pittsburgh Clearing House have agreed to advance 50 per cent of the deposits represented by these certificates issued by the receiver for the Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A. It is generally expected that this offer will be extended to cover deposits of the Highland National Bank and the Franklin Savings and Trust Company, the two smaller organizations carried under by the closing of the downtown bank.

C. O. Thomas, of the staff of the Comptroller of the Currency, arrived here late yesterday from Altoona to act as receiver for the Bank of Pittsburgh. He declared that he could make no statement regarding the bank's affairs until he had had more time.

Pipe and Hoover Message Cheer Woman Just 106

NEW LEXINGTON, O., Sept. 22—(AP.)—President Hoover has reminded Mrs. Susan Palmer Kennedy that today was her one hundred and sixth birthday anniversary.

The President's congratulatory message came with similar greetings from Gov. George White, of Ohio, and served as a reminder to Mrs. Kennedy that she was to have another birthday. She commented:

"I might have forgotten all about it. Had so many of them, you know."

Mrs. Kennedy plans to spend the day quietly at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. J. W. Ricketts. With her will be her old clay pipe, which she smokes in her comfortable rocking chair. Her birthday message is:

"Don't let any one tell you the first 100 years are the hardest."

CHINESE PRESIDENT READY TO DECLARE WAR ON JAPAN

CHANG DEMANDS KELLOGG PACT ACTION

'United Nation' Held Ready To Battle for Justice; Tokio Move Links Soviet

BULLETIN.

GENEVA, Sept. 22.—(AP.)—The representatives of China and Japan at the League of Nations were called upon at a special session of the League council today to withdraw the Japanese and Chinese troops now in the disputed Manchurian area.

NANKING, Sept. 22.—(AP.)—Addressing a mass meeting today, Chiang Kai Shek, head of the Chinese Nationalist government, said that if the League of Nations and Kellogg Pact signatories "fail to uphold justice" between China and Japan regarding Manchuria "the national government is prepared for a final and supreme struggle."

The Chinese President asserted:

"I shall lead the arms and the entire nation in the fight for the preservation of our race and to uphold the dignity of our people.

"Let me assure you that I shall stand or fall with my country. I shall go to the front and, if necessary, fall with other patriots."

Reports previously were widely circulated both here and in Canton that peace was about to be made between the Nanking government and the insurgent regime in South China in order that the nation might present a united front to deal with Japan."

Japan Agrees to Plan For Joint Commission

TOKIO, Sept. 22.—(AP.)—The Japanese government today notified its minister to China that it stood ready to approve the proposal of T. V. Soong, Chinese minister of finance, for the appointment of a joint Chino-Japanese commission to endeavor to solve the Manchurian controversy.

While this definite step was being taken toward amelioration of the difficulties between China and Japan, Rengo News Agency here received an unconfirmed report indicating military invasion of Manchuria by Japan was spreading.

URGENT APPEALS

The report said Japanese military authorities at Changchun, terminus of the South Manchurian Railway, had sent troops to Harbin, inland metropolis of Manchuria, in response to urgent appeals from Japanese residents there.

Should the Rengo report prove true and Japanese troops move into Harbin, complications possibly involving Russia might ensue if the Japanese decided to use the Chinese Eastern Railway. This line is the direct route between Changchun and Harbin.

The Chinese Eastern Railway, subject of much bickering between Russia and China in recent years, is operated under a joint commission of Russians and Chinese, but the operations of the line rests chiefly in Russian hands.

Changchun is the northern terminus of the South Manchurian Railway, center of the immediate trouble between China and Japan.

New Envoy to U. S. Appointed by China

NANKING, Sept. 22.—(AP.)—The Chinese Nationalist government today announced the appointment of Dr. W. W. Yen, premier of the old Peiping government, as minister to the United States.

Dr. Yen, who is rated as one of China's ablest statesmen, twice previously declined the appointment, pleading that he had retired from public service. He accepted the third offer, however.

Graham-Paige Not Linked in New Firm

DETROIT, Sept. 22.—(INS.)—The Graham brothers of automobile fame today issued a statement that George Graham, who recently announced organization of a new automobile company with a 100,000 yearly production schedule, had not been connected with the Graham Paige Company as was erroneously reported.

The Graham who will head the new concern was formerly with a large Toledo (O.) automotive manufacturing company.

PITTSBURGH'S PIED PIPER -:- By Quin Hall

Bonus, But Not Beer, Beaten, Says Gibbons

Famed Reporter Sees Legion's Anti-Drys Well Entrenched

By FLOYD GIBBONS

(Copyright, 1931, by International News Service.)

DETROIT, Sept. 22.—Hello everybody.

American Legionnaires, behind the barrage of music and noise they've laid down on the whole Detroit sector, are consolidating their positions. The first one is their stand on beer. That's the one the majority wet troops have put into the strongest shape.

There wasn't much progress made in the big bonus drive. It was a strong-looking offensive until the bonus forces saw they were outweighed and President Hoover fired the last defensive gun. Then the pro-bonus and pro-beer groups fell back on the Gambrinus line. They are strongly entrenched there.

STRONG BEER LEADERS

And it's hot enough weather here in Detroit to make the semi-drys listen to wet arguments when the big debate on the Legion's stand begins. There are lots of strong leaders in the beer army. It was different in the bonus campaign.

In any cool, shady spot behind the militant front lines at the convention city, there are other mergers going on.

The boys are talking about how to consolidate the Legion's place in politics.

They want friends in headquarters. So in hotel lobbies or wherever the veterans go to rest after another march over the hot asphalt there are whispers, button-holing and deep secrets.

The ranks are divided in those impromptu conferences.

BOOMS PLENTIFUL

Since Newton D. Baker came to town and made a good speech before the convention, there have been whispers about him as the Democratic presidential candidate. Most of the boys say he's a good fellow, but there are still plenty of partisans for all kinds of other candidates.

Other places there are more arguments for Col. Teddy Roosevelt as a Republican vice presidential candidate. He's been stopping traffic since he arrived from Porto Rico and he's been taking a big part in legion affairs. There are favorite sons from many states too. Matter of fact, there are more young booms loosening around the divisional headquarters than there would be at a political picnic.

Picking out a lot of favorite political sons for the legion isn't such an easy job as rounding up sympathetic ex-doughboys to vote for anti-dry resolutions, because the weather is hot right now and thirsts grow where political interest doesn't flourish so well. But all those rumors keep everybody's eyes on mysterious pow-wows and wait for the answer when the delegates close their session.

SLAIN WOMAN'S FRIEND FREED

COUDERSPORT, Pa., Sept. 22.—(AP.)—After a coroner's jury had reported that Mrs. Lillian R. Wager, 22, Buffalo, N. Y., nurse, came to her death "at the hands of a person or persons unknown," Henry C. Felber, also of Buffalo, N. Y., was released from jail here last night. Mrs. Wager was fatally wounded while riding with Felber in an automobile.

The woman was struck by a bullet which pierced the back of the machine as it was parked near a cemetery at Port Allegany. Felber told authorities they were returning to Buffalo from Washington, D. C., and had stopped at Port Allegany to rest. He said Mrs. Wager was resting in the rear seat while he was sleeping in the front seat when she suddenly cried that "something terrible has happened."

Felber took the woman to a hospital where she was first believed by doctors to have died of heart disease. Later the bullet wound was found.

Estelle Holds Divorce Void; Calls Jack Poor Sport

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—(AP.)—Estelle Taylor maintains she is still Mrs. Jack Dempsey.

Although the former heavyweight champion of the world obtained a divorce from her at Reno yesterday, she said she would not recognize it and accused Dempsey of "poor sportsmanship." She said:

"Jack may feel very free at this moment, but until the California courts, where we both maintain our residences, declare me free, I shall still call myself Mrs. Jack Dempsey."

Miss Taylor, who is appearing at a Chicago theater, said her attorney, Joseph Scott, advised her "not to worry, as he has full confidence that the courts of California will protect me." She added that action would be taken to have the Reno divorce invalidated when her own divorce complaint is heard in Los Angeles. She added:

"I'm sorry that at this crucial time of Jack's career he should do anything so unsportsmanlike."

Apparently the "crucial time" referred to his plans to go to Midas, Nev., to work as a laborer in a mine of which he is part owner in an effort to condition himself for a comeback campaign for the heavyweight championship.

At the divorce hearing in Reno yesterday he testified that his wife's motion picture and stage career had broken up their marriage.

LEGION BOARD VOTES CHANGE IN DRY LAW

submission of a Twentieth Amendment to the American people legalizing federal and state manufacture, sale, possession and transportation of alcoholic liquors. This brand new idea for modification of the Eighteenth Amendment was supported by western leaders.

WOULD RESTORE LIQUOR

It would restore liquor, wine and beer, but would ban the saloons because individual sale or manufacture or transportation of alcoholic beverages would still be forbidden by the Eighteenth Amendment.

Another group demanded straight-out repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. With such a diversity of views, the nine anti-drys on the Resolutions Subcommittee were having a difficult time in drafting a unified report.

The anti-prohibition forces meanwhile were credited with having won their first contest with the drys yesterday when the convention rejected a two-hour limitation of debate on any one subject. They were aided by advocates of the cash bonus, who were equally opposed to five minutes and each department to two speakers. This rule would result in a 10-hour debate of the prohibition question if the limit was reached.

100,000 Vets March In Convention Parade

Staging one of the most colorful pageants in the nation's history, 100,000 World War veterans marched over a 10-mile route here today in the Legion's annual parade.

A crowd estimated at from 500,000 to 700,000 viewed the procession. Officials estimated the parade would require from seven to nine hours to pass a given point.

While the veterans paraded through brilliantly decorated boulevards before cheering throngs, the Legion's political chieftains sent out the word to their followers to support President Hoover's plea for a moratorium on all unusual federal expenditures, including the proposal for an immediate cash payment of the bonus in full.

SOUTHERNER FAVORED

A Southern Democrat, who voted for Al Smith in 1928—Lieut. Henry L. Stephens, of North Carolina—will be next national commander of the American Legion, unless the convention overthrows its leaders, International News Service learned today.

The North Carolinian was indorsed by the so-called "king-makers" of the legion at a secret midnight caucus and this insured his election, unless the convention stages an unprecedented revolt. Stephens served as a second lieutenant with the Eighty-first Division in France. He will be the first eastern Southerner—from the old "rebel" states—ever to be elected national commander of the legion.

JOB PROGRAM READY

The Legion's unemployment relief program, already approved by President Hoover, will call upon 10,000 Legion posts to co-operate with the federal government's plans and concentrate their own activities in local communities, it was learned today by International News Service.

The commission will recommend that posts take immediate steps to keep their jobless citizens at home; establish registration agencies for the unemployed; spur anactment of public works programs in the Congress, in state Legislatures and in local communities, and advocate a "holiday" in immigration.

MILITIA MOVES ON IOWA FARMS

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 22.—(INS.)—Two thousand National Guardsmen were being mobilized today to move into Cedar County, where a tense situation has arisen because of farmers' opposition to the state tuberculin test law.

The call for mobilization was issued by Adjt. Gen. W. H. Bailey upon orders from Gov. Turner, who is now in Washington.

Sheriff Foster Maxson, of Cedar County, appealed for Guardsmen after his deputies were unable to cope with a mob of angered farmers who defied veterinarians. The latter were proceeding to the farm of J. W. Linker to inspect cattle as required by the tuberculin law when they were beset by the mob, numbering about 400 men.

Mud and rocks were hurled at the automobiles carrying the veterinarians and Sheriff's deputies who went along to protect them. One deputy stopped his automobile and was thrown into the mud by the angered farmers. The officers and veterinarians were forced to turn back.

EPISCOPALIANS GET DRY ISSUE

DENVER, Col., Sept. 22.—(AP.)—Prohibition has made a brief appearance on the stage of the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Whether the issue ever will be brought up in the House of Deputies or the House of Bishops was problematical today, the end of the first week of the convention.

A resolution providing that the church urge Congress to authorize a national referendum on prohibition was read in the House of Deputies late yesterday and immediately referred to the committee on world peace, industrial stability and lawlessness. The resolution was placed before the convention by the Diocese of Central New York, of which the Rt. Rev. Charles Fiske is bishop.

HOOVER BACKS BRITISH GOLD MOVE

Sees U. S. Trade Unhurt by Action; Value of Pound Drops; Commodities Rally

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Careful consideration by President Hoover and his cabinet today of the situation arising from England's abandonment of the gold standard convinced them that the move, regrettable as it may be, will have little effect on American business and finance. This was stated on high authority today immediately after the cabinet adjourned.

Moreover, it was stated, Mr. Hoover and his advisers are at one with the British government in being hopeful that it will have the desired effect in England of bringing about ultimate price reductions with an accompanying increase in employment and demand for raw materials.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Relieved of the necessity of maintaining the pound at par and with the "most securely balanced budget in the world," Great Britain today faced her financial future with renewed confidence.

Suspension of the gold standard for six months became effective officially when a royal commission composed of Lord Sankey, Lord Onslow and Lord Denman, acting for King George, who is in Scotland, gave royal assent to the Parliamentary bill releasing the Bank of England from paying a fixed rate for gold.

London banks today sold the pound sterling for $4.55, compared with a par value of $4.86.

Assurances to the British public that the pound would not fall to an extremely low level as did the French franc and German mark were given by Snowden in a radio address shortly after Parliament had passed the gold standard bill.

Snowden also asserted there would be no justification for alarming price increases of foodstuffs and other necessities, and urged the public to stand firm without embarking on "panicky buying or hoarding" of food.

British Railways Revise Fare Rates

LONDON, Sept. 22.—(INS.)—All British railways today announced revision of their continental fare rates in keeping with the reduced value of the pound sterling.

Passenger air lines were expected to take similar steps.

it should not at this time demand the right to borrow further from the government on bonus certificates.

The President's address to the American Legion was simple, brief and convincing.

The making of it required courage, for it was a direct challenge to unpopularity.

YOU WILL BE grieved perhaps, certainly not astonished, to learn that the London Times blames the troubles of Britain largely on this country.

It seems that the United States and France "have not played the gold standard as it should be played."

According to the London Times, the gold standard is excellent, while London has the gold, but not so good when the gold goes to New York and Paris.

THE LEAGUE of Nations has a chance to show the world what it amounts to, with the Japanese accusing China of all wickedness, capturing and shooting up a Chinese city, and warning the inhabitants in Mukden that anyone hampering Japanese troop movements, and endangering Japanese lives, will be shot.

Japan lets it be known that no interference by the League of Nations is desired, and there will, probably, be none to amount to anything, although China is clamoring for proof that the League really exists.

STEWARDESS OF MANY SUITORS NAMED IN KANE CASE

BLONDE WOOED BY NOBILITY ON LINERS

'Other Woman' Revealed as Servant at Sea, Charmer In Life of Ease Ashore

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—A Cinderella of the high seas who doffed her uniform of ocean stewardess between voyages to step out in golden slippers.

This was the picture painted today of Elizabeth Harris Dahl, divorcee, who wrote romantic letters to Prof. Elisha Kent Kane, charged with drowning his wife near Hampton, Va.

"Lizbeth," although only a stewardess aboard the liner Leviathan and later the America, was courted for her beauty, charm and wit by the elite of trans-Atlantic passengerdom—British nobility, kings of finance and princes of professional life.

SITS WITH ROYALTY

Taking orders aboard the vessel, the fascinating 45-year-old stewardess lived on land at the most exclusive and expensive hotels and ordered her suitors about like a true queen of the seas.

When in London, the lovely blonde stewardess stayed at the palatial Savoy Hotel. When in New York, she resided on Park avenue and Riverside drive.

So great was her political influence that at the Ascot races in England, the ultra social event of the season, she obtained a seat in the royal inclosure, close to the King and Queen of the British Empire. And when the Prince of Wales passed her en promenade, he nodded pleasantly to "Lizbeth."

This, and much, much more was revealed to International News Service by friends of Mrs. Dahl, who will be questioned as to her relationship with Prof. Kane by a Virginia deputy sheriff en route here.

Both her friends and her mother, Mrs. Phoebe Harris, visiting in Mount Holly, N. J., today deprecated talk of any "affair" between the Tennessee professor and the fascinating stewardess.

Charge Reveals Wife's Constant Fear of Kane

HAMPTON, Va., Sept. 22.—(INS.)—The case of the commonwealth against Prof. Elisha Kent Kane, 37, University of Tennessee romance language instructor, charged with the murder of his pretty 30-year-old wife, Jenny Graham Kane, was a matter of record today.

A story of alleged brutality, of a woman who lived in constant fear of her husband—but who nevertheless would "rather die than divorce him," was laid bare in a 36-page detailed report of the four-day inquest into Mrs. Kane's strange death by drowning off lonely Grand View Beach a week ago Friday.

Filed by the man who judged the drowning of Mrs. Kane a deliberate, premeditated murder, Coroner G. K. Vanderslice, the report for the first time made an open book of the feelings of the parents and relatives of the dead Mrs. Kane, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Graham.

Heart and soul behind the prosecution seeking to convict Kane of a first degree murder, the Graham family has remained behind the official scenes in the drama.

Kane faces preliminary arraignment tomorrow on a murder charge.

SCOUT LEADERS MEET HERE

The eleventh annual meeting of Region No. 3, Boy Scouts of America, opened at noon today in Hotel William Penn with scouts and officials from many sections of the country in attendance.

Chief James E. West, who was to have made the keynote address, became suddenly ill in New York late yesterday and was rushed to the Mayo brothers' sanitarium in Rochester, Minn.

Dr. H. W. Hurt, director of the Under Boy Research, spoke in Mr. West's place.

The toastmaster at the noon luncheon was Harmar D. Denny, Jr., president of the Allegheny County Council, west. A general assembly followed the luncheon.

The meeting will conclude with a banquet in the William Penn tomorrow night, at which Judge Owen J. Roberts, of the United States Supreme Court and chairman of the board, Chester County Council, will be the guest of honor.

Lady Astor's Plea Fails to Aid Teacher

LADY NANCY ASTOR

Russians Refuse to Allow Wife to Join Yale Instructor

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 22.—(AP.)—Prof. Dmitri Krynine, of Yale, who has for the past two years unsuccessfully attempted to persuade Moscow authorities to permit his wife to join him in this country, reveals that his application to George Bernard Shaw and Lady Astor in July has resulted in another refusal.

He received a cablegram yesterday, he said, in which Mme. Krynine told of the official refusal of her application for a passport, and added that she would make another application in a month. She was notified of the refusal September 10.

Prof. Krynine, in July, sent cablegrams to both Lady Astor and George Bernard Shaw, then visiting in Russia, begging them "in the name of humanitarian principles," to aid his wife to gain a passport to leave Moscow.

He and Mme. Krynine have been separated since 1929 when he, an authority on soil mechanics and highway engineering came to this country.

Boy Admits Killing Man, Then Attending Church

CROWN POINT, Ind., Sept. 22.—(AP.)—A 15-year-old high school boy, Perry Swank, Jr., confessed last night, Sheriff Roy Holly said, that he killed a former town marshal of Lowell, Ind., and then went to church.

Eugene Duckworth, who for 20 years was a town marshal, but who lately ran an oil filling station on the outskirts of Lowell, was the victim. He was shot to death last Sunday evening in a robbery.

Young Perry, a sophomore of Creston, Ind., with dark, curly hair, was quoted by the Sheriff as saying that he had "a little kick out of that murder." He said at first that he killed Duckworth to get money for school books, but later changed his story to that that he wished to run away from home.

FIFTH AVENUE BLAZES UNDER NEW LIGHTS

Merchants, City Officials And Utility Men Fete 'White Way' Inauguration

Leaders in Pittsburgh's civic and business life met on a street corner last night. After a dinner celebrated the event, a switchman turned on $80,000 worth of street lights that makes Fifth avenue, downtown, one of the brightest of the bright ways.

Following a campaign by the Fifth Avenue Association, headed by Edgar J. Kaufmann, the lights were obtained through agreement between the city and the Duquesne Light Company, the city paying $35,000 and the utility $45,000.

Speakers at the dinner, held in William Penn Hotel, were Frank R. Phillips, president of the light company; John Herron, president of City Council; Director Edward G. Lang of the Public Works Department; Councilman W. Y. English, William McKinley, of the utility firm, and others. Mr. Kaufmann presided.

STREET MEETING

Shortly after the dinner the 100 or more guests went to Fifth avenue and Grant street, where Mr. Herron phoned and instructed the electric workmen to turn the switch. The street, dark, except for the electric signs, blazed with the white lights of the new system.

Mr. Kaufmann, in "hoping that the lights would brighten the dark days we are passing through," thanked city and utility officials for their co-operation. He said that in the few short blocks that make up downtown Fifth avenue, the assessed value of the property is over $50,000,000—property that pays one-twentieth of the city's taxes.

He said such an investment justified the expenditure. He predicted that within 50 years Fifth avenue would be a street of buildings of one type of architecture, a street developed artistically. A uniformity of electric signs is the next objective of the association, he said.

POWER OF "WHITE WAY"

Mr. Phillips said the lights represented only 3 10 of 1 per cent of the illuminating quality of the sun, but that their illumination was greater than the moon's. He pointed out that in this Fifth avenue area more current is used than in any similar locality in the United States, and that only two other sections have lower rates. Mr. Herron spoke of the pleasure Council got in giving the citizens what they want, and said that "no one ever came to Council and had to pay one cent of tribute to get anything."

Mr. Kaufmann complimented Harry Dangerfield, president of Reymers', for his work in obtaining the lights.

Lawyer Acts to Free 23 Bible Students

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Sept. 22.—(AP.)—Attorney Charles M. Bowman, of this city, will petition the Luzerne County Court today for a habeas corpus hearing for Clayton Woodward, editor of the Golden Age, official publication of the International Bible Students' Association, and 22 of its members who were committed to Luzerne County Prison in default of $1,500 bail and a fine of $25 each. They were arrested on Sunday by Pittston police and fined for distributing alleged seditious literature.

WALKER BACK AT DESK, MUM ON PROBE

Arrives Home From Tour Of Europe to Face Seabury Investigators

By CHARLES J. M'GUIRK
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Mayor James J. Walker, arrived at City Hall bright but not early this afternoon, thus breaking half of the promise he made for publication last night that he would be at his desk "bright and early today" after his vacation in Europe.

He was genial, but uncommunicative on the activities of the Seabury committee, declared that the unemployment situation abroad was much more serious than it is here and reiterated his intention of cutting next year's budget to the bone.

Asked if he had anything to say about the stories regarding the efforts of the Seabury committee to subpena Russell T. Sherwood, his personal accountant, the Mayor replied:

"No. So much has been written about it that I'm not going into any controversy over it now."

Completing an 11,000-mile "rest cure" that turned out to be a round of fetes, dinners and honors fit for a king, the bronzed Mayor came into port last night wearing a smoke-blue suit topped by a white beret with a vizor. He said:

While he described his trip, he fondled a Japanese chow dog, given him by a Carlsbad barber. He said:

"This pup, which I call my baby, almost started a scandal about me. When I went down the gangplank at Cherbourg someone heard me say, 'Where's my baby?' It required a bit of explaining."

LINDY ENDS 2ND FLOOD SURVEY

NANKING, China, Sept. 22.—(AP.)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh landed on Lotus Lake here at 5 p. m. today after a seven and one-half hour survey flight over the flooded region in Northern Kiangsu Province west of the Grand Canal. It was their second such flight.

They discovered a badly flooded area heretofore unknown to the National Flood Relief Commission. The couple said they expected to make another aerial survey tomorrow.

Photographs taken by Col. Lindbergh during his first survey flight, declared to have been highly successful, were turned over to the Flood Relief Commission for use in its operations.

'Salesman' Proves Prince; Des Moines A-Flutter

DES MOINES, Ia., Sept. 22.—(AP.)—Charles Dawson, posing as a traveling salesman, visited in Des Moines last week. He danced with several girls at an exclusive club. He golfed in select circles but did not defeat his opponents too badly.

Handsome and fluent of speech with an Oxford accent, Dawson was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bohen and Robert de Buisseret, an employe of a publishing firm. He left later for Washington.

Yesterday, however, there was perturbation among those with whom he played golf. Hearts fluttered that last week were calm.

For, much as in a fairy story, Dawson today was revealed as Charles, Prince of Belgian, Count of Flanders, second son of Albert I.

SHIP TO LAND SEA FLIERS IN N. Y. FRIDAY

Rescued Airmen Transferred To American-Bound Liner 200 Miles Off Cape Race

SS. STAVANGERFJORD, by radio to the Associated Press, Sept. 22.—(AP.)—Willy Rody, Christian Johanssen and Fernando Costa Viega, transatlantic airmen who were picked up off the Newfoundland coast by the motorship, Belmoria, were taken aboard this vessel today and will arrive in New York Friday afternoon.

The position given in the radio message from Capt. Irgens, of the Stavangerfjord is less than 200 miles off Cape Race, N. F. The Stavangerfjord is a Norwegian-American liner.

SAVED FROM SEA

Rody and Johanssen, Germans, and Viega, Portuguese, who flew out of Portugal a week ago Sunday morning and had not been seen since the afternoon of September 14, were fished out of the ocean yesterday by the crew of the Norwegian motorship Belmoira, about 80 miles off Cape Pine on the Newfoundland coast.

Aviation circles were speculating as to what must have been the fliers' experiences during their 148 hours at the mercy of wind and wave. When they left they had only a few sandwiches and three loaves of bread—all of which must have long since been exhausted.

News of the fliers' remarkable rescue was received with a variety of emotions by their friends and relatives.

FIANCEE WEEPS

In Bad Ems, Rody's mother, had all but given him up for dead and could only offer thanks to Providence. His sister Anna said:

"When the news came I nearly fainted."

Fraulein Erna Gaubenheim, his 24-year-old fiancee, wept with joy.

In Hamburg, Johanssen's wife and 10-year-old son were overwhelmed by the news of his safety.

In Copenhagen, Johanssen's mother refused to be amazed because she had believed all the time that his luck would pull him through.

Rescued Pacific Aviators Repair Plane in Nome

NOME, Alaska, Sept. 22.—(INS.)—Don Moyle and Cecil Allen, rescued Pacific aviators, today supervised repairs to their monoplane preparatory to their take-off for Seattle, the fliers' original destination.

The California airmen arrived in Nome yesterday after an uneventful 600-mile flight from Miano Pilgino, Siberia, where they had remained since their rescue from a barren island by the Soviet steamer Buriat.

They said they would probably remain in Nome several days due to the necessity of repairs to their plane, whose engine was damaged by the use of Diesel fuel.

PASTOR FACES GIRL'S CHARGE

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Sept. 22.—(AP.)—Miss Carrie A. Williams came before a trial board today to repeat the charges she has made against Dr. William A. Shelton, pastor of the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

The nature of the charges brought by the pastor's former secretary has not been disclosed.

The proceedings went forward behind the closed doors of the Young Peoples Building, adjoining the Alexandria Methodist Church. Shelton's family and numerous friends gathered outside the parsonage, adjoining, and prosecution witnesses were marshaled inside.

With Mrs. Shelton were two other secretaries of her husband, Miss Fay Logan and Miss Estelle Dozier, of Atlanta.

Shelton was a member of the church court that tried Bishop James Cannon, Jr., in Dallas, two years ago, and it was in his church the bishop was tried again last spring.

Whitney Horse Sale To Aid Unemployed

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(AP.)—The unemployed are to benefit to the extent of 25 per cent of the gross proceeds of the sale of 60 thoroughbred mares and several stallions of the Whitney breeding farm in Kentucky. C. V. Whitney says the sale is in accordance with the intention of his father, the late Harry Payne Whitney.

MOB VIOLENCE FEAR WANES IN POWERS CASE

Police Still Guard Wife; Change of Venue Hinted As Trial Plans Progress

By AL GOUGH
Staff Correspondent

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Sept. 22.—Feeling against Harry F. Powers, which Saturday night almost resulted in the lynching of West Virginia's "Bluebeard," had subsided today to mere murmurings, while the machinery of law got into motion to bring him to trial early in the fall.

Resentment voiced against Powers' red-haired wife, Luella Strother Powers, had died down, but police still kept close watch on the Broad Oak home to forestall any attempt to harm her.

CHANGE OF VENUE

It was expected here that Attorney J. Ed Law, Powers' counsel, would seek a change of venue for his client, now in the state prison at Moundsville for safe keeping after the attempt to lynch him Saturday. Law admitted he had thought of submitting a petition to the court for the change. He said there was plenty of time to do this.

The fall term of court opens November 10 and during that week Powers' case will be presented to the grand jury. The change of venue, Law said, would not be asked until after the indictments had been returned. It is generally believed here that Powers' trial will be called the week following the indictment.

LOCATION OF TRIAL

Harrison County at the present time is without a courthouse and under a temporary arrangement the county uses a room above the Clarksburg Postoffice. Possibility of obtaining a larger room in an auditorium has been discussed but nothing definite has been decided.

Powers will remain at Moundsville under heavy guard until time for his trial. Should the trial be held here it is expected Clarksburg will become an armed camp, Sheriff William F. Grimm having expressed himself determined to protect his prisoner with his life if necessary. State police are assisting the Sheriff in carrying out this promise.

Powers, Safe From Mob, Recovers His Appetite

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Harry F. Powers, accused slayer of five, who was unnerved Saturday night when a mob gathered at the Harrison County Jail in Clarksburg, had regained his calm demeanor as well as his appetite at the State Prison, where he is confined in the death house.

Powers was brought to the Penitentiary under heavy guard Sunday morning and Warden A. C. Scroggins said that he had him placed in the death house because it afforded the only suitable place of confinement on account of the crowded condition of the institution. Two state troopers maintain a constant guard over the man, who is scheduled to face trial in November.

Reporters and photographers made vain attempts to enter the death house. The warden refused admission to the press representatives because he said Powers was not his prisoner and that Harrison County might hold him responsible if anything should occur.

GERMAN GROUP LEADS IN U. S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Germans were reported today by the Census Bureau to form the largest racial group of the 38,727,593 total foreign white stock of the United States. They accounted for 6,873,103 or 17.7 per cent.

Italy was second with 4,546,875, while the Irish Free State accounted for 3,086,5[illegible]. Russia 2,469,538; England 2,532,261; Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland 1,2[illegible], and Canada 3,337,345. Persons born at sea added 10,270 to the total.

Foreign-born whites totaled 13,366,407 against native whites of foreign or mixed parentage numbering 25,361,186.

Italy supplied the largest number of foreign born, 1,790,432 or 13.4 per cent; Germany 1,608,814 and Russia 1,153,624.

Patterson, Beaver county president, will preside.

AKRON, BIG ZEP, DELAYS FLIGHT TO PITTSBURGH

Initial Voyage Tomorrow To Be Strictly Local; Invitation Here Renewed

Tomorrow's initial flight of the Navy's newest and largest dirigible, the "Akron," will be purely a local flight around Akron, Commander Rosendahl told the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph today. He said:

"The primary object of our flight tomorrow is to see if the main parts of the ship function properly. Several more similar flights are planned before we can contemplate any cruises which will include Pittsburgh within its radius. We have scores of invitations from Pittsburgh asking for a visit and I am sorry that I can't make any definite promises."

Ray A. Tucker, chairman of the aeronautical committee of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, said today efforts were being made to have Commander Rosendahl and his crew visit Pittsburgh soon to be guests of the Chamber at a luncheon.

Tucker said the Aero Club of Pittsburgh at its meeting Thursday planned to extend an invitation to the Akron to visit Pittsburgh at an early date, supplementing that of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce and other organizations.

AKRON, O., Sept. 22.—(INS)—Navy gobs and airship workmen today were credited with extinguishing a blaze in the huge dirigible dock here which threatened to attack the United States Navy's new Zeppelin Akron, largest of all lighter-than-air craft.

With hand extinguishers the gobs and workmen managed to put out the flames before damage had been done and before two Akron fire companies arrived on the scene.

The flames suddenly flared up when a spark ignited gasoline vapor at the mooring mast of the giant ship. The gasoline was set ablaze only a few feet from the motor.

8 MORE POLICE CARS ASKED

Police radio scout car protection of Pittsburgh residents will be increased soon if Council acts on a request for the purchase of eight more automobiles.

Public Safety Director James M. Clark yesterday asked Council for permission to buy eight more Franklin automobiles, all to be radio equipped, to increase protection in outlying districts. One of the cars, he explained, would be given the detective bureau to replace a machine wrecked a short time ago.

Estimated cost of the cars is $15,000.

Viola Gentry Back On Restaurant Job

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Viola Gentry, flying cashier, is back at her old job in a Brooklyn restaurant.

Use of her arms is impaired by injuries suffered two years ago when her plane crashed during an endurance flight, killing her co-pilot, Jack Ashcraft. She plans to return to aviation when there is a greater demand for women pilots.

Lang Asks Transfer Of $26,000 Wage Fund

Immediate transfer of $26,000 from one city account to pay wages and salaries of workmen at the city's asphalt plant was requested of Council today by Public Works Director Edward G. Lang to avoid layoff of workmen. The current appropriation has been exhausted, Lang said.

Wife Gets Divorce Despite Injunction

RENO, Nev., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Mrs. Mildred Bedell Dumonceau, daughter of Alfred Bedell, wealthy New York merchant, was divorced from Andre Dumonceau despite the fact that her husband had brought suit in New York to enjoin her from proceeding with an action here.

The divorce was Mrs. Dumonceau's second, a previous marriage to Edward Quinn having been dissolved in Paris two years ago.

$15,000 More Needed To Fight Mine Fire

A mine fire burning on the McShane property between the city and the Crafton Borough line for several years will require an additional $15,000 to extinguish, City Council was informed yesterday by the Department of Public Works.

So far more than $25,000 has been expended within the last several months by both the city and Crafton to quell the underground flames. Houses are menaced by the fire, according to city engineers.

Movie Film Blazes, Causing Traffic Jam

Patrons of the Idle Hour Theater, 226 Diamond street, were routed yesterday afternoon when a film ignited in the projection room. Only a few persons were in the theater when the flames broke out and filled the place with smoke. Firemen were called.

Traffic in Diamond and Wood streets was halted when a large crowd gathered.

Two More Convicted In Detroit Kidnaping

DETROIT, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Vincent Lamonna and Charles Minchella were found guilty on the charge of kidnaping Jackie Thompson, 5, son of a wealthy Detroit real estate operator, by a jury in Recorder's Court last night. Henry Thompson, the father, paid a $17,000 ransom. James Fernando, one of the kidnapers, is already in prison.

McKeesport Boy Dies When Hit By Truck

Leo P. Yester, a truck driver, of 1203 Locust street, McKeesport, was to post bond at the Coroner's office today following his arrest in connection with the death late yesterday of John Selvi, 5, of 1208 Lynn way, McKeesport, killed when he was struck by a truck said to have been driven by Yester. The child was reported to have walked in front of the truck in Locust street.

STORM KILLS 5 IN MID-WEST

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 22.—(AP.)—Wind and electrical storms resulted in five deaths and an undetermined amount of property damage in scattered sections of the southwest late yesterday.

The disturbances, coming in the wake of heavy rains which broke an abnormal heat wave and drought, appeared in Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri.

Three of the deaths were caused by lightning which struck during a severe electrical storm over western Oklahoma. A windstorm accounted for two deaths in southeastern Kansas.

DEFIED GUN BAN FOR PUGILIST

William Kessler, a former city policeman, fought in court today to retain his commission as special constable in the Sixth Ward. Named a week ago Monday, Kessler was charged with defying Judge James H. Gray's orders to pursue his duties during the primary election on the following day unarmed.

In an action to revoke his commission Kessler testified today that he had armed himself after he had learned that Jack Burge, a pugilist, "was after" him.

Judge Gray withheld decision.

JOURNAL NEARS 35TH BIRTHDAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(Universal.)—The New York Evening Journal will celebrate its thirty-fifth birthday Monday.

At 3:30 p. m., September 28, 1896, the paper, now the largest evening newspaper in America, put copies of its first edition on the streets of the city.

At the age of 35 it boasts the longest life of any present New York paper under single ownership. Every paper that saw the birth of the Journal has been since then merged or sold.

The Journal was an off-shoot of the Morning Journal, purchased by William Randolph Hearst in 1895. A special edition will be printed on the anniversary.

GANG SHOOTING FAKE CHARGED

Nick Spanos, 38, reputed Imperial roadhouse proprietor, who told police he had been shot by gangsters, was wounded while stealing chickens from a farm near Coraopolis, September 18, county detectives charged today.

An information charging breaking and entering and felonious shooting was preferred against him before a justice of the peace at Imperial.

Spanos and another man are alleged to have exchanged shots with a farm employe. Spanos is in Mercy Hospital with shotgun wounds in his back.

WOMAN CIRCUS STAR DIES

LONG BEACH, Cal., Sept. 22.—(AP.)—Mrs. Hortense Codona, 62, member of the old circus aristocracy, is dead.

One of the first women to work on the flying trapeze, she succumbed to a heart attack here yesterday.

Mrs. Codona was the mother of Alfredo Codona, present day trapeze star, who was the husband of Lillian Leitzel, killed in a fall during a performance at Copenhagen, Denmark, last February. He and four of her five other children were at her bedside.

Mrs. Codona married Edward Codona, circus owner, in Panama when she was 14 years old. For many years she was among the most famous of circus performers.

Read this before you take a substitute for Kotex

STOP and think before accepting a so-called substitute for Kotex! Who made it? Where? Under what conditions? How do you know it's fit for this intimate hygienic purpose?

Surface resemblance to Kotex is not enough. Demand the purity of Kotex. Accept nothing less. Your health is involved. You can't afford to risk health for the few pennies you may save by accepting a questionable substitute of whose makers you know nothing.

Kotex is a hospital product. Hospitals used more than 10 million pads last year. Kotex is scientifically made of Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding.

In addition, Kotex offers every comfort. It is skilfully shaped. Treated to deodorize. Amazingly soft—and the softness lasts.

Vote Recount in 17 Districts Ordered

County Commissioner McGovern figured [illegible] in the counting [illegible] attention.

PROCEDURE IN DOUBT

McGovern [illegible] appeared before the judge and told him he was desirous of having the recount completed as soon as possible and asked whether [illegible] was to be followed [illegible] the entire ticket [illegible] the votes [illegible] of each ticket and [illegible] where close [illegible].

Macfarlane [illegible] his [illegible].

Another highly important development [illegible] investigation yesterday was a hurried airplane trip to Harrisburg by District Attorney Andrew T. Park, State Senator [illegible] and Special Deputy Attorney General Ralph Smith.

They went before Attorney General William A. Schnader at the capital [illegible] appointment of the special deputy attorney general to aid Park in the present probe.

PLEA UP TO JUDGE

Schnader refused on the ground that such a request should come from Judge James R. Macfarlane, presiding judge of the Court of Common Pleas.

It was Judge Macfarlane who issued the order restraining the names of 7,500 voters [illegible] taken from the lists of the Registration Commission and who denied an order to allow the McGovern forces to guard the ballot boxes pending the official count.

Victor F. P[illegible], election judge of the Fifteenth District of the Fourth Ward, was arrested by deputy sheriffs this morning when he did not reply to a request to appear before the election board to explain discrepancies in his board's tabulations.

Today he explained the discrepancies and said he had not received the board's request for appearance. He was dismissed, his explanation accepted as satisfactory.

Park returned to his office at 2:15 p. m. today and immediately went into conference with Assistant District Attorneys Clunk and Langfitt.

JURY QUIZ RESUMED

When the grand jury took up its investigation of the vote fraud and [illegible] charges today there was a line of almost 400 minority election inspectors waiting to enter the District Attorney's office.

These inspectors had been summoned either by letter or subpena to appear bearing the duplicate tally sheets compiled by their election boards last Tuesday.

The figures on these are to be checked by the grand jury against those which were eventually submitted to the returning board.

Constable James Conley and 12 other men and women from Homestead were early witnesses before the jury. They came voluntarily to tell of alleged irregularities in Homestead where they said the polls opened before their scheduled time to facilitate use of "phantom" voters registered on padded voting lists.

It was learned today Attorney Oliver K. Eaton will be Commissioner McGovern's counsel in all legal activities arising from the recount or returning board disclosures of fraud.

Questioning of Election Judges to Continue

The questioning of judges of elections in the districts where voting machines were used was to continue today while attorneys for the County Commissioners and the Citizens Voting Machine Committee decided when and how an examination of the machines used in the primaries will be made.

Clunk expects to discuss the workings of the machines with the remaining two judges of the ward some time today. He said most of the officials were satisfied with the machines' performance.

Examination of voting machines used in the primary election to determine whether the failure of some was due to deliberate tampering or defects in the machines was asked in a petition filed yesterday in Common Pleas Court. The court withheld decision.

Check on Third Ward's Vote Machines to Start

Check on all voting machines in the Third Ward was scheduled to start today by order of Judge Elder W. Marshall and George V. Moore sitting as the Primary Return Board upon 11 petitions presented in behalf of the independent candidates.

Members of all election boards in the ward were ordered summoned before the return board. More than 25 machines will be checked. While 22 machines were originally sent for use in the ward several were replaced during election day due to tampering and mechanical trouble.

MACHINE OPENED

The first voting machine to be opened by the returning board was brought in this morning. It was from the Fourth District of the First Ward. In Saturday's tabulations the returning board discovered the election board's tally sheet showed 219 votes for Armstrong instead of the 319 recorded by the machine.

Judges Moore and Marshall, in charge of the returning board, ordered the official count recorded as 219 apparently in belief that the machine had registered incorrectly.

On petition of County Solicitor M. B. Lesher the machine was brought in today, the machine figures found to be correct and the returning board's total for Armstrong increased by another 100.

Five election boards from other wards also were to appear before the judges and explain discrepancies. A special count of the ballots from the Sixth District, Fifth Ward was ordered when the tally sheet revealed six votes were counted to a block instead of the regulation five. The board members have been ordered before the return board.

The missing return sheet of Forward Township was discovered today when Roy Walters, secretary to Commissioner Armstrong, appeared before the board and told Judges Moore and Marshall that it had been in a safe in the commissioners' office since Tuesday night.

He said that a member of the election board brought it there that night after the election bureau had closed, asked to leave it there for safekeeping and then did not return to claim it.

The District Attorney's office announced late today that owing to the great number of witnesses yet to be examined there is no definite indication when a presentment preparatory to indictments, if such are made, will be given the court. The examining of the witnesses now under subpena is expected to require at least another week.

McGovern netted an increase of 288 votes yesterday. A gain of 343 votes was made in three districts of the Fourth Ward while 10 additional votes were gotten in nine townships. Offsetting the gains were the losses of 64 votes in three districts of the Fifth Ward and one vote in a canvass of 10 Borough districts.

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong gained 60 votes in the First District, Second Ward, Brackenridge, when the board ordered 75 votes appearing on the tally sheet credited as against 15 on the general return sheet.

Official returns previously totaled from 64 districts showed:

Mansfield	McGovern	Coyne	Armstrong
8,331	6,781	13,694	8,878

Additional districts totaled late yesterday were:

Recount Board Prepares To Start Ballot Check

The recount board, appointed yesterday by President Judge James R. Macfarlane in Common Pleas Court, started today recounting ballots in boxes impounded for that purpose. The committee will work on the second floor of the new County Building. It includes:

Walter L. West, Peter B. Beatty, Sarah Flynn, Unger Wilson, William W. Stanton, C. H. Shenkel, Thomas M. Aiken, Paul R. Keever, James Manning, Albert N. Heyl, Louis A. Miller, Frank McD. Wallace, James C. Murdoch, George W. Murphy, Marguerite W. Rinker, Clyde C. Chalfant, Lillian John and Frances Smythe.

SMITH URGES REAL CLEANUP

In a statement today thanking the citizens for their support, Deputy Attorney General Ralph H. Smith, defeated for the Republican nomination for District Attorney, urged a real "clean-up" of ballot thievery. He said:

"It is strange that we, who are so quick to drive from the ranks of baseball, football, boxing, racing and other sports, the cheater, have so long and unwisely been carelessly tolerant of the cheater who steals our votes or changes the count after the votes have been cast. The election thief is an enemy of society. He deserves to be treated as such."

Asks Own Arrest; Brings Evidence To Make It Sure

WHEELING, W. Va., Sept. 22 (AP).—Jack Mallory brought the evidence with him when he entered police headquarters here today and informed the desk sergeant he was guilty of possessing liquor.

Placing a pint bottle that police said contained moonshine on the sergeant's desk, Mallory said:

"It's possession, boys. Do your duty."

He was arrested. He wouldn't say why he sought it.

HOOVER RELIEF MAN TO SPEAK

Mr. Barrett

Members of the Pittsburgh Personnel Association will hear W. J. Barrett, of New York, representative of President Hoover's organization on unemployment relief, discuss the President's nation-wide program on Thursday evening at 6:30 in the University Club.

Frank R. Phillips, president of the Philadelphia Company, chairman of the operative committee of the Allegheny County Emergency Association and member of the Gifford commission, will discuss local plans for relief work in Pittsburgh this winter. F. J. Chesterman, vice president of the Bell Telephone Company, will preside.

Chamber to Aid Jobless Relief

The Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce will support the work of the Allegheny County Emergency Association in its unemployment relief efforts this winter according to a resolution passed at a meeting of the executive committee, yesterday. President Thomas A. Dunn has been instructed to inform the association of the resolution.

West Point Lifts Ban on Visitors

WEST POINT, N. Y., Sept. 22.—(AP)—All restrictions barring visitors from the United States Military Academy reservation because of infantile paralysis were were lifted yesterday. The quarantine in effect two weeks, was principally directed toward keeping the disease out of West Point. Only one case developed here and the patient is now out of danger.

Train Kills Man, Death Held Suicide

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 22.—(INS)—Coroner W. S. Cobb has issued a verdict of death by suicide in the case of Charles T. Gray, 44, killed by an Erie passenger train at Corning Saturday. The coroner believed that Gray put his head on the tracks in the path of the train.

1931 FALL PRICES ARE LOWER AT HORNE'S

We keep reiterating this well-established fact, that those whose incomes have been curtailed will know that they can still have the same styles and qualities to which they have been accustomed. Dollars will go very much farther here this year than last—lower prices on Horne merchandise are to be found throughout practically the entire store.

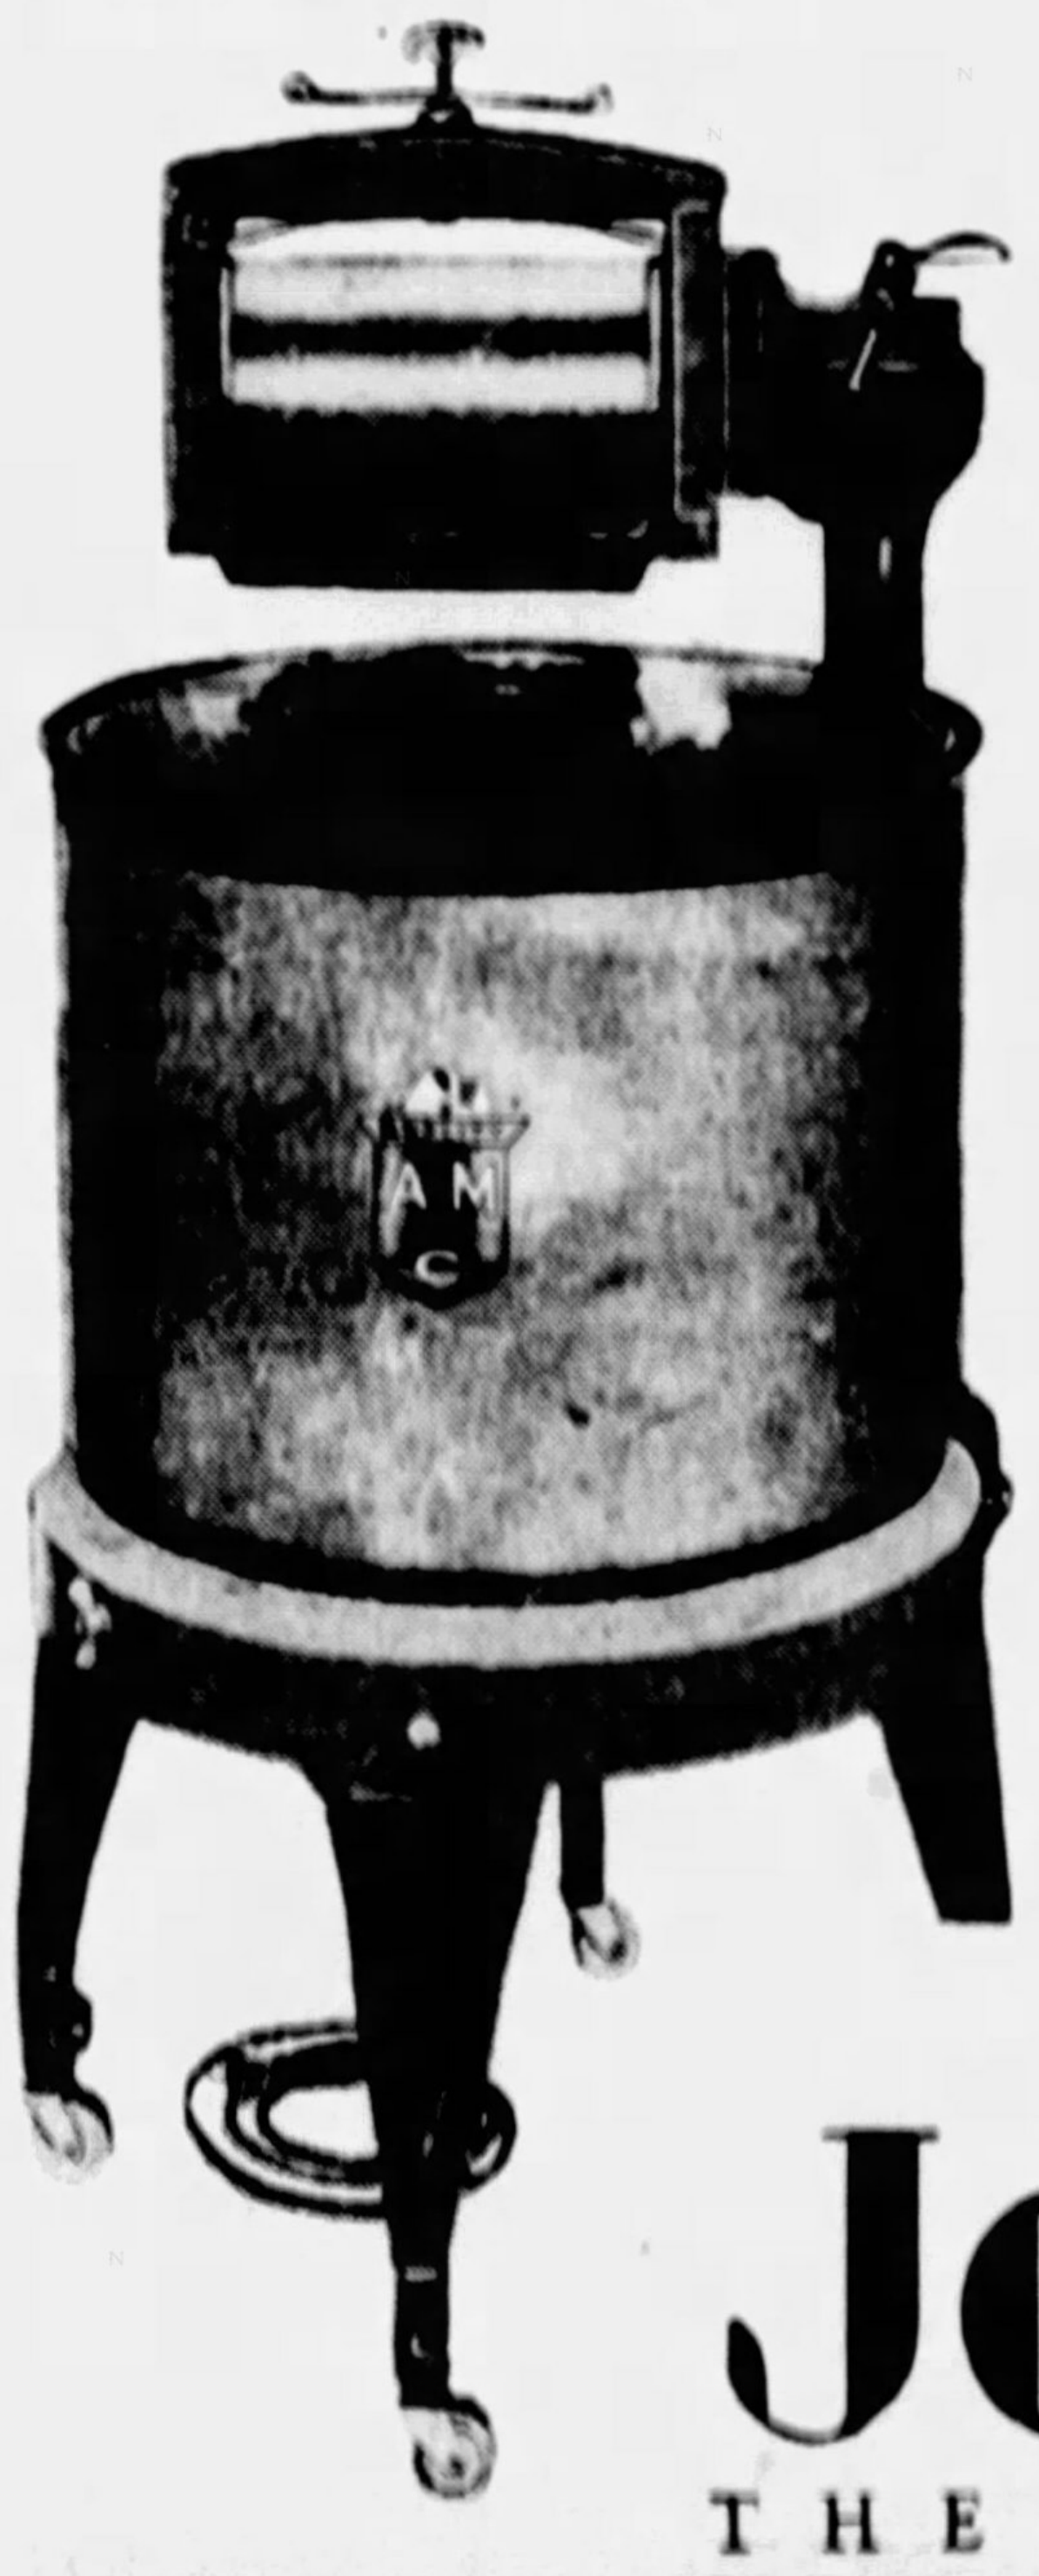
A. M. C. Washer

We could have gone on selling the original A. M. C. Washer for months . . for no one has any complaint to make about its performance and durability . . . but there was an opportunity to give Horne customers even more for their money, hence this new model at the same price!

$69.75



The new features include a nickel plated wringer—always bright and clean looking; much larger, safer balloon rolls, and sunken-knob type of cover. This washer will get your work done in a surprisingly short time . . . and the machine-cut gears eliminate noise . . . the direct-drive motor eliminates troublesome pulleys and consequent adjustments.

You'll become a champion of the A. M. C. Washer the first time you see it . . . you'll become its owner when you compare its low price with other machines of similar construction!

Precious Mink

Trims the Season's Smartest Coats

In seasons past, women may have been content with comparatively inexpensive substitutes for this exquisite fur. But this season, with the great revival of elegance in fashions, only real mink fits into the picture.

In the past, too, this fur has been used only on coats of extremely high price. But because of the present general lowering of price levels, and our very special preparations on this particular item, we are able to present luxurious, mink-trimmed coats at

$79.50 $100 $125

We are making an extensive showing of them in the Women's and Misses' Coat Sections, at this time. The coats are all of the distinctly new, rich coat fabrics, which make a perfect background for this fur, and whose glorious brown, green and brandy shades so effectively harmonize with its deep, dark tones.

Perspiring With Melodies, 'Three Little Girls' Is Thing of Beauty

By GEORGE SEIBEL

It was a hot night, and rivulets of perspiration rolled over the brow of the hero as well as down the back of the heroine. Passion and romance seemed to coagulate, and a thrill of horror crept across the audience at the Alvin when the handsome tenor announced he was going to Java. It was like offering a cup of hot coffee to the Equator. But everybody endured it gladly, because "Three Little Girls," the new Viennese operetta, is a thing of musical beauty and of splendor scenic and sartorial.

George Seibel.

Musical beauty isn't the same as melodic invention. Walter Kollo, who is responsible for the score, has a remarkable memory. He has picked a blossom here and a frond there and made a lovely wreath of rhythmic and tuneful ecstacies. Sometimes there's a forgetmenot from Strauss, and again a sprig of mignonette from Victor Herbert, with armfuls of daisies from Sir Arthur Sullivan.

But they are so fresh and fragrant that no one cares what garden they came from.

Musically "Three Little Girls" is a cup of delight bubbling over with singable tenderness and haunting harmonies.

THERE'S A PLOT, TOO

As for the book, there is no doubt about its having a plot. That plot thickens and thickens and thickens. Yet it's perfectly clear as it stretches from 1846 to after the war—but what war?

There was an old play called "Milestones," by Edward Knoblock, in which love ran epidemic from one generation to another and so in "Three Little Girls" the Norgards, from grandfather to grandson, adore the daughters of the noble house of Rankenau but don't get any of them until the last curtain.

They let themselves be foiled by a comic baron and go off to Java when they ought to claim their sweethearts.

As complicated as the "Marriage of Figaro," this romance runs smoothly enough through a prologue and three acts of 17 scenes which dizzily revolve like a merry-go-round as the audience gasps and purrs.

Some of the scenes are truly magnificent, such as the grand tier of boxes from the Vienna Opera House.

The costumes are equally gorgeous—it is like a fashion show of three generations.

SOME SOFT SPOTS

It is in the dialogue, especially during the third act, that one is inclined to yawn and groan. The sophomores of a girls' school could improve some of these soft spots.

But all these vapors and longeurs are like the perspiration of the evening, forgotten and forgiven because of the sheer beauty of the production as a whole. Also because of the honest work done by a most admirable cast.

There are singing voices of splendid quality. Greta Alpeter sang the Jewel Song from Gounod's "Faust" with real eclat. Josephine Huston has rich allure in her notes. Evangeline Raleigh puts jubilant abandon into both her singing and dancing.

Clifford Newdahl is a manly tenor who leaves you a little doubtful as to his habit of running off to Java. Stephen Mills and Victor Morley work in some rich comedy, while Harry Puck does dextrous dancing with Miss Raleigh.

Most remarkable of all is the chorus, which is adorned with long skirts and therefore seems to have been selected for the intelligence of its faces. Ordinarily perhaps people don't look at the faces of the chorus. These look intelligent. And there's the reason for this. "Three Little Girls" at the Alvin is a show for intelligent people.

Plays, Players and By-Play

—By WILLIAM J. LEWIS—

Next week the Nixon will appear on the theatrical map for the first time in the current season. Lenore Ulric, who was a "Pagan Lady" last season, seems to have climbed the ladder somewhat, for she now is to appear in "The Social Register." Have we told you that it is by John Emerson and Anita Loos and that this will be its first public performance? Well it is. The box office is ready to serve you right now.

* * *

Small Timer says that Jonah probably was the first to state you can't keep a good man down and that he'd had a whale of a time.

* * *

Another world premiere for next week is "Crazy Quilt," announced previously as Billy Rose's Revue of 1931. It will do its premiering in the Alvin with Fanny Brice, Phil Baker and Ted Healy pre-eminent. "Crazy Quilt" was Billy Rose's production of last season, but this one is said to be a different blanket. Yet with Fan, Phil and Ted, you may think that most likely it will be just as carazee. Well, those are our thoughts, too.

* * *

Small Timer says there's nothing wrong in having a good opinion of yourself, providing you keep it a secret.

* * *

"Five-Star Final," starring Edward G. Robinson, supported by Frances Starr, will be shown to an invited audience at a special preview in the Warner next Sunday evening.

* * *

Small Timer says that short dresses make women look shorter and men look longer.

* * *

Lew Brown and Ray Henderson, who have scribbled quite a few musical comedies and revues and even reached the screen, have signed with Florenz Ziegfeld, for whom they first will do a musicom, to be produced along about New Year's time.

"Big Revue," starring Lillian Dixon, is the burlesque in the Academy. In addition to her own specialties there are several features. George Murray, Bob Startzman and Charles Cole provide eccentric comedy, blackface and tramp antics. Harry Beasley, straight man, also dances. Vincent Scanlon is a singing juvenile. The blues-singing prima donna, Dorothy Kelly; Ethel Du Bois, who sings and dances; Jane Gordon in impersonations, and Buddie Nichols, soubret, also are prominent.

Lightner Film In Davis, Enright

Because spring was in the air or because they had nothing else to do with her, the movie-makers put Winnie Lightner into a circus, and the Lightner film, "Side Show," now is current in the Davis and Enright.

Winnie Lightner, if you like her, is as good and as bad as she has ever been. She's everything in this movie circus from the "barker" to star performer.

The picture seems to have been created especially to permit Miss Lightner to show her versatility, and it does all that.

It is comedy with a romantic triangle, the latter involving Miss Lightner, Evalyn Knapp, as her sister, and Donald Cook, with Evalyn entering circus life against the advice of her sister and falling in love with Winnie's boy friend, thus making things very un-Jake.

Charles Butterworth, the queerest comedian, has a part suited to him, and there is a character part by Gy Kibbee as the circus owner, that is traditionally typical.

'Alexander Hamilton' Stays in Warner

The George Arliss picture, "Alexander Hamilton," is being presented in the Warner for a second and final week that opened yesterday. It introduces many historical characters, including George Washington. Though quite artificial, it is interesting, as Arliss films usually are.

Rudy Croons in Old New York And Fay Is On the Go In Hollywood

By HARRISON CARROLL

Copyright, 1931, by Premier Syndicate

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 21.

While chiefly occupied these days in describing her "modern" marriage with Rudy Vallee, the former Fay Webb admits she would not turn down a movie contract if there was enough money it it.

Any development along this line will have to be sudden, however, as America's leading crooner and his bride are to be reunited in the near future. She hopes to be in New York by the 21st, her birthday, so she can pick out the present herself.

Quoting Mrs. Vallee:

"I've been going out almost every night since I got here. Rudy isn't jealous of me, nor I of him. Ours is a modern marriage."

The chances are she will not remain long in New York, says the actress. As for Rudy coming out here, that could not happen for two years, she declares. His radio and hotel tie-ups would prevent it.

In the meanwhile, I suppose Hollywood can just hold its breath.

Until times get better, says Harry Brand, all Southern colonels will be known as captains.

IT'S A FAMILY AFFAIR

Those Gleasons continue to dominate the Hollywood situation. With Jimmy working at RKO-Pathe, Lucille and Son Russel are to appear for Universal in "Nice Women." Sidney Foxe has the feminine lead in this picture, which is all about a 17-year-old girl who steals her elder sister's sweetheart.

Sterling Asks State To Cut Workers' Pay

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 22.—(AP.)—Gov. R. S. Sterling has asked the Legislature to cut 10 per cent from the salaries of all state employes receiving more than $134 per month.

The reduction would include departmental employes, judges and professors in state institutions.

Policeman Killed In Mexican Voting

VERA CRUZ, Sept. 22.—(AP.)—One policeman was killed and two were wounded in clashes during state elections yesterday. Agrarians scored a sweeping victory everywhere except in Orizaba, where the Labor party gained the upper hand.

Fine Comedy In German Cinema

By MILDRED FILLMORE

The new Avenue Cinema has brought another pleasing German film to the cozy little theater in Liberty street near Seventh. This one is called "Die Privatsekretaerin" and has more comedy than music. It introduces two very good actors in Renate Mueller and Hermann Thimig, who play the leading roles, besides a whimsical character comedian in Felix Bressart.

The heroine is a typewriter girl who goes to Berlin to get a job. She speedily gets one because she is good looking and saucy. But when her superior finds she is not an easy conquest, he makes life miserable for her in the office. How she goes to a cabaret with the head official of the bank, taking him for one of the minor clerks, how she shows she is a good girl though she drinks rivers of champagne—that is the obvious plot of the comedy.

Frl. Mueller is dainty and provocative. Herr Thimig is good-humoredly human.

The moral seems to be that any typewriter girl can marry her big boss if she is neither prim nor imprudent.

There's a gypsy romance enacted to the music of a Liszt rhapsody, and a series of scenes along the Danube shown to the descriptive blarney of Ernest Newman.

We Now Present

By Darrell V. Martin
Radio Editor

WALTER WINCHELL, Bard of Broadway, presents Cab Calloway and his Band as guest artists on WJAS at 8:45 tonight.

Cab promises to scorch the air waves with St. James Infirmary and Minnie the Moocher.

Darrell V. Martin

An all-Negro organization of spiritual voices, the Timpson-Hardy Singers have chosen "The Old Rugged Cross" as one of their selections on Sacred Songs, KDKA at 7:30.

They sing from memory. We await to hear the ensemble interpret "Song of India" on KDKA at 8, the same program that offers Lois Bennett, soprano, in two delightful solos, "Songs of Araby" and "Where My Caravan Has Rested." There are few features on the air that rank in a class with the Virtuosos, WCAE at 8:30, for inspiring music. The Pittsburgh Letter Carriers' Band, Dick Powell, Bernie Armstrong and other celebrities join KQV at 8:30 in a grand festival announcing the station's new 1,000-watt transmitter. Robert Ringling sings "One Alone" from "The Desert Song" on KDKA at 9 and we see also the intriguing "Kermess Scene" from Gounod's "Faust" scheduled for presentation by the ensemble.

Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology, has accepted James A. Simpson's invitation to speak Monday night at the opening of the Radio-Electric Show in Duquesne Garden. . . . Riggs and Moke, who have been signed for Wednesday and Friday nights, are to have Jimmy Joy as their guest.

* * *

Three times in the last three months weddings have been celebrated by the cast of Women's Radio Review.

We feel a certain pride in the Colgate Quarter Hour which makes its debut on CBS Monday, October 5 . . . the program makeup was dictated by members of the National Radio Editors' Association of which we happen to be secretary-treasurer.

Casey Jones likes the Pittsburgh-Allegheny County Airport so well that he plans to tell the nation about it over CBS-WJAS on Friday at 9:45 p. m.

Don Bestor's music over CBS-WJAS yesterday afternoon from Syracuse, N. Y., was a pleasant surprise to his local admirers . . . he has a much smoother unit than when he was here last.

Frank R. Phillips' address on "Unemployment Relief" at a luncheon of the Combined Service Clubs of Pittsburgh in the Fort Pitt Hotel tomorrow is to be broadcast by KDKA at 1 p. m.

G. K. M., Turtle Creek: Barney Dreyfus has ruled radio out of Forbes Field, so we guess the Duquesne University night games will not be broadcast . . . we understand Barney handles these games on a percentage basis. . . . KQV was in there bright and early for the privilege, but Barney told them that radio hurts business . . . quite a different attitude from that taken by the Stadium officials who have allowed big games of Pitt and Tech to go on the national networks. . . .

"We are on the threshold of television," David Sarnoff, president of R. C. A., said last night in his network talk opening officially the Radio-Electrical World's Fair in Madison Square Garden . . . "just as the shackles of silence were struck from the screen, so will the veil be lifted from our daily broadcast."

WJAS has joined the Golden Hour chain of 19 stations which will broadcast the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin's sermons from the Shrine of the Little Flower at Detroit this fall . . . first of the 27 broadcasts is scheduled for Sunday afternoon, October 4, at 4 o'clock, Pittsburgh time. . . .

Sophia Tucker, veteran comedienne of the stage, is taking a self-appointed course in radio technique with the intention of presenting an NBC series soon.

WCAE and WJAS are scheduled to broadcast a description of the trial flight of the Zeppelin Akron tomorrow afternoon about 3.

* * *

Question a Day:

What has happened to Johnny Davis, the fellow who used to sing with Jimmy Joy? He wasn't with Smith Ballew's Orchestra the other night. Catherine B., Houston, Pa.

Answer—Johnny is now with Red Nichols outfit at CBS. Hear him tomorrow night at 11:15 on WABC, 860 kc.

Little Jack Little is to hear Julia Sanderson sing his new number, "All I Care About Is You," in the studios of WWJ, Detroit, at 8 o'clock tonight. . . . Jack is making a personal appearance there.

* * *

Studio Lights

Ben Bernie returns to WBBM and the College Inn, Chicago, on Thursday, October 1. . . .

Lloyd Huntley (coming here soon) may be heard on WEAF, WTIC, WGY or WENR at 12:30 a. m. tonight . . .

Billy Hillpot and Harold "Scrappy" Lambert, known as Trade and Mark, are to whoop it up for KDKA listeners starting Friday night at 8:30, October 9.

* * *

Today's Tid Bit:

When Jesse Crawford, NBC's Poet of the Organ, was a mite of seven, his widowed mother conspired with a policeman to give him the scare of his life. Jesse had been a very disobedient boy, as boys are apt to be.

"Young fellow," the policeman barked, "Do you want me to send you to a reform school?"

"Have they got a piano there?" Jesse asked innocently.

Choice

LOIS BENNETT

"I'll Sing Thee Songs of Araby" and "Where My Caravan Has Rested" are choice solos by Lois Bennett, soprano, on KDKA at 8 o'clock tonight.

The Loudspeaker

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Sept. 22. Oppressed by their rules of silence, radio maharajahs welcome opportunities to broadcast noise. Noisiest broadcasts of last six months were arrival of Post and Gatty at Roosevelt Field and reproduction of revolution in Chilean navy.

Frazier Hunt's friendship with world figures should be helpful to his new programs. Coolidge is helpful as a start. . . . We'd like to hear Hunt interview his friend, the Prince of Wales. Not on government, not on economics, but on gals. It would be a diverting earful. . . . Fancy radio mixing up for armchairs the voices of Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, and Eddie Cantor, of Broadway. A more dramatic mixup would be the voice of Al Smith when that of Bishop Cannon is expected. . . . Sophistication grows on the microphone. Seldom is the word "kiddies" heard. . . . Strange names come to the air. A new maestro on the air actually has the name of Enoch Light. . . . Spies still insist Paul Whiteman will be the first dance bandman in the new Waldorf. But only as a guest conductor. After a brief engagement he will take his ha-cha-chas to London.

So Ted Husing has completed seven years of radio announcing. Seven years is a lifetime in radio. There have been times when even seven minutes of radio seemed a lifetime. . . . The michophones now claim a 12-year-old announcer. Anything for publicity these days.

How Do Women in the Movies Manage?

Filming a picture means weeks of work without a pause. The star can't stop because she is "indisposed." Monthly sickness does not excuse her. If you know some woman who is in pictures, she will tell you how Hollywood women manage during those pain periods. Try to find even an "extra" girl who doesn't carry Midol with her.

Midol was a marvelous discovery. It isn't harmful. It isn't a narcotic. But it acts in seven minutes—ends all pain or discomfort for hours at a stretch. Just ask for Midol at any drug store.

THE GOOD OLD WAY IS BEST WITH CORNS

There's nothing new about corns. So why try new-fangled rapid-fire "cures" when millions can tell you of a safe, sane, sensible treatment that has worked well for millions for 31 years?

The good old way is the Blue-jay way. Those same little Blue-jay corn plasters that were winning fame in 1900 will bring you relief today—instantly, the moment Blue-jay cushions the tingling spot and stops the pressure and chafing.

Blue-jay is thin, velvet-soft. Wear it comfortably while you work or play, serenely confident that its mild medication will soon soften and detach your corn.

Be sure to get good, reliable Blue-jay, made by Bauer & Black, the well-known manufacturers of surgical dressings. The safe treatment. At all druggists', 25c.

TELL IT TO SALLY -:- -:- Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day -:- -:- By SALLY MARTIN

Don't Be Hateful Because of A Shattered Romance

For three long years they fought all over the lot.

No, they weren't married. Just going together. And raising Cain every time they met.

He was jealous, abusive, generally ornery. And though the lady wouldn't admit any faults, it's pretty plain that she gave as good as she got.

Then at last he mustered up enough spunk to tell her straight that he didn't care for her. And what does she do?

Does she thank heaven like a sensible girl that she's rid of a bad habit? And start out to make a new deal for herself?

No indeedy!

She keeps pestering around . . . sending mama and sister after him.

Why?

FIANCE JEALOUS

"Because I love him so," she whimpers. "And his cruelty to me is making me a nervous wreck."

Crazy? Sure it's crazy. But "Heartbroken" isn't the only girl who is acting that way. Are you?

Dear Sally:

"I have often read your good advice, and I know you have helped many, so I have decided to tell you my story. I hope you can help me too. I need it.

"About four years ago I met a boy and we both fell madly in love. I will call him Jack. We went with each other for about three months, and then got engaged. We were going to get married right away, and even had our license, but he lost his job, so we postponed it. But we kept going together and were just as much in love as ever. This went on for about three years.

"Of course, we had lots of quarrels. He was so jealous that I couldn't go anywhere or, if I did, I never enjoyed myself because he always felt that I was flirting with someone. Then he would take me home and swear that he would never take me to another dance.

CAN'T FORGET HIM

"Well, one Sunday he said he had to work and, like a little fool, I believed him. But I found out afterward that he hadn't been working at all. On Monday night he came up to see me. We went to a party, and he got angry because some fellow was nice to me, and he went home angry. I didn't see him for about two weeks. I called him up and he said he was coming over to see if he really loved me. When he came, he said he had found someone else who could take my place.

"When he had no job I stuck to him. Now he has a swell job he doesn't need me any more!

"I couldn't eat or sleep, or go out. I got so disgusted I phoned him one day, and he met me, and things seemed worse. I met him at some friends' house and he was so nasty to me that it just made me a nervous wreck.

"I felt so bad that my sister phoned a friend of his to tell Jack to come over, but he never did. I know you're going to tell me to 'forget him,' but I just can't. Why should he ruin my life and get away with it?

"My mother is going down to see him. Please tell me what to do. I just can't go on. Everybody thinks I am foolish, but I just can't help it.

"HEARTBROKEN."

You're mistaken, sister—you can help it. You can help it by cutting out the melodrama and looking at this thing honestly.

This man hasn't "ruined your life." You're ruining your own life by your silliness, stubbornness, and bad temper.

SHOULD BE THANKFUL

He was, by your own admission, a thoroughly worthless person—jealous, unreasonable, unkind, dishonest. He made you miserable for three years. For all of which you had a right to call him to account while you were still engaged. But you have no right to hound him when he has told you that he no longer cares and the engagement is broken.

If he doesn't love you, he doesn't—and that's that. No power on earth can force love. Nor is it a crime to break an engagement. That's what engagements are for—to test love. If his love doesn't stand the test, then the only manly thing to do is to back out. Which he has done.

Now it's hands off, lady. The sooner you realize it the better.

You're not heartbroken. You're just burned up. Actually you feel neither love nor respect for this man. But you want revenge. For what?

If he was even one-tenth as mean as you say he was, you should thank Heaven that you're rid of him.

Cut it out! This hate will buy you nothing. There is love ahead for you, little girl, but you'll never find it if you spend your life in spite.

Neglected Mothers Are Few, So Are Ungrateful Children, Says Fay King

By FAY KING

Even the best of mothers must sometimes in a moment of fretting think that raising youngsters is the most thankless job in the world.

The never-ending tasks that no sooner done must be begun all over again.

The hours of sewing and mending and washing and bathing and dressing, not to mention the patience, and alarm over sickness.

And it is all taken for granted. For so common are the good and devoted mothers that it is only the one who fails in this great work who attracts attention.

But no other career on earth reaps so great and everlasting reward.

For as neglectful mothers are in the minority, so are ungrateful children.

Even these often care deeply in their own way.

"Divorce Jack Beckett!" Is Demand to Katherine

I had not realized that Katherine was behind me until she spoke. I had heard slow, dragging footsteps coming towards me, and wondered if they were those of my mother-in-law. But before I could turn my head, had spoken in tones so hoarsely strained, so different from her usual musical tones, that if she had not spoken of "reading this," I am not sure that I would have recognized her voice either.

I turned quickly toward her and took from her tremulous hand the letter from South America which had sent her, shaken as I had never seen her, into my room for the solitude she needed in order to fight herself back to composure.

"Sit down," I said in matter-of-fact tones, averting my eyes after my first glance at her pallid face with the deeply etched lines around lips and eyes which told of mental stress and suffering, "and wait for a little while until you decide that I shall read this. I have nothing to do except to sit here with you, so do not hurry yourself into any decision."

"Don't!" she said tensely, and there was that in her voice which made me turn my eyes upon her again. She was looking at me with the frightened appeal of a lost child, and I put out my hands and caught her cold ones in mine, holding them tightly while I drew her to a big double chair, on the veranda, yet screened by the lattice work from the sight of anyone on the lawn below.

"Wait!" I commanded as I put her into the chair. Then I went back to the door leading into the hall, and closed and locked it before coming back to her.

"Now, dearest," I said, sitting down beside her, "no one can possibly disturb us, and do you know what I think you need more than anything else?"

"A good cry, I suppose," she said monotonously, and shook her head in a mournful negative. "No, Madge, I wish I could, but there isn't a tear in me, nothing so tender. I'm all venom like cobra. Read that thing, and you'll realize why I can't weep."

She shrank back into the corner of the seat, and I realized that it was not from me she was withdrawing, but that she unconsciously was trying to get as far as possible from the letter which I held in my hand. There was no use postponing the thing any longer, but it was with distinct distaste for my task that I opened the letter, and turned to the first page, written in beautiful chirography, so exact that it aroused a quick antagonism in me—it seemed inhuman, somehow, in its very perfection.

"Mrs. John Bickett,
"The Graham Farm,
"Sag Harbor, L. I.
"Dear Mrs. Bickett:"

This was the beginning of the letter, exactly as if it were a business communication, but the opening sentence ended all likeness to a commercial letter, although no usurer's note ever held more deadly coldness.

"I am not going to beat about the bush with you," it said, "for you are a trained nurse, well used to facing facts. I want Jack Bickett, and he wants me. You stand in the way. Will you divorce him?—you can easily do it for desertion and mental cruelty—he has told me how he has treated you, realizing now that neither of you was to blame—it was because you were not really mated in any way that he unconsciously rebelled against the yoke of marriage, and manifested it by his moods.

"He has been ill mentally and physically since coming down here. Now, I am winning him back to mental and physical health. The only thing which is troubling him is an outmoded and outdated conscience concerning you. You surely are not the type of woman who wishes to hold a man against his inclinations, a man whose whole heart and soul are given elsewhere.

"Of course, if you write him concerning this, he will consider himself in duty bound to deny his own heart—he does not know that I am writing this. But I have heard him wish many times that you could find your real mate—as he has found his—so that he could seize his happiness without regret, and I have at last determined to lay the facts before you. I am confident that you will see the wisdom—and the good taste—of quietly stepping out of his life in the way best calculated to spare him pain.

"May I suggest that the most effective way would be for you to write him a letter, not referring to this, but saying that you have met someone who is necessary to your happiness, and that you would like him to release you? No doubt that is true enough by this time, for I understand that you are quite an attractive woman.

"I do not expect an answer to this letter, but if you do send one, may I suggest that it might be better if it were a typed one with the postmark New York City upon it?

"Yours very truly,
"RUTH ALLEN."

I read the poisonous epistle through, and then, feeling a reluctance to look at Katherine, I turned back to the superscription, and read it through again, very slowly. Then, at last, I looked up and met her eyes, strained, suffering, fixed upon my face.

"What do you think of it?" she faltered.

Household Hints

Fruit stains can be removed from the teeth by rubbing with common table salt.

Have a rack for your kitchen towels and don't have them drying on the backs of chairs between meals.

A good-sized cork is a splendid dabber for scouring purposes. Dip one end in the cleanser and rub it briskly over the soiled surface.

The Beauty Box -:- -:-

By HELEN FOLLETT

Mothers should protect the complexions of young daughters. The care the skin receives in youth has much to do with its qualities of resistance and its development into a condition of health and delicate coloring. Soap should be bland. Roughness can be treated with oils or creams. Wash cloths must be scrupulously clean.

Indiscriminate use of peroxide and ammonia for the purpose of bleaching the hair is a deplorable practice. Used properly, it will brighten locks that need a fresh golden glisten, but used to excess it burns the structure of the hair. Best to have a responsible operator do the work until one becomes familiar with the process.

This is the season of the year when tramping is fun. Walking is the ideal exercise, takes fat from plump bodies, puts adipose tissue on skinny ones. Let the arms swing easily at the side, hold the body erect, step with briskness on springy heels, lap in fresh air. Good walkers nearly always are individuals of courage and high spirits.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Calomel, Used Unwisely, Can Be Dangerous Drug

Nothing is more uncertain than the duration of the life. The other day I attended the funeral of a young woman, the victim of a most unusual accident, an overdose of calomel.

Dr Copeland

I never knew a more vivacious, sparkling, attractive person. She was the life and joy of every gathering. Friends by the score were at the funeral parlor, friends overcome by grief and wonderment that death could touch one so young and bubbling over with life. Nature had appeared to make her heir to 90 years of usefulness and yet she was stricken in her twenties.

Calomel used to be the mainstay of domestic and professional medicine. To prescribe it was the beginning of the doctor's attack against almost every disease. So universal has been its use that few would dream it could cause death. Yet to some persons and in overdoses certainly it is a deadly poison.

Calomel has its uses and wisely prescribed, is a valuable drug. But it belongs to the mercury family, a dangerous group. Unless under proper control any one of the mercuries is capable of doing lasting harm, causing death indeed. It may be a lingering, torturing death or a speedy one.

We hear more about bichloride of mercury, "corrosive sublimate" poisoning, than almost any other poisoning. That is indeed a dreadful way to die.

Under certain conditions calomel may produce all the damaging effects of corrosive sublimate. Such was the sad case of my young friend.

There is a popular idea that "if a little is good, a lot must be better." No saying of the language is more fallacious. I beg you not to preach this doctrine and never to practice it. Practically every remedy used in medicine is a poison. It may be poisonous only in large doses, but it is a poison nevertheless.

Never take medicine unless it has been prescribed by a doctor who has personally examined you and who is ready to take responsibility for his prescription. You may be a very wise person, a very well-read person, but unless you have made a study of drug effects you are unfit to prescribe for yourself or anybody else. You may paint a chair or bind a book, but when it comes to putting into a human body about which you know little, a drug of which you know less, you are doing a very foolish and possibly fatal thing.

Answers to Health Questions

Mrs. M. D. Q.—What do you advise for diseased tonsils?

A.—Your doctor will advise you about having them removed.

ADF. Q.—What can be done for thin legs? The rest of the body is normal.

A.—Exercise and a general gain in weight should bring about results.

ACID stomach

EXCESS acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. It is responsible for most of the everyday ailments that people suffer; sick headache, sluggishness, nausea, biliousness, gas on the stomach, etc. The quick corrective is an alkali, which will neutralize the acid. The best corrective known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

Go to the drug store and get a bottle to try. Take it tonight, and follow the simple directions you find in the package. Learn what it means to have a well-alkalinized system. See how much better your general health will be. How seldom you will catch cold.

Be sure that you get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia that physicians prescribe. It is sold in 25c and 50c bottles at drug stores everywhere.

To keep the teeth white and guard against acid mouth, use Phillips' Dental Magnesia; it is a superior tooth-paste.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

An Inconvenience

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My father's sister, whom I have never met, but have been corresponding with for some time, recently wrote and said she was coming down from her town, which is quite a distance from here, to spend a few days with us. My mother is dead and both my sister and I have to work all day, and part of the night as well, so it would be impossible to entertain her at all.

She has asked me to visit her several times, but I have never been able to do so.

My father is away from home all day, too, so he cannot very well take the responsibility.

How can I let her know, without offending her, how terribly inconvenient it will be for us to have her visit us? There are other relatives nearby whom she intends to visit also.

Thank you in advance for I know you will be able to help a business girl out of an embarrassing predicament.

READER.

I can well understand how, under the circumstances, it would be impossible for you and your family to have a guest, and I am sure that your aunt will understand, too, the situation. Don't hesitate to write her and tell her quite honestly why it will not be convenient for you to have her come at this time. Your letter should be honest and frank but not at all brusque. This very thing often has to be done, and can be done graciously. So don't worry about having to do it.

Preparing the Hope Chest

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am a young girl engaged to be married and in preparing my hope chest I am now up against a stone wall.

1. Is there any set rule about who should buy the silverware and china? I have always thought it my place.

2. Then there is the question of monogramming. I think it makes things seem more your own than just a set of dishes or utensils. If it is my place to buy these items, would you advise me to buy them while I am still single and have my own family initial on them, or wait until I am married and have my husband's initials on them?

I would like very much to buy them now as I want my home completely furnished to go into as soon as I am married, but I am entirely dependent upon your judgment.

Thank you so much for your attention and best wishes for your column.

A. A.

1—The bride usually supplies these.

2—Usually the silver and the linen are monogrammed with the initials of the bride's maiden name. These lovely items have always stood traditionally as the symbols of the union of the two families, and a fine old tradition it is. The bride who enjoys abiding by such traditions has her silver engraved with her maiden initials and her linens embroidered with her maiden initials.

And the best of good fortune smile on you always!

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

FOR FULLY 48 hours I have been unable to sleep. More than that, I have been unable to eat or drink. The trouble, I assure you, is no simple one. It's not because Nat Lewis, Inc., insists upon being paid—and it's not because the wife bought three of those silly-looking Eugenie hats that sit on her head like so many peanuts. The difficulty lies much deeper than that. I am burned up; sadly, madly, badly burned up.

It's all because of a publicity notice that came to this desk a few days ago from the Earl Carroll offices. Read it for yourself:

"An interesting sidelight on the Earl Carroll birthday party Wednesday at the Hotel Taft was the loss of a huge birthday cake baked by a caterer friend of Mr. Carroll's. It was sent by mistake to another hotel and could not be located. The Taft chef baked a birthday cake with 150 portions in less than an hour and a half. The pastry cook said he undertook the task only as a neighborly act, and knows of no previous similar record."

So he knows of no similar record, eh? Well, your old pal, Hellinger, is not the one to let such a statement go unchallenged. Always the champion of the under dog, I have had 87 secretaries in a fervent hunt for the last 48 hours. And I am now very proud to announce that the pastry chef of the Hotel Taft has NOT broken any records.

I present my proofs herewith.

* * *

Case Number One — (From Havelock Ellis' little known volume, "Sex of One, Half a Dozen of the Other.")—Hans Blunch, a Berlin student, awakened on the morning of March 21, 1907, after dreaming that he had eaten a welsh rarebit that refused to agree with him. In this disturbed frame of mind, he visited the home of his fiancee, Gertrude Mittelmann, who, strangely enough, had dreamed that she had eaten a welsh rarebit that had agreed with her.

While they were discussing this strange coincidence, Gertrude's father entered the kitchen and interrupted them. He informed the wretched girl that 187 of his childhood playmates were coming to lunch at his home, and they all loved a bit of good pastry. He then stormed from the kitchen.

The lovers, however, were equal to the occasion. They concluded that their dreams of the welsh rarebits were little less than omens. Hans immediately summoned 30 fellow students, who proceeded to throw rocks through all the grocery stores in the neighborhood. Within a short time, they had all the necessary materials for the pastry.

Thus, when Gertrude's father sat down with his childhood playmates they were all served with welsh rarebit tarts. That type of tart was little known in Germany at the time, and the friends appreciated them all the more. Hans' stop watch showed conclusively that the tarts had been completed in less than an hour.

Additional details of this remarkable tale will be found in Havelock Ellis' more recent book, "Ellis in Wonderland." . . .

Case Number Two — (An Associated Press dispatch from Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 3, 1923)—A feature of the wedding party that was given to Lionel Mushface and his new bride, Marion Haste, by Mary Pickford here today was the serving of a large cake that was baked by Miss Pickford herself.

Miss Haste and Mr. Mushface were married at noon and immediately went to Pickfair to their wedding celebration. Both the marriage and the celebration were extremely secretive affairs, no more than 2,000 people attending the ceremony and 5,000 the party.

At exactly 3:15 Miss Pickford clapped her hands for silence.

"I wish to announce," asserted Miss Pickford, "that I will now serve the first cake I have baked in more than 15 years. It is a chocolate cake, filled with gooseberries, and I completed in exactly 46 minutes."

The entire assemblage broke into wild applause as 10 butlers staggered out with their huge burden. Miss Pickford received many congratulations.

"I did it," she said softly, "because of my friendship for Miss Haste and Mr. Mushface.

Later in the afternoon, after imbibing too many cocktails, the new Mrs. Mushface hit her husband over the head with her slice of cake and knocked him out completely.

* * *

Case Number Three — (From Walter Winchell's column, April 1, 1928)—Paul Ashbernie, the orchestra pilot, and the Hotel Astor-its have phffft . . . The hotel claims Ashbernie swallowed too much whoopee water the other dawning and, after ankling into the kitchen, baked a cake for 500 people in 30 minutes . . . Inasmuch as there haven't been 500 people in the hotel since it opened, the management squawked plenty . . .

* * *

Case Number Four — (From a news dispatch from Washington, D. C., May 3, 1931) — President Hoover entertained 600 Scouts on the White House lawn today. Many games were played, and the President entertained the boys by telling them that there was no depression.

At 1 o'clock, a tremendous cake was served on the lawn by Ah Ling Foo, the President's personal assistant cake-baker. Mr. Foo startled the Washington correspondents and fairly knocked their feet off their desks by telling them that he had baked the cake in exactly 24 minutes!

The correspondents would not believe Mr. Foo until several of the boys had tasted the cake and grown nauseous. They then congratulated the cake-baker on his achievement.

Mr. Hoover was very much put out. He threatened to have the Wickersham Commission investigate but it was learned the commission was far too busy investigating the reports of their own investigations.

* * *

So the pastry chef at Earl Carroll's party baked a cake in an hour and a half, did he? And that's a record, eh? Bah! . . .

Lost Ugly Fat

Her Husband Says She Looks Five Years Younger!

There is a certain weight at which every woman looks her loveliest not skinny underweight not pendulous overweight but normal weight "My husband says I look five years younger" writes this lady of 29 who thanks to her daily dose of Kruschen Salts—has unburdened her body of 18 pounds of ugly fat Read her letter

"Having heard from a friend of mine that she had lost considerable weight since taking Kruschen Salts, I started using them in July last when I weighed 177 lbs. I have lost weight steadily since then and am now 159 lbs—my normal weight. Moreover, I feel brighter and more energetic in every way. I have enquired of my dressmaker my measurements, which in August last were:—Bust 40. Hips 43½. Waist 33½ inches. Last week they were:—Bust 38. Hips 40. Waist 31 inches, which is normal for my height, which is 5 ft. 8 in. My age is 29. My husband is a very severe critic. He says I look five years younger. There is no other reason for my loss of weight except Kruschen, as I do not take any particular diet."

APPROVE PLANS FOR 2 SCHOOLS

Architect's proposals for the $440,000 addition to the Liberty elementary school and the $200,000 East Brookline elementary school were approved at a meeting of the property and supplies committee of the Board of Public Education last night.

The original Liberty school was erected in 1860. It will be razed to make way for the addition on Ellsworth avenue, near South Negley avenue. The East Brookline school will be erected on a plot of 17 acres purchased in Overbrook by the board before it became a part of the city. It will contain nine classrooms.

'Bugs' Feels Pulse Of World; Gets Late Crisis News

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Effect of the pound sterling on the financial world centers:

COPENHAGEN: Declaring a snuff holiday. It's dangerous to sneeze.

CHICAGO: We're keeping the Stock Exchange open. Some stranger might drop in who hasn't heard about it.

BELGIUM: We didn't start it. But we're in it again.

BERLIN: We're laughing in the crying towel.

TOKIO: We haven't got a dime. But we're just closing out of sympathy.

NEW YORK: We will keep our Stock Exchange open. It's a habit.

LOS ANGELES: Mabel Willebrandt is making new wine brick with beveled edges.

PARIS: America and France must give until it hurts America. We will match every U. S. dollar with a French franc.

VIENNA: England doesn't have to worry about a fall. It's the bouncing that hurts.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Sept. 22.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Something has happened to England's gold standard. I don't know any more about it than a prominent man knows about relieving depression but I know you can't get any gold out of the Bank of England even with a check from the King indorsed by Gandhi. We got all the gold over here and look how pretty we are sitting, "yeah." It looks like the financial giants of the world have bungled as much as the diplomats and politicans. This would be a great time in the world for some man to come along that knew something.

Yours, WILL.

GUNMEN ROB GROCERY

Bandits held up an East End grocery and a pedestrian in the "Strip" within an hour last night.

After making a purchase in the grocery of Charles Holzapfel, at 624 North Dallas avenue, two young men drew revolvers and ordered the proprietor's son, Clement, to hold up his hands while they looted the cash register. They escaped in an automobile.

Jewelry valued at $350 and $15 in cash reported stolen from the home of Joseph M. Levy, at 5663 Hobart street, late yesterday. The front door was forced.

Thieves broke into the automobile of Florence Fisher Parry while it was parked in an alley near Oliver avenue and Wood street, and stole a pass for a downtown theater and two gasoline credit cards.

ROAD DETOURS ANNOUNCED

All vehicular traffic using Mansfield avenue, Noblestown road and Crafton boulevard to Crafton and Carnegie, will be detoured for two weeks begining tomorrow morning while improvements are made to Noblestown road.

Outbound traffic will use Mansfield avenue to Obey avenue, to Steuben street (Middletown road) to Stratmore avenue to Crafton boulevard to Crafton and Carnegie.

Inbound traffic will use Crafton boulevard from Crafton and Carnegie to Stratmore avenue to Steuben street (Middletown road) to Obey avenue to Mansfield avenue to the West End.

Yesterday while work was under way, a steam shovel struck a gas line and the escaped gas caught fire and enveloped the shovel. Julius Brown, 33, of 312 West Lacock street, operator of the shovel was burned.

MORE PARKING PLANNED FOR WHARVES

Director Acts to Slash Costs by Dropping Police; Larger Space Proposed

Steps to reduce operating costs and provide for parking of more automobiles were outlined today in a new plan for operation of the city's parking wharves on three river fronts. The plan was outlined by Director Edward G. Lang, of the Public Works Department, whose organization contemplates taking over of parking facilities soon.

Improvement of the Duquesne, Monongahela and Exposition wharf sites by erection of fences, repaving and other beautification ideas would permit, Lang said, parking daily of 1,050 cars instead of the 606 now permitted. Substitution of clerks for policemen would reduce cost of wages $4,260 yearly, he said.

Under present operation by the police department five officers and three clerks are stationed at the Monongahela wharf at an annual salary cost of $17,100. Under Lang's plan, four collectors and four attendants would do the work at an annual cost of $13,200, a saving of $4,100.

At the Duquesne wharf three officers and two attendants are paid an annual total salary of $10,560. With civilian employes, including four collectors and two attendants at a cost of $10,200, at least $360 could be saved, Lang declares.

ANDERSON VOTE AIDES THANKED

Councilman Charles Anderson, whose nomination for re-election to Council is assured by present returns, today issued a statement thanking the newspapers and all those who aided his campaign. Anderson, who opposed the Mayor's councilmanic majority in attempting to quash the Department of Supplies investigation last March, and who ran on an independent ticket, said:

"Returns from the recent Republican primaries show that I have been one of the successful candidates for the office of Council, and that I am to continue by virtue of the people's actions in my present position.

"My candidacy was advanced from many sources, and perhaps the most important of these was the unflagging support given me by the Pittsburgh newspapers, and I extend to them my deepest thanks.

"It will be my hope that my future actions will merit the continued confidence and good will of those powerful forces in civic affairs.

"It is my wish that Pittsburgh grow and prosper, and to this end we must all work."

$2,000 Asked to Assure Mayview Water Supply

More than 3,400 inmates and attendants at the Mayview City Home and Hospital face loss of water supply unless a dilapidated reservoir is repaired at once. Mrs. Enoch Rauh, of the Department of Public Welfare, and Public Works Director Edward G. Lang yesterday told Council only one pipeline was in use at the city home. In the event of its failure the institution would be without water. The line has been furnished by the South Pittsburgh Water Company.

Engineers who examined the reservoir told Lang it was "in precarious condition." Cracked and broken, the reservoir is incapable of holding any appreciable amount of water, the engineers' report said. At least $2,000 will be required to put it into condition to insure an adequate water supply. Council was asked to take immediate action by supplying funds so that work can be started before winter.

SAFETY PARLEY AIDES NAMED

Seven residents of the Pittsburgh district are scheduled to speak at the twentieth annual National Safety Congress to be held in Chicago next month. Four other local men will take active part in the convention. The Rev. Dr. Robert F. MacGowan, pastor of the Bellefield Presbyterian Church, will be the principal speaker at the congress banquet which is to be held in the Stevens Hotel October 14.

Other local men scheduled to speak are C. B. Auel of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, John A. Oartel of the Carnegie Steel Company, John W. Hallock of the University of Pittsburgh; E. J. Kreh of the Philadelphia Company, and E. F. Blank, and H. J. Griffiths of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation.

Those taking part in various committee jobs are Dr. A. W. Colcord, of the Carnegie Steel Company; E. Ross Reno, of the United Laundries; Thomas E. Lightfoot, of the Koppers Company, and Norman L. Park, of the Pittsburgh Motor Club. A dozen other Pittsburghers will be delegates to the congress.

MINE PROBLEMS LAID TO LACK OF UNITY

Dr. Baker Warns Operators To 'Make Up Their Minds', Join to Effect Recovery

Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology, last night urged the amending of the Sherman anti-trust laws; a reasonable legislative program, and a board made up of the strong men of the coal industry to make its policy.

Speaking at a conference organized by the Allied Board of Trade, called the Pittsburgh Public Coal Conference, Dr. Baker and other speakers urged the necessity of action to aid the coal industry out of its perplexities.

More than 150 attended the conference, mainly representatives of civic organizations and communities. Other speakers were Irving L. Camp, of Johnstown, Pa., and T. Y. Beckett, mayor-manager of Wheeling, W. Va.

PINCHOT AID ASKED

The conference passed resolutions asking Gov. Pinchot to include remedial legislation in his special session of the Legislature; indorsed the "Wheeling Plan" in principle, subject to revision; indorsed the action of Gov. Flem D. Sampson, of Kentucky, in calling a conference of governors of 10 coal producing states, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, Tennessee, Alabama, Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and Maryland.

Mayor Beckett, explaining the Wheeling plan, outlined it as forming a new competitive field of the lake, or tri-state region; state guidance rather than governmental control; establish an impartial tribune formed by the governors of the several states; ascertain potential production and balance production, as well as cooperation between capital and labor. Harrow Bastow, president of the Allied Boards, presided.

SHERMAN LAW CHANGE

Dr. Baker said in part:

"We must agree that improvements in the industry must come from within. Government officials, engineers, bankers, economists, journalists cannot understand the complexities of this business well enough to determine the course that it should pursue. Many suggestions have come from many quarters as to what should be done. New legislature is proposed. A reasonable legislative program for the coal industry should be enacted. The Sherman anti-trust law should be amended. Regional combinations of coal companies should be encouraged. Central organizations should be permitted. Changes should be made in the methods of taxing coal lands.

"A sales tax is proposed as a substitute for the tax on coal in the ground. Some of the methods of European countries in dealing with the coal industry should be studied and adopted. Then there are those who go so far as to advocate government control in varying degrees. Finally we have this very important Wheeling Plan which deserves the most attentive consideration. But the coal man must or should decide what he thinks is good for his enterprise.

ORGANIZATION NEEDED

"It is at this point that his strong individualism asserts itself. The mine owner may have his opinion as to what the government or Congress should do, but he has no facilities for reaching an agreement with his neighbors. The immediate task before the industry is to make up its mind as to what it wants. It lacks an organization. There should be a board made up of the most enlightened representatives of the great coal companies of this country that would formulate a program for the future of the industry."

JOHNSTON CITY, Ill., Sept. 22.—(AP.)—The Rev. G. C. Kinney, pastor of the Washington Avenue Baptist Church, has announced that an all-night prayer meeting will be held Friday night to pray over present political and social conditions.

LANG SEEKS TO LET JOBS WITHOUT PUBLIC NOTICE

COUNCIL ASKED TO SANCTION PROPOSAL

Works Department Chief Would Award Bids Up To $500 By Letter Only

Radical change in contract letting procedure has been asked by Council by Director Edward G. Lang, public works director. Lang desires permission to change contract legislation by which letter bids up to $500 can be awarded without the necessity of newspaper advertisements. Under present rulings any contract amounting to more than $250 must be advertised.

Lang contended that large sums would be saved annually by not advertising small contracts.

City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt has sanctioned Lang's request. Council took the matter under advisement.

Reorganization of the City Department of Supplies following the food contract investigation last Spring has necessitated the creation of six additional positions, Col. W. R. Dunlap, director, declared yesterday. Dunlap asked Council to authorize revision of the department personnel so the positions could be created permanently. The additional help has been employed for more than three months according to Dunlap, and is being paid out of special appropriations made by Council.

If the new plan is approved provision will be made in the 1932 budget to pay the salaries on the regular salary list. Included in the additional employes list are clerks, typists and stenographers. Additions to personnel were recommended by the Pittsburgh Bureau of Governmental Research.

Dorrance Estate Tax Hearings Set

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22 (AP).—The first hearings in Pennsylvania's fight to collect a tax on the $200,000,000 estate of the late John T. Dorrance, former president of the Campbell Soup Company, will be held next Tuesday at Media, Pa.

State inheritance tax appraisers claim Dorrance maintained a mansion in Delaware County, Pa., as his legal residence, although having several other homes. His will was probated in New Jersey.

Fall Vacationists Sail for Bermuda

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Autumn voyagers to Bermuda include Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Bennett, Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Buterbaugh and Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Reynolds, of Pittsburgh, who sailed last night on the Transylvania. The Pittsburgh vacationists will spend two days in the islands following a 700-mile cruise in the gulf stream. They will return to New York on Sunday.

Concert for Jewish Home Canceled

The concert scheduled for the Jewish Home for the Aged tomorrow has been canceled due to the strike of members of the Pittsburgh Musical Society, Dave Rubinoff announced today. The concert may be given at a later date he said.

GANG BOASTER SHOT DEAD

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(INS)—Too much boasting was blamed by police today for the murder of Benjamin Meyerson, 22, Brooklyn gangster. After he had shouted in a Brooklyn cafe last night that he had taken the leadership of a gang headed by Meyer Shapiro until Shapiro was shot to death last week, Meyerson was "rubbed out."

He was shot while walking with a young woman. A young man leaped from an automobile into a crowded street and calmly killed the young gangster. The girl screamed and ran away as the killer escaped in the death car.

Another echo of the recent Harlem gang wars was heard this morning when Joseph Grottoli was found dying in a street in Brooklyn with five bullet wounds in his back, his ears slashed and his throat cut. Brought to the Coney Island Hospital, Grottoli would not talk.

RAIDERS SEIZE BREW, STILLS

Large quantities of home brew were reported confiscated in simultaneous raids by prohibition agents on an alleged wildcat brewery at 21 South Eighteenth street and a saloon in an adjoining building, at 23 South Eighteenth street, yesterday.

In the brewery the agents said they seized 1,400 bottles of home brew, 10 gallons of whisky and destroyed 112 gallons of mash. Confiscation of four gallons of whisky and 216 bottles of brew was reported in the saloon.

Three stills and 90 large vats and 15 gallons of moonshine were found by the agents in a barn in Jeannette, Westmoreland County. No arrests were made.

Capone's Brother Granted Trial Delay

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—(INS)—Ralph Capone, brother of "Scarface Al," and 20 co-defendants today were granted a continuance until October 27 in their trial for conspiracy to violate the dry laws.

Held for Court In Girl's Charge

Accused by Josephine DeAngeles, 18, a waitress, of 840 Eureka street, of having abducted her and then to have beaten her when she resisted his attentions, James O. White, 29, of 206 Wilbur street, Knoxville, said to be a county road department employe, today was held for court by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones, in Morals Court. White testified that the girl voluntarily got into his automobile where she alleged she was beaten.

CITY TO ABATE DEATH PERIL IN FUMIGATION

Dr. Maits Drafts Rules For Licenses and Bonds To Insure Safety in Work

Long-awaited action to prevent tragedies similar to one that claimed two lives during fumigation of a North Side building several months ago was being taken by city officials today.

Drafted by Health Director Charles B. Maits, the legislation provides licensing of all commercial fumigation organizations and stringent control of their activities.

Under the proposed ordinance fumigators would be licensed, after examination by a board of three examiners, and would put up a $10,000 bond. Licenses, issued by the Board of Health, would cost $50 yearly. Separate permits for each fumigation job would be obtained from the Health Department.

In addition to these precautions, the fumigators would be compelled to give adequate notification to occupants of the building to be cleansed, would be forced to post guards at entrances and post warning signs. Failure to comply would be punishable by a fine of $100 or 30 days in jail for each offense.

FRICK'S WOODS URGED AS ZOO

A plan to transfer the Highland Park Zoo to Frick's Woods was being considered today by City Council and James Moore, superintendent of city parks.

A taxpayer wrote Council proposing that the city use Frick's Woods for the zoo, declaring this would be similar to the Washington plan of keeping the animals in natural habitats.

Cost of the transfer, it was pointed out, would be no greater than that of repairing and renovating the present dilapidated buildings at Highland Park.

A number of specimens have died because of lack of sunlight and proper fresh air facilities at the zoo.

McKeesport Man Named Court Crier

John S. Englert, 58, of 3418 Gleason avenue, McKeesport, today was appointed crier of Criminal Court.

He has served as a tipstaff 21 years. Before that he was a county detective six years and a lieutenant of the McKeesport police department. He is married and has five children.

Short Line Sale In Etna Authorized

A Federal Court order authorizing the sale of two sections of trackage of the "Butler Short Line" in the Borough of Etna to the Pittsburgh Railways Company was granted today by Judge Nelson McVicar.

The tracks run in Crescent avenue from Butler street to the Pine Creek bridge and 580 feet on Grant avenue. The price for both parcels was $1,150.

Slashes on Wrists Cause Police Probe

Homicide detectives today were investigating the manner in which Isadore Salledor, 20, of 309 Roberts street, received deep slashes to both wrists. Salledor was taken to Passavant Hospital, where it was reported he had attempted to end his own life. No report of the incident was made to Center avenue police until some time later, and an investigation was ordered.

LIFE INSURANCE LEADERS OPEN MEETING HERE

Faith in U. S. Financial Structure Pledged By Executive Committee

More than 2,500 men and women were in Pittsburgh today to attend the annual convention of the National Association of Life Insurance Underwriters opening in the William Penn Hotel this morning. Sessions will continue until Friday.

In a resolution passed late yesterday by the executive committee, faith in the financial structure of the United States "and the resources and ability of our people to meet any emergency that may arise" was expressed.

George E. Lackey, president of the association, said that the executive committee consisted of 226 representatives from every local association in the United States, representing 20,000 members from among 200,000 eligibles who in turn represent more than 300 legal reserve life insurance companies. He said:

"These 200,000 write approximately 85 per cent of all life insurance in the United States. They have the responsibility of conserving the $110,000,000,000 of life insurance in force in their companies. And that sum is enough to pay out $2,000,000 a day for 155 years, or a space of time equal to the time from the signing of the Declaration of Independence down to the present. We feel that there is no sound reason for lack of public confidence, and that no such lack should be permitted to exist. If it does exist, it can be and must be overcome."

SLURS POLICE, GETS $5 FINE

Patrolman George Maxwell testified in Central Police Court today that when he blamed John Quinlan, 28, of 1339 Penn avenue, for an automobile collision last night at Liberty avenue and Tenth street Quinlan remarked:

"You didn't see this acident. You are like all the rest of the cops, always hiding in booze joints."

Magistrate Leo Rothenberg fined Quinlan $5 with the option of five days in jail on a charge of disorderly conduct.

A treasured recipe for 23 years

For twenty-three long years Sunshine Bakers have been blending a rare, velvety cream and imprisoning it between two rich, artfully designed chocolate cookies. Hostesses everywhere know this tempting combination as Sunshine Hydrox. It never fails to delight friends and family at teas and parties and with desserts, for it is the most popular English-style biscuit in America.

It is flattered by constant imitation of course . . . So remember, at your grocer's, only Sunshine is Hydrox.

Breaking Out Over Face and Back. Healed by Cuticura.

"Eczema started with a breaking out of pimples all over my face, and spread to my back. The eruptions were very itchy and when I scratched it caused them to burn. The scratching also caused other eruptions and my face was disfigured. My clothing was worn with much discomfort, and the irritation often prevented me from sleeping. At times my face was so bad that I stayed at home.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample of each. I purchased more and after using three cakes of Soap and two boxes of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Edna M. Dean, Rt. 1, Kirkwood, Pa., Feb. 17, 1931.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. H, Malden, Mass."

SQUIRE DENIES HE FAILED TO TURN IN FINES

Mt. Lebanon Official Cites Monthly Reports to Show Township Received Money

Declaring himself innocent of allegations that he failed to turn over fines to Mt. Lebanon Township, Justice of the Peace Ira H. Edmundson issued a statement today with a list of his monthly reports for 1930. It was his first public denial. He said:

"It seems that the failure on the part of the township auditors to make their report for 1930 has been attributed to a matter concerning me. It is indeed a crude endeavor to shield campaign talk. I am sorry to note that elected members of a board of auditors would so carelessly and ineffectively stoop to hide their own shortcomings by reference to a matter which forms no part of their duties.

"Although I proved by affidavits from the people supposed to have been fined that no money had been paid by them, it was insisted that I should nevertheless turn over fines collected, according to their unfounded report."

Attached to the statement was a facsimile of a check for $165 which, Edmundson said, though the amount could not be positively shown as neither due or not due, he gave in full settlement of accounts up to January 6, 1930. He declared the amount was the balance of $508 alleged due the township, $343 of which could not be shown due by the auditors.

In the list of monthly reports for 1930 contained in the statement, the amounts collected and those remitted each month were identical.

Find Gardener Dead From Heart Attack

The body of Henry Fleige, 50, of 1247 High street, a gardener for the H. J. Heinz Company, was found last night in a garage in the rear of the home of Sebastian Mueller, first vice president of the Heinz company, at 944 North Sheridan avenue, after his sons, Bernard and Henry, had searched for him in the morgue.

Fleige, who worked at the Mueller home when not engaged at the plant, became ill and rested on a mattress in the garage. Several hours later he was found dead. The cause was believed a heart ailment.

New Firearms Law Exempts Long Guns

Hunters may carry their rifles and shotguns in their automobiles this fall without fear of arrest under the new firearms law, but they must display their official hunting licenses when they have in their possession guns with barrels longer than 12 inches. Revolvers and sawed-off shotguns are the only types of firearms the new firearms law concerns.

DUNCAN PLANS PULPIT TRADE

An exchange of pulpits between the Rev. Dr. W. W. T. Duncan, for 11 years pastor of Emory Methodist Episcopal Church, and the Rev. Dr. Marcellus B. Fuller, of Lakewood Methodist Episcopal Church, Cleveland, is planned.

Following a meeting of the official board of Emory church last night, announcement was made today that both ministers had the transfer under consideration.

Dr Duncan informed the board that he considered the unanimous call to Lakewood church an unusual opportunity for enlarged service and urged that Dr. Fuller be invited to Emory church, which was done.

The Lakewood Church is reputed to be the largest in Methodism, with a staff of assistants, and the largest Sunday school in Cleveland.

Dr. Fuller has been with the Lakewood Church 14 years. Bishop Herbert Welch, of the Pittsburgh area, is expected to pass on the transfer tonight.

New Zealand Area Rocked by Quake

LONDON, Sept. 22.—(INS.)—Poverty Bay and Hawkes Bay in New Zealand were severely shaken by an earthquake today, according to a dispatch from Wellington. Considerable damage was caused at Opotiki, where a number of buildings were wrecked.

TOKIO, Sept. 22.—(INS.)—The death toll in Monday's earthquake was placed at 12 today as further reports reached here from the quake center, 40 miles northwest of Tokio.

Insurance Men Hear Red Ideals Scored

BARRE, Vt., Sept. 22.—(AP.)—Henry Swift Ives, special counsel for the Associated Casualty and Surety Executives of New York, today warned against "the national menace caused by the infiltration of socialistic ideals into our body politic," in a speech before the Vermont Association of insurance agents.

Ardmore Man Leaps In Front of Train

ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 22.—(INS.)—Evan Jones Lester, Jr., 53, of Chatham road, Ardmore, committed suicide today by leaping in front of an eastbound electric train of the Pennsylvania Railroad, according to police. A large crowd of commuters saw the man leap to the tracks in front of the train.

Hundreds of Eels Shut Off Town's Water Suppply

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Sept. 22.—Eels, four feet in length and as thick as a man's arm, hundreds of them, have put a crimp in Bellefonte's water supply. When the supply from Spring Creek ran low the race leading to the pumping station was shut down. The gates of the water wheel were found clogged with eels which shut off a large portion of the supply. It required several hours to remove them.

BABY SHOW IN CONFUSION

More than 100 women from a number of outlying communities stood in the corridors of the Fulton Theater, Sixth street, for more than an hour early today, waiting for the doors to open on a baby show which had been changed to the DeMolay Hall, 211 Collins avenue, three weeks before.

Indignant at their long wait the women refused to go to East Liberty when it was explained that the scheduled performance there had been canceled. Spokesmen for the women, who said some of their number had paid from $2 to $5 for tickets, were going to demand their money back from the Women's Benefit Association under whose auspices the show was to have been held.

Mrs. W. O. Maybury, president, today said the show would be given tonight at 8 o'clock in De Molay Hall. It was planned as a benefit for the establishment of a health clinic for babies under 6.

Tonight's program will be featured by the award of trophies to healthiest children. The winners were selected in June. Only members of the Women's Benefit Association were entitled to enter babies in the contest.

BERLIN, Sept. 22.—(AP.)—A message received here from William Albert Robinson, 28, of Milwaukee, said he left Gibralter Sunday in his 32-foot ketch-rigged yacht en route to the Canary Islands and Bermuda and expected to reach New York in November.

At the end of his trip Robinson will have circled the globe and traveled 31,000 miles. He left New York in June, 1928.

Compensation Won By Citizen Hurt Aiding Police

HARRISBURG, Sept. 22.—(AP.)—The Workmen's Compensation Board in an opinion today ruled that a citizen called upon by a public peace officer to assist in quelling trouble or making an arrest is entitled to compensation for injuries suffered while performing that duty.

The board gave the ruling in the appeal of the Workmen's Compensation Fund, Inc., from an award made to W. L. Gill, of Patton. Gill's father, W. J. Gill, is chief of police in Patton. Sent to quell a disturbance Gill was injured, and he filed a claim for compensation on the ground that he became an employe of the borough when his father deputized him to help his brother. A referee awarded him compensation.

Ex-Senator France To File Candidacy

ST. PAUL, Sept. 22.—(AP.)—Joseph I. France, former United States Senator from Maryland said he would file his name as a candidate in the North Dakota Republican primary election next March.

He said his campaign would be based on criticism of the Republican party for lack of leadership and on "quick repeal" of the prohibition amendment as the "only way to cure gangsterism."

Death Case Bail Cut For Fairmont Doctor

RENO, Nev., Sept. 22.—(AP.)—Bail fixed for Dr. Carl Pierre Andre of Fairmont, W. Va., charged with involuntary manslaughter in the death of Mrs. Martha Hutchinson, also of Fairmont, was reduced from $5,000 to $2,500 by Judge Thomas Moran. Andre was arrested after Mrs. Hutchinson was injured fatally when she fell from his automobile here.

$1000.00 CASH

Will be paid Anyone

to NAME this New Hand Lotion...

Wouldn't it be delightful to receive a letter in the near future announcing you to be the winner of this $1500.00 prize? Mrs. H. M. McCarty of Beaumont, Texas, received just such a thrill a few days ago when she received our Air Mail Letter and check for $1500.00. We offered $1000.00 for a name for our new perfume and $500.00 extra for promptness. Mrs. McCarty saw our announcement and mailed in the name, "Song of the Flowers," which the judges announced to be the winning name and mailed her a check for $1500.00. The name she suggested is a very pretty name, but simple; and you, or anyone, might have thought of it. Had you done so and sent it in you too would have received $1500.00, because we pay all who send the winning name the full prize.

JOAN BLONDELL

Prominent Screen and Stage Star, whose picture appears above, now being featured in Warner Bros. Pictures, says, "I am delighted with this new Hand Lotion and Container."

$500.00 EXTRA for PROMPTNESS

Readers of this announcement are urged to send in their suggestion for a name at once, because $500.00 extra will be given the winner, if the name is mailed and postmarked before

Sept. 26, 1931

Don't overlook this date. It may mean $500.00 extra for you, or a total of $1500.00 in all. A prize like this is certainly worth going after at once. Bear in mind that only one name must be submitted by each contestant and if there are ties, duplicate prizes will be given all sending the winning name.

HERE'S YOUR OPPORTUNITY

We now want a name for our new Hand Lotion and will pay anyone $1000.00 to name it and $500.00 extra for promptness, or $1500.00 cash in all. This amount can be yours just for sending us the right name. There's nothing else to do, nothing to buy or sell, and no slogan or story to write to win this splendid prize. In choosing a name you may submit the name of a flower, bird, tree, person, or in fact any name that comes to your mind. Coined words are acceptable. Such names as Velvo, Lovelo, Satinskin, etc. We want your suggestion, no matter how simple it is, for the very name you send may win, and give you the same happy thrill received by Mrs. McCarty. ©H M. P. Co. 1931.

Prize Award The prize or prizes will be awarded to the person, or persons sending the name we choose from among those submitted. If the name we choose has been submitted by a number of people everyone who submitted the winning name will receive $1000.00, and all who mailed the winning name in time for the promptness prize, will receive an extra $500.00, or $1500.00 in all. Send your name at once, be in time for the promptness prize, and you will be notified immediately the approximate time of the prize award.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh Society Happenings

In Mayfair —With— Patricia Pitt

Although Pittsburgh buds of the season will not be presented until early November days are here, many girls in the East are already making their bows. And since eastern society is so closely allied with ours, everyone is eager for news of eastern debuts.

Last night Betty Hall, daughter of the Louis Ferry Halls of Rockridge, Greenwich, Conn., made her debut at a supper dance in the Greenwich Country Club given by her parents, and among the guests was James H. Lockhart Jr.

This morning there was a breakfast served at small tables on the terraces and in the clubhouse to end the affair.

Mrs. Hall had a large house party for her daughter over the week-end and entertained her guests at a [illegible] yesterday afternoon at the [illegible] Country Club. And Mr. Lockhart was again among the guests.

Debutante Is Bride

And here's a surprise for you. Martha [illegible], daughter of Thomas [illegible] of Sewickley, is married. She became the wife of Malcolm Hay, son of the South- [illegible] Hays of Westp[illegible] place, Shadyside, on August [illegible].

The young bride is a graduate of the Masters School, Dobbs Ferry, and made her debut last winter. Mr. Hay attended Shady Side Academy and is a graduate of Phillips Andover Academy and Yale University, class of 1930.

Esther McDowell will leave tomorrow for Washington, where she'll be a student at Chevy Chase this winter.

Evelyn Lucille Ringer Marries D. [illegible] Hardie Jr.

The marriage of Evelyn Lucille Ringer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey C. Ringer of Tacoma street, to David Archibald Hardie of Wilkins avenue, took place Saturday in the Sixth United Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. Dr. A. R. Robinson officiating.

Autumn flowers including giant dahlias and gladioli in standards against a background of cibotium ferns decorated the church. Miss Ringer wore a fine beige velvet gown with velvet hat to match. She carried Talisman roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Edward C. Green, matron of honor, was gowned in seal brown velvet. Her hat matched her costume and her flowers were Treasure Island dahlias. Marjorie Hardie, sister of the bridegroom, and Elizabeth Dibert, bridesmaids, were gowned in Taihhu green velvet with hats to match. Both carried sheaves of autumn flowers.

John C. Bryan was best man and the ushers were Edward L. Ringer, brother of the bride, and Edward C. Green.

A reception and dinner at the Hotel Schenley followed the ceremony. Fall flowers centered the bride's table, where covers were placed for 20 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Hardie left for a motor trip through New England. They will be at home after October 15 in Marshall road.

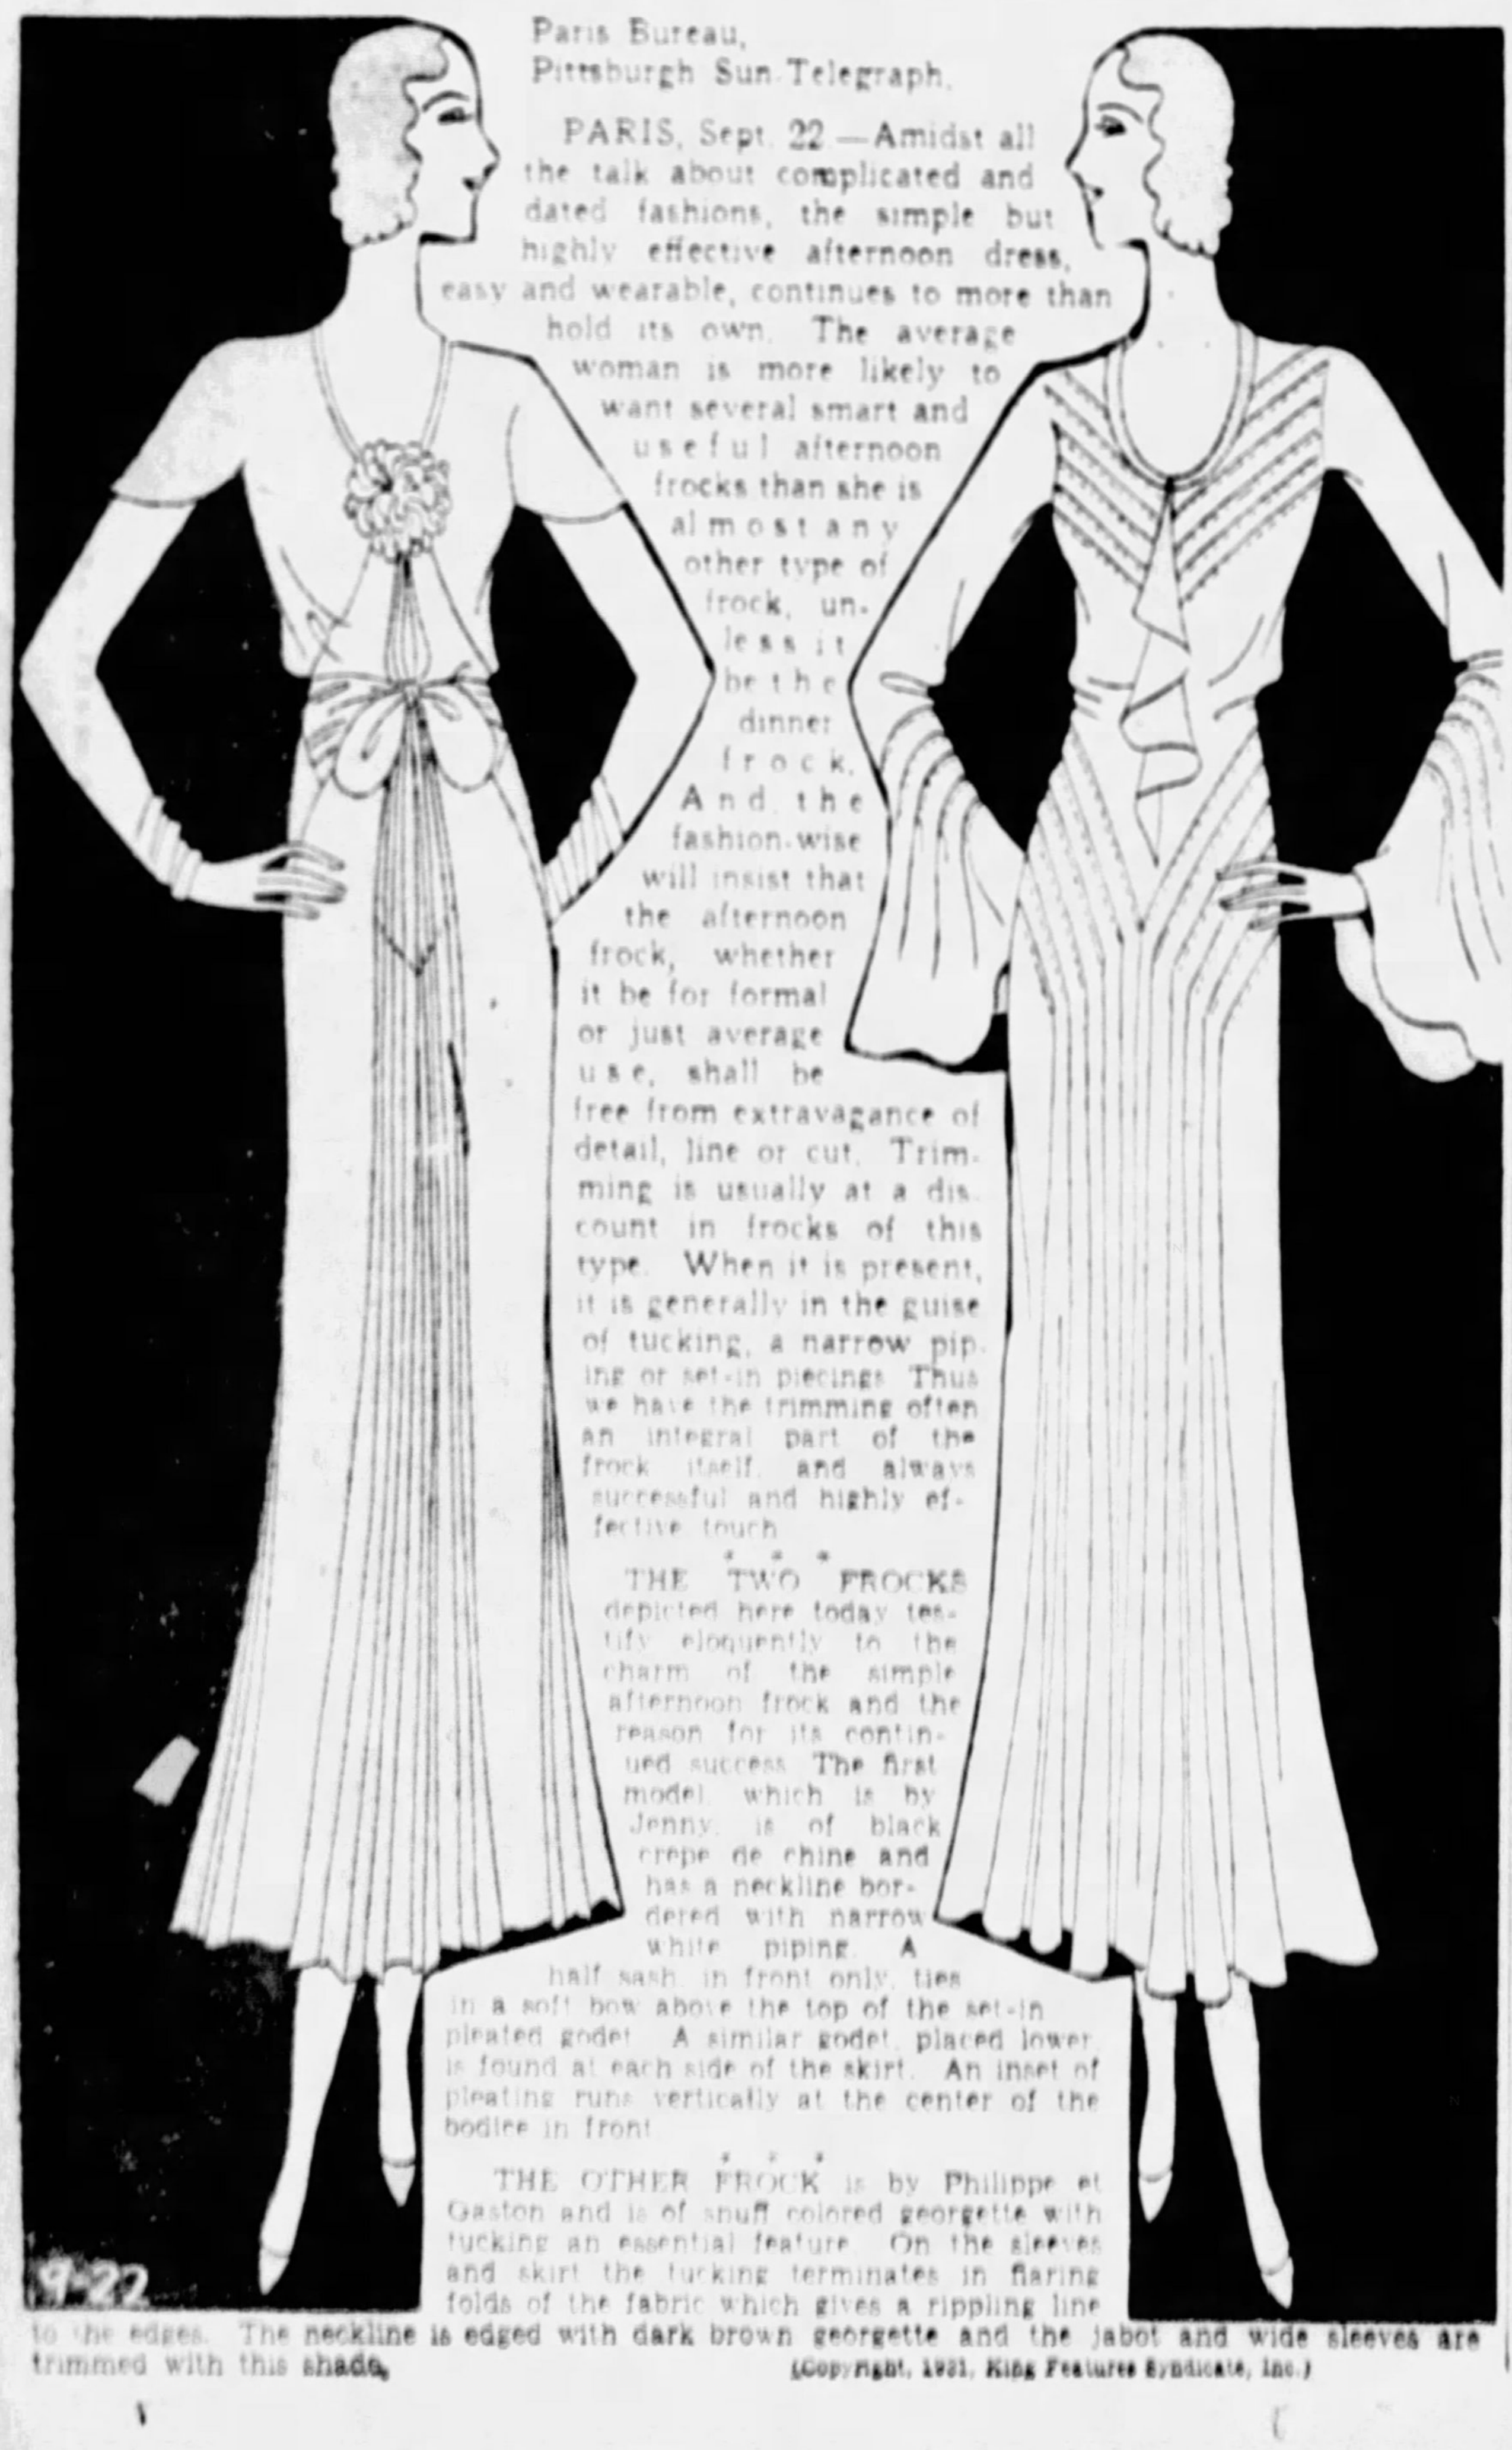
SIMPLE AFTERNOON DRESS RETAINS ITS POPULARITY

—Sketched in Paris—



Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Sept. 22.—Amidst all the talk about complicated and dated fashions, the simple but highly effective afternoon dress, easy and wearable, continues to more than hold its own. The average woman is more likely to want several smart and useful afternoon frocks than she is almost any other type of frock, unless it be the dinner frock. And the fashion-wise will insist that the afternoon frock, whether it be for formal or just average use, shall be free from extravagance of detail, line or cut. Trimming is usually at a discount in frocks of this type. When it is present, it is generally in the guise of tucking, a narrow piping or set-in piecings. Thus we have the trimming often an integral part of the frock itself, and always successful and highly effective touch.

* * *

THE TWO FROCKS depicted here today testify eloquently to the charm of the simple afternoon frock and the reason for its continued success. The first model, which is by Jenny, is of black crepe de chine and has a neckline bordered with narrow white piping. A half sash, in front only, ties in a soft bow above the top of the set-in pleated godet. A similar godet, placed lower, is found at each side of the skirt. An inset of pleating runs vertically at the center of the bodice in front.

* * *

THE OTHER FROCK is by Philippe et Gaston and is of snuff colored georgette with tucking an essential feature. On the sleeves and skirt the tucking terminates in flaring folds of the fabric which gives a rippling line to the edges. The neckline is edged with dark brown georgette and the jabot and wide sleeves are trimmed with this shade.

MEET TO PLAN SEAL SALE

Declaring that tuberculosis killed more Pennsylvanians than any other disease, Arthur M. Dewees, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society, announced that the fifth of seven conferences to plan the 1931 Christmas Seal sale would be held in the Fort Pitt Hotel Thursday night.

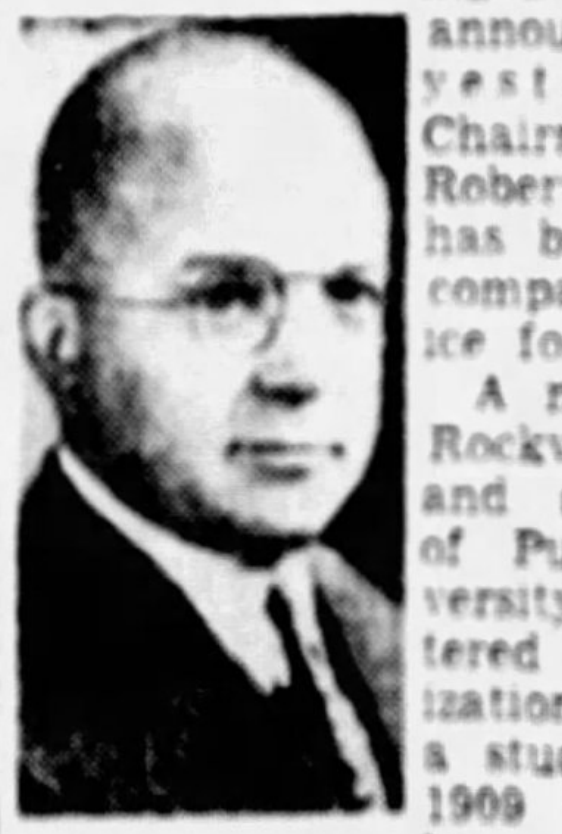
Philip P. Jacobs, New York, of the National Tuberculosis Association, will speak. Alice E. Stewart, general superintendent of the Pittsburgh league; Florence E. Leitch, organizer; Dr. C. Howard Marcy, medical director; George R. Jackson, seal sale manager, and Bryon McCandless, educational director, will represent the Pittsburgh league at the conference.

Crash Laid to Bee In Auto; 2 Injured

MERCER, Pa. Sept. 22.—A bee in the automobile of G. M. Officer, 189 Clarencedale avenue, Youngstown, caused an automobile wreck in which two persons were injured and three machines damaged near Mercer. Officers said the car went to the left side of the road, where it crashed into machines operated by Frank Klingensmith, of Mercer, and George Welch, of Pittsburgh. Klingensmith and his daughter were injured.

SEYBOLD GIVEN PROMOTION

The appointment of Roscoe Seybold as comptroller of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company was announced late yesterday by Chairman A. W. Robertson. He has been in the company's service for 24 years.



Mr. Seybold

A native of Rockville, Ind., and a graduate of Purdue University, he entered the organization in 1907 as a student. From 1909 until 1922 he was manager of the Price section of the Power and Railway headquarters sales departments. From 1922 until 1926 he served as as executive with the general sales manager. He has been assistant to President F. A. Merrick since 1926.

He is a member of the Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania Chambers of Commerce, the University Club, the Edgewood Country Club and the Westinghouse Club.

STATE CANNING POSTS URGED

Gov. Pinchot may open canning stations all over the state, similar to the one operating 24 hours a day in Pittsburgh, it was announced today by Harry I. Miller, head of the Surplus for the Needy Association. He said:

"Capt. W. C. Price, head of the Pennsylvania state police, is going to suggest to the Governor that other cities in the state follow Pittsburgh's example in preserving surplus fruits and vegetables for the winter."

More than 200 state highway patrolmen and state police today are scouring the state for surplus farm produce under the direction of Capt. D. M. Miller, of the highway patrol, and state police officials.

More trucks, and money for sugar, is the association's plea. More than 15,000 cans were filled on Saturday, he said.

Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., chairman of the women's committees of the Surplus for the Needy Association, has appointed Mrs. C. L. Snowden as full-time assistant to Mr. Miller in all canning operations, he said.

Sedition Parole Pleas Withdrawn

BEAVER, Pa., Sept. 22.—Peter A. Muselin, Tom Zima and Milan Resetar, formerly of Aliquippa, who are serving sentences of five years each in the workhouse following conviction for sedition, have withdrawn their applications for parole in the Beaver County courts. Attorney Henry H. Wilson, counsel for the men, said applications for pardon would be made before the state Board of Pardons.

PITT COACH FEARS TWO EARLY GAMES

Greasy Neale

COACH JOCK SUTHERLAND, who has brought his Pitt Panthers back to town to begin classes after two weeks in Camp Hamilton, is reserving judgment, or at least a public expression of his opinion, as to the probable outcome of the games this fall. The Blue and Gold mentor is not going to allow himself to anticipate either victories or defeats until after the second hard test of the season with Greasy Neale's West Virginia team at the Stadium on October 10.

The Pitt coach, who admits that he feels rather optimistic this year, qualifies his admission by saying that the Panthers can lose two games and yet be considered a good team. In sizing up the difficult schedule, he makes no denial that considering the early dates in connection with the caliber of the opposing teams, he fears the Iowa and West Virginia events as greatly as any other two games on the card. He will not consider his eleven as being safely started toward a successful season until it has passed those two tough spots on the road.

IF EDDIE HIRSHBERG and his mates can go into the dressing room after the West Virginia game and still have an unbeaten season behind them, with no serious injuries to hold them back, then and then only will Jock say that his team has better than an average chance to win at least four of the six remaining contests.

And prior to the West Virginia game, Sutherland will feel none too safe about the Iowa battle. Burt Ingwersen has a veteran combination bolstered by plenty of good sophomore material. And the Hawkeye coach will take no chances on being defeated by an outside team before he comes to grips with Western Conference foes.

NEALE TOO HAS a veteran outfit with a raft of lettermen from last year in addition to good sophomores and Critchfield and Beall, 1929 men. Last year the Mountaineers gave Pitt its hardest battle of the season and the fighting spirit they showed then will hardly be dampened by a coach like Neale.

Little wonder, then, that Sutherland is cautious about making any predictions with two such hard games on his card for early dates. A defeat at the hands of either of those teams, or injuries to men not yet in the best of condition, would not do the Panthers any good and the effects probably would be felt through the remainder of the season.

THE PERFORMANCE OF the Cardinals in coming from behind to win yesterday's game with Brooklyn kept Pittsburgh's last remaining mathematical chance of finishing in the first division from fading away. Even as it is, the prospect is none too encouraging. To finish fourth, it will be necessary not only for the Pirates to win all of their remaining four games, but for the Robins to lose every one of the four contests they have yet to play. If the Robins win one more game Pittsburgh can't do better than tie for fourth position, and the same goes if the Pirates lose one more. Two victories for Brooklyn, or two defeats for Pittsburgh, or one victory for Brooklyn and one defeat for Pittsburgh, will give the money berth to the Flatbush club.

Jumbo Elliott

THOUGH LIFTED IN the eighth inning, Jumbo Elliott received credit for the Phillies' victory over the Pirates yesterday, the fourth time he has beaten them in six meetings this year, and that result created a five-cornered tie for the pitching leadership of the National League in number of games won this season.

For it was the eighteenth decision of the year for Elliott and it put the big Quaker southpaw abreast of four other flingers at the head of the procession in the Heydler organization. The others who have won 18 games up to today are Heine Meine, of the Pirates; Bill Hallahan, of the Cards; Fred Fitzsimmons, of the Giants, and Ed Brandt, of the Braves.

UNLESS ONE OF the five succeeds in turning in two more victories in the few games that remain to be played, the National League will close the season next Sunday without having a 20-game winner on its pitching books. Last year it had only two in Remy Kremer and Pat Malone, and in 1929 only Malone reached the mark.

On the other hand, the American League has five slabmen who have won 20 or more games this season—Lefty Grove 30, Wes Ferrell 21, and George Earnshaw, Rube Walberg and Vernon Gomez 20 each. The A's alone have as many 20-game winners as the entire National League had in 1929 and 1930 combined.

TO BEAT OUT Bill Terry for the leadership of the National League, if not of both leagues, in base hits this season, Lloyd Waner will be required to make four safeties more than Terry between now and the finish, and he will have only one extra game in which to do it, the Pirates having four games more to play while the Giants have three. Terry made a gain of two yesterday and the totals today were 212 for the Giant and 209 for Waner. Lou Gehrig, with 205, is third in the race for the leadership of both leagues, but with six games more to play he has a chance to gain on Terry and Waner.

MANAGER JOHN McGRAW, of the Giants, says he likes Shanty Hogan immensely and feels sorry for the big catcher in fining him $200 and suspending him for the remainder of the season without pay, but adds that he must have discipline on his club at any cost and that Hogan had to be punished. The action followed Shanty's run-in with Dr. Knowles, Giant trainer, who is said to have reported infractions of the club rules by the backstop.

"Dr. Knowles represents me in matters of this kind," McGraw said, "and acted not only within his rights, but in line with the duties of his position. I insist upon discipline on my ball club, and it's about time that Hogan learns it. He is too suspicious of other persons' motives and has no regard for the fact that Dr. Knowles has duties to perform that must be respected."

THE FIRST OF a string of heavyweight fights carded for this week is on the card for tonight in New York when Tommy Loughran and Joe Sekyra are to tangle for 10 rounds.

Sekyra recently gave Charley Retzlaff the latter's first defeat, but though a fast and shifty gloveman he does not measure up to Loughran's standards and the decision in tonight's bout looks certain for Tommy. On the same card, Retzlaff, who made a new start with a knockout victory last week, bids fair to score again at the expense of Dick Onken, German heavy.

Glenna Collett Vare

EARLY INDICATIONS THAT Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare would find it no easy matter to retain the women's golf championship of the United States, a title she has won three years in succession and five times in all, were borne out at Buffalo yesterday when she was tied at 82 for medal honors in the qualifying round by three other entrants who apparently are in top form—Mrs. Opal Hill, Mrs. Harley Higbie and Miss Maureen Orcutt. There are several other strong contenders in the qualifying field, which includes Miss Betty Abernathy, of Pittsburgh, and Miss Fritzi Stifel, of Wheeling, W. Va., and though Mrs. Vare still looks like the class of the lot she may share the experience of a number of male stars this season in discovering that it's anything but a smooth year in golf for champions or favorites.

CARD FOR NEXT SEASON IS ANNOUNCED

The University of Pittsburgh and the University of Pennsylvania will renew football relations which have been dropped since 1925 next year, according to the announcement made today by W. D. Harrison, director of athletics at Pitt.

The two schools will meet at Franklin Field next fall on November 5, the date originally set for the Pitt-Tech game at the Stadium. Tech consented to shift its game with Pitt to November 19, the Saturday before Thanksgiving, to clear the way for the Penn game.

The game was scheduled by W. D. Harrison of Pitt, and Dean Leroy Mercer and Graduate Manager H. J. Schwartz of Penn, and was approved at the quarterly meeting of the Pitt Athletic Council this morning.

The contract calls for a single game at Philadelphia, but the way is open for a return game at Pittsburgh in 1933.

With the moving up of the Tech game to the Saturday before Thanksgiving, the opener has been shifted to West Virginia on October 1.

October 1—West Virginia at Morgantown.

October 8—Duquesne at the Stadium.

October 15—Army at New York City.

October 22—North Carolina State at the Stadium.

October 29—Notre Dame at the Stadium.

November 5—Pennsylvania at Philadelphia.

November 12—Nebraska at Lincoln, Neb.

November 19—Carnegie Tech at the Stadium.

November 24—Penn State at the Stadium.

SARAZEN SETS PACE WITH 71

QUINCY, Mass., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Gene Sarazen, Long Island professional, became a medalist for the second consecutive tournament yesterday when he led a field of 176 in the opening round of the New England open golf play at the Wollaston Golf Club.

Gene, who topped the field in last week's P. G. A. championship qualifying rounds at Providence, clipped two strokes off par by putting six birdies on top of several poor holes for a total of 71.

Four professionals — Bobby Cruickshank, of Purchase, N. Y.; Dave Hackney, Lowell; Charley McAndrew, Quincy, and Larry Lowe of Portland, Me.—equaled the par 73 and finished deadlocked for second place. Three were tied for third with 74s—Bill Mehlhorn of New York; Johnny Farrell, Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Bert Nicol, of Belmont.

Joe Turnesa, of Elmsford, N. Y., and Joe Kirkwood, of Chicago, were in the group of 75 carders.

Aubrey Boomer, of England, former French open champion and only foreigner in the quest for the prizes totaling $3,000, played steady golf and got a 77 to finish in a six-cornered tie for sixth place.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE MONUMENT TO AN APPLE—On the monument to the Baldwin Apple, in Wilmington, Mass., the apple has received commemoration in reality as well as in legend. This apple is one of the leading varieties produced in New York State. This pillar, erected in 1895 by the Rumford Historical Association, marks the estate where, in 1795, Samuel Thompson discovered the first Pecker apple tree (later named the Baldwin), while locating the line of the Middlesex Canal. JACKIE MACK—Jackie Mack, the Philadelphia Barrel Sitter, sat crouched in a small barrel, 29 inches in length and 22 inches wide, for more than a month. The occasion of this feat of endurance was a store window attraction, in an advertising campaign, at Nineteenth and Market streets, Philadelphia. Mack climbed into the barrel on January 24, 1931, and did not get out until February 24—after 729½ continuous hours in that position.

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Charles (Chuck) Klein, the Phillies' great outfielder, home run hitter and speed boy, will not be a Pirate, a Cub, a Cardinal, an Eagle, an Elk or a Moose next year, because he will remain a Quaker. If you want to get that in writing, just call on Burt Shotton, the manager of the Phillies, who should know something about the important matter.

The scribes have been trading Chuck for the past month without consulting Manager Shotton. The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph today asked him for a statement on Klein and Burt responded in a lucid manner.

"If you want to pick up some money, just lay a bet that Chuck will not be traded to anybody," declared the boss of the Quaker City outfit, with much feeling.

McGRAW LIKES BOOTS

So the Pirates might as well turn to some other club as the barter for next year. They might find a better hunting ground if they get in touch with John J. McGraw. Bill Terry has been with the Giants so long a change of pasture might do him good, and Pirate brigade who are due to be Pirates brigade who are due to be put on the market.

McGraw always liked George Grantham—didn't he choose him on an all-star team some years ago? He did, largely because he loved the punch and speed possessed by George. Grantham was chosen for the first-base position.

Klein is showing his wares at Forbes Field in the last series of the season in the Oakland Orchard. Chuck has been out for more than a week with injuries, but he was back on the job and driving

Says Nick Altrock

(Baseball's Comedian)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Ho-hum, fall is here, but around the East we're still suffering from an Indian summer. Personally, I would trade it back to the Indians for a string of beads.

Nick Altrock

The climate is certainly balmy, but the way some teams like Cleveland, the Cubs and Giants, have been booting the ball, they must think it is football weather. If their fielding averages go any lower, they will be listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

I see Gabby Street tried out his knuckles Sunday, and caught part of a game for the Cards. Gabby was only behind the plate for three innings, but I'll bet he talked nine innings' worth.

By virtue of a compromise verdict, Tiger Joe West, of Brookline, today rates in the fistic records as on a par with Paul Pirrone, lusty-belting Cleveland middleweight. They battled in the 10-round windup of the closing show of the season at the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, last night, and Pirrone really won the tussle, but received the vote of only one judge, Frank Hogan, while the other one, L. K. Meininger, and the referee, Al Grayber, joined in scoring the thing a draw.

It was a lively shindy, full of hard hitting, and saw Pirrone get off to a tremendous lead in the first six rounds, during which he closed West's left eye and drew blood from the mouth and punched away at will, and then tired as he tried to heed the referee's injunction to step out and keep up the pace instead of showing an inclination to rest between spurts.

BUFFALO COUNTRY CLUB, WILLIAMSVILLE, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, Miss Bernice Wall, Miss Maureen Orcutt and Miss Virginia Van Wie won first round match in the women's national golf championship here today. Mrs. Vare defeated Jean Armstrong, 6 and 4; Miss Wall won over Mrs. G. H. Lifur, 7 and 5; Miss Orcutt defeated Jane Broadwell, 4 and 3, and Miss Van Wie defeated Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake, 4 and 2.

By NAN O'REILLY

International News Service

BUFFALO COUNTRY CLUB, Sept. 22.—The golfer who can play shots in the face of a small sized gale is going to have a tremendous advantage in the women's national championship tournament on the links of the Country Club of Buffalo here today, for when Maureen Orcutt, of Haworth, N. J., and Jane Broadwell, of Longmeadow, Mass., teed up for the first round the wind was whipping and snarling although the sun was out by way of compensation.

Maureen lost no time in getting the jump on her opponent as she won the first three holes to be 3 up at the third.

GETS EARLY LEAD

Bernice Wall, of Oshkosh, Wisconsin, was 1 up at the third on Mrs. Gregg Lifur, of Los Angeles, while Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, finalist a year ago, and Marion Turpie Lake, of Great Neck, L. I., were all even for three holes.

Glenna Collett Vare, of Philadelphia, who is defending her championship title this week, found herself 1 down at the third to Jean Armstrong, of Chicago, while Betty Abernathy, of Pittsburgh, also upset the dope a bit by taking an early lead on Frances Williams, of Lehigh, Pa.

Miss Orcutt reached the turn 4 up on Miss Broadwell. Bernice Wall and Mrs. Lifur made a great fight for six holes, when Bernice was only 1 up. Mrs. Lifur won the first, lost the second and third, and became 2 down at the fifth, but Bernice cut this margin by ramming in a deuce at the sixth.

ALL SQUARE AT SIXTH

Virginia Van Wie was all even for six holes with Marion Lake. Miss Frances Williams rallied to go 2 up on Miss Abernathy at the sixth.

At the sixth hole Mrs. Vare and Miss Armstrong were all even.

Mrs. Charles Eddis, of Toronto, was 1 up at the sixth on Mrs. Arthur Harrison, of Buffalo, and Mrs. Leo Federman, of Long Island, held the same margin at the same hole over Mrs. Leon Solomon, of Fort Worth, Tex. Helen Payson Corson, former Canadian champion from Philadelphia, was 1 up at the fifth on Mrs. Henri Prunaret, Jr., of Newton Center, Mass.

FINAL GAME TODAY

The third and final game of the West Penn League series will be played this evening at Hartman Park, Homestead. Aces copped the first game while Linwood took the second, 6-4. The game will be called at 5:30.

GOLFERS BEGIN PLAY AT SPA

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, Pa., Sept. 22.—C. T. McDonald and W. B. Smith, both of the Nemacolin Country Club, were the first two to finish the opening half of the qualifying round in the annual invitation tournament here today. McDonald had a 43-42—85 and Smith a 44-44—88.

A field of approximately 170 golfers, one of the largest in the history of the tournament, is entered for this year's event. Bright, clear warm weather greeted the players this morning, but a heavy wind which swept over the course added a few strokes to the scorecards.

The defending champion, George McClure, of the Chartiers Heights Country Club, Pittsburgh, was in fettle to regain his laurels, for yesterday he established a new course record of 65 for the local resort links. Par of 69, however, never has been broken in competition.

The mark breaks the 66 established two years ago by Al Alcroft, professional at the Youngstown Country Club. McClure's card, with par, follows:

Par out	5	4	3	4	4	3	4	3	4	—34
Par in	4	3	4	3	4	5	4	4	4	—35	—69
McClure—
Out	5	3	3	4	3	4	3	2	4	—31
In	3	3	4	3	4	5	4	3	3	—34	—65

Among Pittsburgh stars competing are Sam Parks, Jr., of Highland; John Graham, of South Hills; Leonard Sasso, of Chartiers Heights; Bill Donahue, South Hills; C. K. Browne, South Hills; Dr. W. H. K. McDiarmid, Alcoma champion; Herb Miller, Jr., of Aliquippa; Dr. J. H. Euwer, Alcoma; R. W. Thompson, of Ellwood City; Dr. Joe E. Stanger, of Highland, and Frank Nash, of Highland.

Arthur (Ducky) Yates, of Rochester, N. Y., again is a title contender.

CHARLEROI STRONG W. P. I. A. L. CONTENDER

Murray Armentrout, Suddenly Ill, May Not Play Against Buffalo

SCOTT TO FACE TOUGH LINE FRIDAY

By JULIUS LEVIN

Charleroi High School, which meets Scott High at North Braddock in a night battle Friday, will present a powerful line against Johnny Reed's Blue and White gridders, thanks to the coaching of Frank Cantoni, former star guard at Grove City College. Cantoni is assisting Head Coach Steve Stephanian, himself a former Grove City basketball and football star.

Frank Cantoni

Charleroi's line this year averages around 175 pounds, giving the Magic City eleven one of the heaviest forward walls in the district. Cantoni has accomplished wonders with the line candidates at Charleroi and has proven himself a valuable asset to Coach Stephanian.

Mahovich at halfback likely will bear the brunt of the Charleroi attack against Scott. This boy ran wild against Ellsworth-Cokeburg last Friday, scoring seven touchdowns in the 70-0 victory registered by his teammates.

STRONG CONTENDER

The Charleroi eleven is one of the strongest contenders for the W. P. I. A. L. toga this season and the battle with Scott High should prove one of the best attractions of the week.

In the meantime Coach Johnny Reed and his aides at North Braddock are striving to correct the flaws that cropped out during the opening battle with Scottdale last week. North Braddock fans likely will find their favorites a vastly improved eleven against Charleroi.

School Notes

Two natural rivals clash at Husher Field, Monessen, next Friday night when Monessen meets Redstone Township. Clyde Smith, former Geneva College star, is coaching at Redstone and he is whipping his charges in shape bent on scoring a victory over Doty's machine. Hollander, star lineman at Monessen, looms as one of the best in the district.

Two sets of Reeves brothers are members of the Charleroi squad this Fall. Chuck Reeves at halfback is one of the mainstays of the Magic City eleven.

Nate Lippe will take his Aliquippa eleven to Washington next Friday to engage Hank Day's Little Presidents in the second game of the season for both clubs. Lippe's team started with an 8-6 victory over Rochester, while the Little Presidents swamped Waynesburg, 34-0, in their inaugural battle.

Eddie Gutowski, center on Moe Rubenstein's Ambridge High School eleven, is one of the best all-around athletes in the Beaver Valley. He showed up exceptionally well in the 6-0 victory Ambridge scored over Monaca. Michaelsen, at fullback, proved another shining light for Ambridge. He weighs 115 pounds.

Bill Campbell, coach at Homestead High School, does not expect to find Carnegie High a soft opponent in the battle at Homestead next Saturday. Carnegie showed a lot of power in its opener with South Fayette, winning 18-6.

McKees Rocks will be the opponent of Phil Bridenbaugh's New Castle eleven in a night battle at New Castle next Friday.

DORMONT WINS CITY CROWN

The City League baseball championship series was brought to an end when the Dormont Club defeated Book Shoe, 6 to 2, in their hard-fought game at the Dormont High School field last evening.

Dormont copped the gonfalon by a count of three games to two, two other tilts having ended in deadlocks.

In a seven-inning hurling duel, Abe Martin outsmarted Ted Blair on the mound. Dormont was bolstered with the addition of Ollie Carnegie, just returned from the minors, who came through with a homer in the sixth. The score:

SANDLOT GRID OPENERS SET

By TOM BIRKS

The opening game in the Western Pennsylvania Independent Gridiron Conference between six of the outstanding clubs of the district, for the title now held by Art Rooney's Majestics, have been announced.

The opening contests find East Liverpool meeting the McKeesport Olympics, at Olympia Park, East Pittsburgh at West View, and Art Rooney's champions pitted against the Dan Burns aggregation at New Kensington.

The first two will be played Sunday, but Majestic-Burns tilt probably will be played next Wednesday evening. The champions held their first meeting last evening, and with Art Rooney back in town probably will call a scrimmage practice for Thursday.

The Burns night home games will be played Wednesday evening.

West View, McKeesport and East Pittsburgh had hard battles last Sunday to get in shape, and many of the coaches ready to cut their squads down to the 20 allowed under conference rules.

West View fans were pleased to see Boots Klinzing again. Boots is one of the hardest working halfbacks in the confernece. Rooney will have a worthwhile team in there to defend the title. Jimmy Rooney, Mose Kelsh, Harp Vaughan, and Sleepy Glenn will compare with any quartet in the conference.

Coach Andy Cutler intends to give the Tube City fans something to enthuse over when the Potters appear at Olympic Park. Under the managerial wing of Purl Daily the Potters have some classy talent.

East Liverpool is keen to make a good showing, and, while the list of players representing the club has not been divulged, it is known that Bill Priest, former Geneva fullback, will be playing.

Burns probably will arrange a game for the latter part of the week under the lights. Coach Al Dunn wants to see his players in action. The scrimmage practice sessions have been to his satisfaction, but the Aluminum town likes a winner, and Dunn wants one.

All arrangements for the opening of the Lightweight Conference season were completed at a meeting held last night. The Section II race gets under way Sunday, with the Pleasant Valley Smilers at Rox Rangers.

Opening games in Section III Sunday, find Whitaker at Oakmont, Highland Grove at Arlington Odds, and Westinghouse Alumni at North Side Traders.

Victorio Campolo Stops Torriani

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(AP.)—Victorio Campolo, Argentine heavyweight, stopped Umberto Torriani, of Italy, in 32 seconds of the second round of their scheduled 10-round bout at the New York Coliseum last night.

Torriani went down three times in the first round, the bell coming to his rescue when he was flat on the canvas the third time. Campolo floored his rival twice in the second round before the referee stepped in and halted the uneven contest.

DILLON VICTOR IN NET PLAY

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Second and third round hostilities monopolize today's card of play in the ninth annual Harvard cup inter-scholastic net tournament, in progress since yesterday on the Trees Field courts of the University of Pittsburgh. Excellent competition looms as the debating narrows toward the quarter-finals, toward which Chairman Wells Fay aims with this afternoon's extensive program.

Thirty-four youthful racqueters, representing exactly a score of Allegheny County's secondary schools, were listed in the inaugural cavorting, in the course of which 15 engagements were definitely disposed of before nightfall last evening.

FAVORITES WIN

With one notable exception, seeded favorites cantered through early bracket matches. Charles Stone, hard-hitting Sewickley entrant and third on the list, proved the lone member of the select group to drop by the wayside. Byron Dillon, dogged Bellevue contender, out-steadying the Valley lad after a bitter fracas, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5.

Meanwhile, Paul Elliott, rated number one, carried Wilkinsburg colors through impressively against Joe Nichols, Aspinwall hope, 6-2, 6-1, and Harold Hatch, Mt. Lebanon ace, lived up to his fourth post by dint of a love-set triumph over Thomas, of Arnold School.

Emerson Hess, seeded second on the strength of his recent landing of City high school net laurels for Taylor Allderdice, eased ahead through default of Bob Steele, of Peabody.

Ralph Bald, second Mount Lebanon flash, provided the outstanding feature of the affair with ripping wins over Bob McCabe, clever Coraopolis entrant, 6-0, 6-1, and over Robert Madden, Schenley stylist, 6-2, 7-9, 6-2.

SHADY SIDE NEXT

Following today's milling at Pitt, the round-of-eight scene will shift to Shady Side Academy's Fox Chapel lot, with semi-finals slated for Arnold School and the final billed for the University Club. The summary:

FIRST ROUND

Byron Dillon, Bellevue, defeated Charles Stone, Sewickley, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5; Ralph Bald, Mount Lebanon, defeated Robert McCabe, Coraopolis, 6-0, 6-1; Thomas Stout, Coraopolis, defeated Thomas Guilfoil, Allegheny, 6-0, 6-1; Rodgers Goulding, Bellevue, defeated John Jones, Crafton, 6-4, 2-6, 10-8.

SECOND ROUND

Emerson Hess, Taylor Allderdice, won from Robert Steele, Peabody, by default; Roy Heckler, Crafton, defeated Paul Fagan, Duquesne University Prep, 6-0, 6-1; Robert Burnett, Wilkinsburg, won from Thomas Lynch, Shady Side Academy, by default; Lawrence McKay, University School, defeated Floyd Schake, Turtle Creek, 6-3, 6-1; Hubert Smith, Allegheny, won from Claude Beck, McKees Rocks, by default; Ralph Bald, Mount Lebanon, defeated Robert Madden, Schenley, 6-2, 7-9, 6-2; Lawrence Turney, Duquesne University Prep, defeated George Stone, Sewickley, 6-0, 6-1; William Goodrich, Stowe Township, defeated Charles Phillips, Clairton, 6-1, 6-2; Paul Elliott, Wilkinsburg, defeated Joseph Nichols, Aspinwall, 6-2, 6-1; Alwyn Browell, Turtle Creek, defeated Henry Wallace, Peabody, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2; Harold Hatch, Mount Lebanon, defeated P. C. Thomas, Jr., Arnold School, 6-0, 6-0; Allan Pfaff, Clairton, led Charles Wilder III, Arnold School, 14-12, darkness causing postponement.

Fight Results

At Meyers Bowl, North Braddock—Paul Pirrone and Tiger Joe West drew (referee's decision), 10 rounds; Billy Holt defeated Ray Lyle, 8 rounds; Matty Oldach defeated Jimmy Kelly, 6 rounds; Jimmy Reilly defeated Tiger Joe Clark, 6 rounds.

At New York—Victorio Campolo knocked out (technical) Umberto Torriani, 2 rounds; Leo Mitchell knocked out Joe Shelby, 6 rounds; Barney Baker defeated Frank Labianco, 5 rounds; Izzy Kaplan knocked out Gus Worman, 4 rounds; Solly Wenner defeated Steve Hayden, 8 rounds; Jimmy Abbey defeated George Cherebini, 6 rounds.

At Toronto—Larry Gains defeated Jack Renault, 10 rounds.

At Baltimore—Charley Gomer and Johnny Lucas drew, 8 rounds; Lew Raymond defeated Jimmy Burns, 8 rounds.

At Muncie, Ind.—Midget Wolgast defeated Joe Dragon, 10 rounds.

At Atlantic City—Mickey Blair defeated Buck Oliva, 8 rounds; Johnny Hayes defeated Dick Clarke, 1 round; Johnny Adams and Pete Pantello drew, 6 rounds.

SOCCER LOOP MEETS

The West Penn Soccer Football Association will hold a meeting tonight to discuss plans for a charity competition to aid injured players and officials. The Keystone League will meet in the Dutch Club in Bridgeville tomorrow.

Between Rounds

Babe Triscaro and Johnny Young, flyweights, box the main bout of a show in Cleveland Thursday night. Louis Sprons meets Eddie Bojack, Carl Cavelli opposes Rocco Laurie, Jackie McCann encounters Mickey Farr. Sammy Parks, of Pittsburgh, engages Joe Botta and Jack Weinert tangles with Sam Christy in the preliminaries.

Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, may meet Tommy Freeman in the second show at Motor Square Garden one week from next Monday night.

Frank Klaus, former middleweight champion, and manager of Belmont, has taken Clair Repele, the 122-pounder, under his wing.

Joe Sekyra, recent victor over Charley Retzlaff and paired with Tommy Loughran in New York tonight, will meet King Levinsky at the Chicago Coliseum, Wednesday night of next week.

Paul Monar, A. M. A. senior and junior flyweight champion, will turn professional shortly under the management of Paul Leib.

Joey Goodman will come here the latter part of the week to finish his training on the scene for his 10-round battle with Tony Herrera featuring the opening of the indoor season at Motor Square Garden next Monday night. The Garden, by the way, through Manager Joe Maser, announces that it is planning to cater particularly to women patrons this season, reserving good seats for fair fans accompanied by escorts.

The card will be completed today for the Jackie Wilson-Johnny Datto show at Hickey Park, Millvale, Thursday night. Frankie Portland, of Ambridge, and Jackie Griffith, of the Hill, are in the opener. Johnny Montebano, of Braddock, boxes Al Farone, of McKees Rocks, in the second bout and Matchmaker Bill Dummer is trying to pair Ray Collins, of Erie, and Louie Severo, of Cleveland, for the eight-round semi-final. Severo holds a decision over Collins.

Marty Simmons and Tiger Joe Randall finish their training tonight for their 10-round windup opening the indoor season in McKeesport tomorrow night.

The season at the Moose Temple will not get under way until next week, according to Promoter Apples Meyers, who originally planned to usher in the campaign there Friday night.

Sunny Jim McVey and Bruno Sala have been signed for the eight-round semi-final in the Herrera-Goodman match at Motor Square Garden.

CALUMET CHUCK SETS RECORD

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 22.—(AP.)—Calumet Farm's Calumet Chuck set a world record for four heats here yesterday to win the thirty-seventh renewal of the Kentucky Futurity for 2-year-old trotters. The event was the feature of the opening of the grand circuit races.

In winning the second heat, Maid McElwyn, making her first start on a mile track, lowered the world record for 2-year-old trotters to 2:02¼. The old record was 2:02¾, set in 1929 by Main McElwyn.

Maid McElwyn spoiled her chances for the first heat by a break before reaching the eighth pole, the Marchioness winning handily in a stretch drive from Brevere. Maid McElwyn outfinished Calumet Chuck in the second heat, after the Marchioness made a break at the head of the stretch. After this Chuck was not to be denied.

GRAYS IN DUAL BILL

The Homestead Grays will meet the Baltimore Blackanx in a doubleheader at Forbes Field Saturday. The first game will get under way at 2 o'clock.

PIRRONE WINS, GIVEN DRAW

ing punches at his taller foe, and finally wound up winded and outscored on the round. He could do no better than break even in the eighth and lost the ninth, and the Tiger, finally in his stride after his poor start, swarmed all over him in the first two minutes of the final round, only to wilt under a final punching splurge in the last minute, in which Pirrone at least squared matters for the round, finishing up by punching his man through the ropes and almost to the canvas. In the preceding session Pirrone himself had gone down into the ropes holding his groin as if hit low, but had resumed fighting without a protest.

Pirrone had four big rounds in his favor and one by a shade, while West won only two and held his own in three others. His rally in the last four rounds came nowhere evening up for the shellacking he had received in the first six, barring the fourth, in which he boxed his way to an even break.

FIRST ROUND HOT

The first round was an especially stormy one for West. Pirrone went to work from the start and made Joe hang on and waver as he plied left hooks to the head and occasionally shot over a right and belted solidly to the body. In the second round, West was warned several times to keep his body punches up. The fifth saw his left eye close from a overhand right, the while he also withstood a murderous bombardment of the body.

The fight was anything but a draw, but the records must carry it as such. West weighed 158¼ pounds and Pirrone 158 at 3 p. m.

A small crowd turned out for the show.

HOLT, OLDACH WIN

Billy Holt, of Homewood, 144¾, hammered out an easy victory over Ray Lyle, of Canton, O., 148¾, in every round of the eight-round semi-final, put on after the main bout. Matty (Popeye) Oldach, of Erie, 139¾, laced Jimmy Kelly, North Side southpaw, 143¼, in the six-round second bout, and Jimmy Reilly, of McKeesport, 133½, all but knocked out Tiger Joe Clark, of the South Side, 132½, in subjecting him to a one-sided beating in the opener.

Dr. Shanor was the commission physician, Tommy Grant and Max Zeugschmidt the timers and Ray Eberle the announcer. Joe Keally alternated with Grayber as referee.

LINCOLN FIELDS MUTUELS

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—(Special.)—The mutuels on the seven races at the Lincoln Fields track yesterday paid a total of $218.56.

TECH CAPTAIN IS HELD OUT OF PRACTICE

Sudden illness of Capt. Murray Armentrout, which held him out of practice yesterday, may cause Judge Steffen to alter his backfield plans for his Carnegie Tech team's opener with the University of Buffalo eleven at Buffalo Saturday. The big Pittsburgh boy was not able to don a uniform yesterday, although he insists he will be in shape for the first game. Don Fletcher, veteran right tackle, was also under the weather, and could not put on a suit.

The varsity ran through a snappy signal drill in the morning, with Johnny Graveno, speedy little Clevelander, in the captain's place, and Carl Forsman, last year a Plebe tackle, taking Fletcher's place.

TEAM GIVEN REST

The rest of the lineup, which may be the one used against Biffy Lee's Buffalo aggregation, had Ostrosky and Lewis at the ends, Croft at left tackle, Kebe and Henry Dreshar at the guards, Ducanis at center, Dueger at quarterback, Kavel at right halfback and Pouncey at fullback, although the alternate use of Bevevino at quarter and Sayles at full, indicates that they may get the call over Dueger and Pouncey.

Steffen declared a half holiday yesterday, despite his threat after Saturday's poor exhibition of continuing the two-a-day workouts until the very eve of the opener. He will permit the boys to rest until late this afternoon, also, indicating that he does not care particularly to bring them up too far for Buffalo, but will work now with the important W. & J. game on October 3 uppermost in his mind.

PITT IN SCRIMMAGE

Pitt enters its second day of practice today after its return from Camp Hamilton, and Coach Jock Sutherland is not going to rest the boys, but instead will hand them another scrimmage session.

Jock is busy trying to select his starting combination for Saturday's opener with Miami, but he is still up in the air over certain positions. He has practically decided upon his quarterback, a problem two weeks ago, but when it comes to his center and left tackle, he probably will have to toss a coin.

The surprising showing of Johnny Merideth, sophomore tackle, from Fairmont, W. Va., has complicated the left tackle race. Jess Quatse, two-year letterman, may have to take a back seat in favor of the newcomer.

At center the war between the two fighting Irishmen, Joe Tormey and Ralph Daugherty, is raging merrily.

Sutherland has had no opportunity to scout Miami, and as a result the Redskins will have a better chance to shake their crack halfback, Wilbur Cartwright, loose.

DUKES WORK HARD

All of Elmer Layden's Duquesne University footballers who are studying Shakespeare will learn the meaning of that line about "tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow." They are getting one tough day after another this week as the Duke mentor strives to polish up the many weaknesses which he noted in the first game.

Joe Bach gave his line a thorough going over yesterday, and states that the same sort of drilling will go on today and the following day up until time for the Night Riders' meeting with West Virginia University on Saturday. Each day will be tough, Mentor Bach infers and the boys believe him.

Head Coach Layden is bent on turning out some real ball carriers, since he cannot rely on the forward pass this season. The few throws which were attempted against Geneva showed how pitiably poor the aerial attack is this season. But just the same the Dukes will have one or two new tricks out of their bag for the Mountaineers or Elmer Layden will have changed greatly. The Dukes have just graduated to the ground and the ball-toting ranks and they expect to make good there.

Birmingham Club Trims Houston Lead

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 22.—(AP.)—Birmingham, of the Southern Association, defeated Houston, of the Texas League, 3 to 1, here last night in the fifth game of the Dixie Series, and thus trimmed the Texans' lead to one game.

Birmingham had dropped three straight games, and a victory for Houston would have ended the series.

COLTS DEFEAT CHARLESTON TO TAKE LEAD

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 22.—(AP.)—A ninth-inning rally gave the Cumberland Colts a 7-to-5 victory over the Charleston Senators in the Middle Atlantic League championship series last night. The victory gave Cumberland a three-to-two lead.

Sensational rallies featured the game. The Colts broke a 5-5 deadlock in the ninth, scoring two runs to win.

The clubs now travel to Cumberland, where the sixth game will be played tomorrow night. They return to Charleston to play the seventh game, if it is necessary, Thursday night.

PHILS TO KEEP CHUCK KLEIN

[illegible] tallies as the Phillies smeared [illegible] 6 to 4 yesterday.

The Quakers' success means that they have won the season's honors from the Pirates. Their latest exploit represented their twelfth success. Two games are still to be played but the best the home team can hope for is 10 triumphs.

BARTELL AIDS PHILS

Heinie Meine and Stew Bolen are listed to pitch this afternoon in the second game of the series. The two clubs will stage the last game of the season at Forbes Field tomorrow.

The fine drive of the Phillies against the Pirates this year was influenced in a big way by Dick Bartell, former Pirate shortstop. Richard the Lionhearted bears down all the time, but it is just possible that he extends himself to the last notch while batting the Pittsburgh club. The Quakers slammed the Buccos eight times in 11 starts in Philly and Dick was deep in every one of these victories.

Big Jim Elliott was credited with yesterday's success but the heavy southpaw had to have some help from little Ray Benge who rushed to the scene in the eighth while the Pirates were teeing off on Elliott. A whole flock of Pirate pinchhitters fell down with the victory at stake. During the game, Manager Ens used five bench men at the plate and only one was able to accomplish anything worth mention. Grosklos hit into a double play. Phillips drew a base on balls. Grantham reached base on an error. Mosolf fanned and Brame hit into a force play.

JENSEN HITS HOMER

Woody Jensen clicked a homer in the second round that scored two runs and put the Pirates out in front, but the Quakers scored three runs in the fourth on hits and a fumble by P. Waner. They added two more in the seventh and still had these two markers for an advantage when the eighth-inning drive of the Buccos flivvered.

Bill Harris was not much of a puzzle to the Phils and he came out for a pinchhitter in the fourth. Spencer, Osborn and Wood finished.

W. S. HADDOCK RE-ELECTED

The fifteenth annual convention of the Allegheny Mountain Association, A. A. U., was held in the Blue Room of the William Penn Hotel last night. Dinner was served for 60 amateur sports leaders who came from all parts of Western Pennsylvania to attend.

One of the speakers of the evening was Paul B. Riis, director of county parks, whose topic was "Clean and Better Amateur Sports."

Officers were named as follows: William S. Haddock, president; John T. Taylor, secretary and treasurer; Henry H. Blum, first vice president; R. V. Shinton, second vice president; Ziggy Kahn, third vice president, and W. Don Harrison, fourth vice president.

Thirteen new clubs were admitted. The following district commissioners were present: Leonard Healey, Monongahela Valley; C. V. Van Cise, Sharon; Dr. I. E. Weekley, Oil City; J. Lloyd Speckman, Ellwood City; Dr. C. R. Heise, Uniontown Y. M. C. A., and F. J. Burke, St. Michaels.

The committee on records approved many new marks established this year in field and track. Frank J. Cerny of the Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal Company established three new marathon records.

The following records were approved:

TRACK AND FIELD

16-pound shot put, John Valenti, Pitt, 44 feet 1 inch; 50-yard dash, girls, [illegible] Beth Bower, Slippery Rock, 6.1 seconds; 440-yard relay, girls, Slippery Rock team, 51 seconds; Baseball throw, girls, Jane Laird, Slippery Rock, 242 feet 3 inches; Senior A. KLEIN IS ELECTED

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Martin A. Klein last night was re-elected president of the Metropolitan Association, A. A. U. Running as an independent, Klein defeated the regular candidate of the nominating committee, Jacob W. Stumpf, by a margin approximating 120 to 70.

BRUNDAGE RETAINED

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—(INS)—Avery Brundage will serve another year in the office of president of the Central Amateur Athletic Association. He was re-elected to the post at a meeting last night of the board of managers. Brundage also is president of the National A. A. U. and head of the American Olympic Association.

MRS. GARBER GOLF VICTOR

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

Mrs. D. A. Garber, well-known Stanton Heights star, came through yesterday to top a large field in the one-day tournament of the Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania at the Oakmont Country Club. She had a gross 93, which was one stroke better than the 94 tallied by Mrs. C. I. Wendt of the Pittsburgh Field Club.

Low net honors went to a clubmate of Mrs. Garber's, Anna S. Wood, who netted 82. Mary McCune, of Montour Heights, was next with a net 85. Second flight net honors were won by Mrs. S. H. Fields, of Oakmont, with an 83. Mrs. E. G. Mueller of Edgewood won in the third with a net 84.

The Pittsburgh Traffic Club is holding its annual autumn tourney at the Edgewood Country Club today. A record entry list was anticipated by Ben S. Thomas.

Paul E. (Toots) Erath, affable caddiemaster at Edgewood, by the way, has announced that entries for the annual caddiemasters' and assistant professionals' championship, to be played at Longue Vue Monday and Tuesday of next week, will close with him on Thursday.

Starter Frank Petrolio, of the Schenley Park municipal links, has announced that Pete O'Hara, of Westmoreland, West Penn open champion; Emil Loeffler, of Oakmont; Perry Del Vecchio, of Greensburg, and Samuel M. Parks, Jr., Highland amateur, have entered the Schenley open tourney, to be played October 5 at that course.

Fans See Gibby As Bucs' Manager

That George Gibson, former manager, again will lead the Pirates next season has come to be more or less an accepted fact among the fans following publication in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph recently of a story to the effect that indications pointed in this direction.

Gibson, who has been here for some time attending the Pirates' games, is noncommittal on the subject, as are also officials of the Pirates organization.

Loeffler to Coach Dukes' Golf Squad

Emil Loeffler, of Oakmont, has been appointed coach of the Duquesne University golf team and has made arrangements to call out the Bluff candidates for practice this fall.

Matches will be played with the University of Pittsburgh and Carnegie Tech teams next season.

Practice for the season's opener will be conducted throughout the winter, it was announced by Coach Loeffler.

Financial America Feels Relief at British Course; Benefit to U. S. Trade Seen

By B. C. FORBES

B. C. Forbes

FINANCIAL AMERICA yesterday heaved a sigh of relief. Alarm over Britain's ability to meet her banking troubles subsided with the news that the Bank of England would stop paying out gold to all and sundry.

This decisive step was cordially acclaimed both in Europe and here. Even J. P. Morgan, now in England, broke his almost lifelong silence to voice approval. He called it "a hopeful and not a discouraging event and one which brings the great work of the British government much nearer to accomplishment."

THIS IS BY NO means the first time the Bank of England has put restrictions on paying out gold. As a matter of fact Britain was off the gold standard all along from 1914 to 1925, or eleven years out of the last seventeen. And it took similar action during two earlier periods.

AS RECENTLY as 1920 the pound sterling sank very much lower than it did yesterday. The low quotation yesterday was $3.70. That compares with $3.18 eleven years ago.

Still more recently, in 1924, the French franc went below three cents. Yet in seven short years France has risen to a position of phenomenal financial strength with $2,000,000,000 of gold bursting the Bank of France vaults.

What France has done may not Britain prove able to do?

"IT'S AN ILL WIND." Sorrowfully rather than exultingly does one point out that Britain's misfortune will infinitely strengthen America's financial position in that the dollar will now eclipse the pound sterling as the medium for international settlements.

While Britain remains on a non-gold basis, New York, having the gold standard and $5,000,000,000 gold in the country to back it up, will supersede London as the world's financial center. This is a development of incalculable importance.

INSTEAD OF HERE enumerating the many reasons for what has happened in Britain, let us, rather, consider how magnificently equipped the United States is to take care of whatever business expansion may set in.

First, however, it should be emphasized very clearly that the suspension of unrestricted gold payments by the Bank of England does not for a moment mean that the British government will not meet its obligations—bonds, interest and other payments—in this country or in other countries with which the government has obligations.

NEW YORK BANKS alone have $2,000,000,000—two thousand millions—of "eligibles" (commercial paper, etc.) which they could take to the Federal Reserve Bank, and on the strength of the $2,000,000,000 of Federal Reserve credit received by them they could expand loans by nearly $20,000,000,000, which is equal to almost three times what they now have outstanding.

Next, take the country as a whole. The Federal Reserve banks could lend our banks enough credit to expand loans by more than $55,000,000,000. That is more than the total now in existence.

SHOULD THE BANKS of the country choose to call upon the Federal Reserve for currency instead of expanding loans, the reserve banks could supply over five billions of additional currency on the basis of the eligible paper the country's banks now carry. In other words, the currency now outstanding could be more than doubled.

BANKS MORE, especially New York banks, present an extraordinary picture of liquidity. They are in a position to finance a boom tomorrow.

This being so, the writer suggests to our strong banks that they adopt a thoroughly considerate attitude towards sound borrowers. No responsible banker would admit that he has turned down "good borrowers," but since the panic the tendency has been to adopt an ultra-rigid definition, an ultra-conservative analysis, of what constitutes a "good borrower."

So, without countenancing anything savoring of undue risk, our bankers could do something to move business off its dead center by offering more encouragement to trustworthy borrowers.

THE NEW YORK Stock Exchange yesterday reflected confidence after an initial spasm of nerves. Many prominent stocks, including rails, closed higher than on Saturday.

NOW IS THE TIME for everyone to co-operate to the limit in hastening recovery.

Will the Interstate Commerce Commissioners please do their part by rendering a helpful railway rate decision without further dawdling? This might easily prove the definite turning point.

WEST PENN POWER COMPANY

NOTICE OF REDEMPTION

To the Holders of First Mortgage Gold Bonds, Series F, 5½%, of West Penn Power Company:

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the provisions of the First Mortgage dated March 1, 1916, executed by West Penn Power Company to The Equitable Trust Company of New York (to which The Chase National Bank of the City of New York is successor) as Trustee, that the undersigned intends to redeem on October 1, 1931 all of its First Mortgage Gold Bonds, Series F, 5½%, issued and outstanding under the above mentioned First Mortgage.

You are therefore hereby notified that said Bonds will be redeemed and paid on October 1, 1931, at the principal thereof and accrued interest and a premium of five per centum of the principal (the redemption price specified in said Bonds), upon presentation of the Bonds in negotiable form with all interest coupons maturing subsequent to October 1, 1931 attached thereto, at the office of The Chase National Bank of the City of New York, as successor Trustee as aforesaid, No. 11 Broad Street, New York, N. Y., when and where such Bonds are required to be presented for redemption and payment.

From and after October 1, 1931, the above mentioned Bonds will cease to bear interest and to be entitled to the lien of said First Mortgage and the coupons for interest maturing subsequent to that date will be void.

Coupons maturing October 1, 1931 may either be presented for payment with said Bonds or may be detached and collected in the usual manner.

IN BYRD'S FOOTSTEPS

Not so many years ago, the idea of a pleasure trip to the South Polar regions would hardly have entered your mind. But, since Admiral Byrd showed the way, it is now to be an actuality. On December 15, a modern ocean liner will sail from New York on the first pleasure voyage on record to the "bottom of the world." Turning south, the ship will proceed directly, via the Panama Canal, to the Ross Sea at the edge of the polar ice cap. Arriving in "midsummer" when the days are 24 hours long, its passengers will visit Byrd's winter home, "Little America," on the Great Ice Barrier, just seven hundred miles from the South Pole. After leaving the Ross Sea, the ship will complete a "round-the-world" cruise before returning to New York. Reservations for this epochal voyage are now being made by the Mellon Travel Bureau. Will you and your friends be among the fortunate voyagers to make this first pleasure trip to "Little America?" ♦

Bank Acceptance Rates Increased

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—All dealers have advanced bid and asked rates on bankers' acceptances by one-eighth of 1 per cent on all maturities. The new rates are: 30 to 90 days, 1⅛ per cent bid, 1 per cent asked; 120 days, 1¼ per cent bid, 1⅛ per cent asked; 150 to 180 days, 1½ per cent bid, 1⅜ per cent asked.

The Federal Reserve Bank's buying rate for bills is unchanged at 1 per cent up to 90 days. The dealers had been below that level and have now moved their quotations into line with the bank.

Gotham Silk Raises Pennsylvania Output

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—R. E. Tilles, vice president of the Gotham Silk Hosiery Company, states that, although there has been a strike in the company's New Jersey plants against recent wage reductions, the Pennsylvania mills have increased their output in an amount more than sufficient to compensate for loss of production in the New Jersey units. The New Jersey plants of the company produced only a small part of the total output, Mr. Tilles added.

SHORT SELLING BAN HOLDS

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(AP.)—The New York Stock Exchange continued to maintain its rigid ban against short selling today.

Officials of the exchange regard short selling as an important function of a free market for securities in normal times. Richard Whitney, president of the exchange, has often described short selling as an important stabilizing factor.

Information as to how long the ban against short selling will be maintained was lacking, but it was said in usually well informed brokerage circles that it would probably be kept in force for several days.

The exchange issued instructions to members to resume daily reports of short sales. They had been reporting them only weekly recently.

New York Building Contracts Expand

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Construction contracts for the first 15 days of September, F. W. Dodge Corporation reported today, nearly equalled the total for the month of August in the metropolitan area of New York. The total of $41,909,300 compared with $51,008,400 for August. In the 37 states east of the Rockies construction contracts in the first half of September amounted to $132,313,400. Non-residential building contracts contributed $27,972,400 and public works and utilities $44,238,800.

N. Y. Membership Sells at $168,000

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Arrangements have been made for the sale of a New York Stock Exchange membership at $168,000, a decline of $17,000 from the last previous sale. This is the lowest price since 1926.

Cuban Government Will Meet Debts

HAVANA, Sept. 22.—The Cuban Secretary of the Treasury says Cuba will meet all obligations in spite of the present crisis abroad.

STOCK MARKET QUIET, LIST SEE-SAWS

List Opens Off, Advances And Then Again Declines; U. S. Steel Among Losers

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—(AP.)—Wall street financial markets regained their composure today.

Stocks fluctuated uncertainly in quiet trading after a little flurry at the opening, and foreign bonds rebounded rather briskly, although domestics encountered some further liquidation. More foreign currencies were quoted by foreign exchange dealers, although business remained highly restricted.

Share prices fell back 1 to 3 points for many prominent issues at the start, recovered during the late morning and recorded numerous gains of like extent. By early afternoon, however, most of this advance had been lost, and declines appeared here and there. Issues off a point or two included United States Steel, Allied Chemical, Anaconda, Stone and Webster, Southern Pacific, Eastman and Union Pacific.

The improvement in the Paris Bourse and restricted resumption of trading at Amsterdam and Brussels were encouraging, together with announcement that the London market would reopen tomorrow. Much of yesterday's nervousness was due to the fact that all foreign markets were closed with the exception of Paris. It was feared that a worldwide rush to liquidate might converge upon New York. On the contrary, however, international bankers state that there is some buying of American securities in progress for foreign account.

The bankers' acceptance market was a little firmer today, dealers advancing their prices to ⅛ of 1 per cent, bringing them back to the level of last May. It was pointed out that much of the world foreign trade has been financed through the medium of sterling acceptances, but that with the unsettlement in London there will probably be an increased demand for dollar acceptances.

The weekly statement of Federal Reserve weekly reporting member banks was for the period ended September 16, and primarily reflected the government financing. A gain of $420,000,000 in government deposits was shown. All other loans, which includes commercial loans, declined $42,000,000.

LONDON OPENS TOMORROW

LONDON, Sept. 22—(AP.)—The London Stock Exchange will reopen tomorrow, it was officially announced this afternoon.

A general feeling of satisfaction over the decision to reopen was reflected in a general advance in the over-the-counter market today.

PARIS, Sept. 22—The bourse was strong near the close, with a substantial rally in international securities.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 22—The stock market reopened today with a satisfactory tendency. There was considerable covering by bears. Gains were made in the late trading.

BERLIN, Sept. 22—The Boerse remained closed today and it is improbable that reopening will take place before next week.

American Woolen's Mills at Capacity

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—The American Woolen Company mills at Fulton, N. Y., are running at capacity. Orders on hand necessitate putting on night operations.

Investment Bankers Face Difficult Problems

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THE INVESTMENT BANKERS Association of America will be faced with an unprecedented list of problems for discussion when the organization gathers for its twentieth annual convention to be held at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., from November 7 to 11.

The conventions of these leaders in the investment field always have been noted for the frankness with which major problems are studied. But at no time in the past has the organization been faced with so many critical situations which are of the utmost importance to the financial world.

In the first place the investment banking business is in an utterly demoralized condition. New financing, except where securities have an exceptional appeal, is at a standstill. The majority of investment houses have been compelled to reduce their organizations to mere skeletons of their former size.

Past Mistakes a Problem

THE GREATEST TROUBLES of investment houses today are attributable to mistakes made in 1928 and 1929. There are few houses which did not bring out at least some issues of securities which have been shown to be unwise flotations by the events of the past two years. The reaction of this on the investing public offers a distinct stumbling block to new financing. Investment bankers in many cases will have to go through a tedious process of rebuilding good will.

Perhaps the sorest spot is in the field of real estate financing where the mortality rate has been the highest and where fundamental investment standards were disregarded to the greatest extent. The public attitude toward real estate securities has been so rudely shocked that years may be required to restore confidence.

Fixed Trust Problems

FIXED INVESTMENT TRUSTS still involve a number of questions of ethical practice and good policy which remain to be settled. The action of the New York Stock Exchange in compelling the standardization of methods of reporting loads has gone a long way toward correcting abuses in this portion of the business. But many changes can still be made in offerings of this type to protect investors and to eliminate misunderstandings.

The unsatisfactory outcome of some of the municipal financing, particularly in Florida, offers some weighty problems for the convention's consideration. A large number of issues of this type have defaulted and co-operative efforts will be necessary to protect investors from needless losses.

Foreign Difficulties Seen

THE WEAKNESS IN FOREIGN bonds and the financial difficulties of both European and South American governments present an extremely difficult situation for investment banking houses. The question of just how far it will be desirable for American bankers to go in extending new credits to protect old issues is one of the outstanding problems of the present day.

With a great number of foreign issues selling practically at default levels an extreme amount of tact will be needed to prevent further demoralization and additional losses to American bondholders.

STOCK EXCHANGE TOPICS

Stock Market Situation Handled Admirably In Emergency.

Wall street conceded the situation in the stock market had been admirably handled considering the emergency character of the conditions confronting it. But the financial community could not help but admit it was greatly perplexed on the matter of what might be ahead in the immediate future. There was no disposition to contend that the market had definitely seen its low levels for the bear cycle. On the contrary, the question asked on all sides was "what is ahead after the short account has been retired." In other words, the street realized that the market's technical position is being constantly weakened as the short position is being closed out with no chance of replacement until emergency restrictions are lifted.

One of the factors which contributed to the spectacular advance yesterday afternoon was the urge on the part of more active traders to have some participation in the proceedings. There is the oft-quoted belief in many circles that the average big trader can stand anything but inactivity. In other words, this particular element cares little whether the trend of prices is either up or down, just so long as the market provides an opportunity for active operations. Thus finding themselves having no choice in the matter in consequence of the ruling of the Board of Governors with regard to "short selling" before the opening, this element strained at the leash through the first hour or so, later giving vent to its emotions through taking an active position on the long side for a rally.

Commission houses report that more switching has taken place in the market in the past week than ever before. The tendency is growing among investors to dispose of securities which have been held in strong boxes for a long time, and to invest the proceeds in other issues at about the same selling level, but having a considerably more attractive outlook.

A good part of this selling has been coming into what were the high-class stocks. Probably some of the investors disposing of such stocks were prompted to sell by little more than discouragement over the market price. At least this is the opinion of one firm which has endeavored to have clients give reasons for selling investment shares and buying others for the strong boxes.

The action of Western Union last week puzzled many students in Wall street. The stock had been sold heavily prior to the dividend meeting, about two weeks ago, but when the regular payment was ordered, active covering developed, causing a sharp advance. The issue failed to hold its gain, however, and seemed to be meeting increased selling. The stock has declined to new low levels, a keen disappointment for those who purchased following the dividend announcement.

Considerable selling has been coming into the market from individuals to provide funds for paying off called loans, or against which the equities were low because of the decline in the market. Such conditions probably were reflected in the drastic breaks which took place in several of the low-priced stocks in the past week. The manner in which these shares were pressed on the market indicated that the liquidation was necessitous. With bids coming for only small amounts, the forced offerings lowered prices in such stocks. When the pressure was withdrawn, moderate rallies developed.

Earnings of General Foods are said to have been holding well in the last few months. This is considered satisfactory in view of general business conditions and the experience of many other concerns. For the nine months ended with this month, it is probable that the decrease from the $2.93 a share shown for the nine months ended with September, 1930, will amount to 10 cents a share or less. In the first nine months of 1929, the company earned $2.83 a share.

British Budget Now Securely Balanced

LONDON, Sept. 22—(AP.)—Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, in a radio appeal last night to the British nation to stand by the pound sterling, declared:

"The pound will not go the way of the mark or franc. Though its value may fall in terms of foreign currency we can feel assured that the extent of the fall will be limited. The British budget is now the most securely balanced in the world."

WHEAT PRICES ADVANCE

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Wheat averaged higher early today, influenced by sharp upturns in Liverpool quotations and by unfavorable harvest weather in Canada. It was confirmed that Czechoslovakia's grain crops would be 1,000,000 tons below last year. Opening unchanged to ⅜ cent higher, wheat afterward showed gains all around. Corn started ⅝c off to ⅜c up and later underwent a general sag.

LOCAL MARKET IRREGULAR, QUIET

Lone Star Recedes in Early Trading, While Western Holds Ground

Trading was relatively quiet in the early dealings on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange with no sign of the excited effort to sell stocks noted at the start yesterday. Prices receded slightly, especially in the fuels, during the initial trading but the declines were generally fractional. Lone Star opened at 9½ as against last night's close at 9⅝, and Western Public was off ⅜ on the opening at 4½. The latter held its ground but Lone Star backed down to around 9.

In the industrial section the price movement was rather irregular. Westinghouse Air Brake recovered fractionally after having closed at a new low of 17 yesterday. Jones & Laughlin Steel preferred sold at 100, a new low and a decline of 2 points from yesterday's close.

THE ROAD BACK -:- By Erich Maria Remarque

CHAPTER XI

"What makes you so fidgety, Ernst?" asks my father. "You haven't sat still for 10 minutes together."

"Perhaps he is overtired," suggests my mother.

"No," I answer, a little embarrassed, "it's not that. I think perhaps I've forgotten how to sit on a chair for so long at a stretch. We didn't have them out at the front; there we just lay about on the floor or wherever we happened to be. I've lost the habit, I suppose, that's all."

"Funny," says my father.

I shrug my shoulders. My mother smiles. "Have you been to your room yet?" she asks.

"Not yet," I reply, getting up and going over. My heart is beating fast as I open the door and catch the smell of the books in the darkness. I switch on the light hastily and look about me. "Everything has been left exactly as it was," says my sister behind me.

"Yes, yes," I reply in self-defense; for I would rather be left alone now. But already the others have come too, and are standing there in the doorway, watching me expectantly. I sit down in the armchair and place my hands on the top of the table. It is smooth and cool to the touch. Yes everything just as it was. The brown marble letter weight that Karl Vogt gave me—There in its place beside the compass and the inkstand. But Karl Vogt was killed at Mount Kemmel.

TIME DRAGS

"Don't you like your room any more?" asks my sister.

"Oh, yes," I say hesitatingly, "but it's so small—"

My father laughs. It's just the same size that it used to be."

"Of course, it must be," I agree, "but I had an idea it was so much bigger, somehow—"

"It is so long since you were here," says my mother.

I nod. "The bed is freshly made," she goes on—"but you mustn't look there yet."

I feel for my tunic pocket. Adolf Bethke gave me a packet of cigars when he left us. I must smoke one of them now. Everything around me seems to have come loose, as if I were a bit giddy. I breathe the smoke deep into my lungs and begin to feel better already.

"Smoke cigars, do you?" asks my father in surprise and almost reprovingly.

I look at him with a certain wonderment. "But of course," I reply. "They were part of the ration out there. We got three or four every day. Will you have one?"

He takes it, shaking his head meanwhile. "You used not to smoke at all, before."

"Oh, yes, before—" I say and cannot help smiling that he should make such a story out of it. There are a lot of things I used not to do before, that's a fact. But up the line there one soon lost any difference before one's elders. We were all alike there.

Stealthily I glance at the clock. I have only been here a couple of hours, yet it feels like a couple of weeks since I last saw Willy and Ludwig. For my part I should like to get up and go to them at once. I am quite unable to realize that now I must stay here in the family for good. I still have the feeling that tomorrow, or maybe the next day, but surely sometime, we shall be marching again, side by side, cursing or resigned, but all together.

STRANGE AGITATION

At last I get up and fetch my greatcoat from where it hangs in the passage.

"Aren't you going to stay with us this evening?" asks my mother.

"I have to go and report myself," I lie. I have not the heart to tell her the truth.

She comes with me to the stairs. "Wait a moment," she says, "it is very dark. I'll bring a light."

I stop in surprise. A light! For those few steps? Good heavens, and through how many shell holes, along how many gloomy duckboard walks have I had to find my way at night all these years without light and under fire? And now a light for a few stairs! Ah, Mother—but I wait patiently till she comes with the lamp and holds the light for me, and it is as if she stroked me in the darkness.

"Be careful, Ernst, that no harm comes to you out there," she calls after me.

"But what harm could come to me at home here, Mother, in peace time?" I say, smiling, and look up at her. She leans over the banister. Her small, timorous face has a golden light upon it from the lamp-shade. The lights and shadows dance fantastically over the wall behind her. And suddenly a strange agitation takes hold on me, almost like pain—as if there were nothing like that face in all the whole world, as if I were a child again that must be lighted down the stairs, a youngster that may come to some harm out on the street—and as if all else that has been between were but phantasm and dream.

But the light of the lamp concentrates to a flashing point in the buckle of my belt. The moment has passed. I am no child; I am wearing a uniform. Quickly I run down the stairs, three steps at a time. I fling open the outer door and hurry out, eager to come to my comrades.

EMBARRASSMENT

I call first on Albert Trosske. His mother's eyes are red from weeping, but that is merely because of today; it is not anything serious. But Albert is not his old self either; he is sitting glumly there at the table like a wet hen. Besides him sits his elder brother. It is an age since I saw him last; all I know is that he has been in a hospital a long time. He has grown stout and has lovely, red cheeks.

"Hullo, Hans, fit again?" I say heartily. "How goes it? Nothing like being up on your pins again, eh?"

He mumbles something incomprehensible. Frau Trosske bursts into sobs and goes out. Albert makes me a sign with his eyes. I look around mystified. Then I notice a pair of crutches lying beside Hans' chair. "Not finished with yet?" I ask.

"Oh, yes," he replies. "Came out of hospital last week." He reaches for the crutches, lifts himself up and with two jerks swings across to the stove. Both feet are missing. He has an iron artificial foot on his right leg and on the left just a frame with a shoe attachment.

I feel ashamed at my stupid talk. "I didn't know, Hans," I say.

He nods. His feet were frost-bitten in the Carpathians, then gangrene set in, and in the end they both had to be amputated.

"Thank heaven, it is only his feet," says Frau Trosske, bringing a cushion and setting it under the artificial limb. "Never mind, Hans, we will soon put it right; you'll soon learn to walk again." She sits down beside him and strokes his hands.

"Yes," I say, only to say something, "you still have your legs, anyway."

"That's what I say," he answers.

LEAVE ON PRETEXT

I offer him a cigaret. What should one do at such moments? —Everything seems brusque, however well it is meant. We talk a while, halting and painfully, but whenever Albert or I get up and move about we see Hans watching our feet with a gloomy, anguished gaze, and his mother's eyes following his in the same direction—always only at the feet—back and forth—You have feet—I have none—

He still thinks of nothing else, and his mother is wholly taken up with him. She does not see that Albert is suffering under it. No one could stick that for long.

"Albert, we ought to be going along to report now," I say, to give him a pretext to escape.

"Yes," he says eagerly.

Once outside, we begin to breathe again. The night reflects softly in the wet pavement. Street lights flicker in the wind. Albert stares straight ahead. "There's nothing I can do about it," he begins; "but when I sit there between them like that and see him and my mother, in the end I get to feel as if it were all my fault, and am ashamed at still having my two feet. A man begins to think he is scum just for being whole. Even an arm wound like Ludwig's would do; then perhaps one wouldn't seem such an eyesore standing about there."

I try to console him; but he will not have it. What I say does not convince him, but it gives me at least some relief.

It is always so with comfort.

Synopsis

Ernst, who enlisted when a schoolboy, tells the story of a group of war comrades who march home when peace is made. They are disbanded and reach their home city in a pouring rain. Ernst and Lieut. Ludwig Breyer are attacked by revolutionists and rescued by Willy Homeyer. Then the three walk homeward together. They see Breyer home first, then Willy leaves and Ernst goes on alone. His homecoming shocks and disturbs him. His family seem like strangers. There is a barrier between him and them.

ODD FACTS

Lafayette was a major-general in the American Army at the age of 18.

It is estimated that there are nearly 4,000,000 boys and girls of high school age not in school.

Illiteracy in very low in Iceland.

DAILY SHORT STORY

'Whoopee!'

(All names of characters in this story are fictitious.)

Woman Is Shocked at Niece's Use of Modern Slang

"Whoopee!"

Mrs. Alicia Higson, watching the passengers alight from the train at the tiny Daleville station, heard the cry and glanced down the platform.

A golden-haired girl in a stunning blue dress was stepping down from the Pullman. She was waving at Mrs. Higson.

Mrs. Higson nodded and moved forward, a trifle embarrassed because several of the Daleville people had heard the "Whoopee," and she, Mrs. Higson, considered it to be a rather indelicate or at least undignified sort of salutation.

"Aunt Alice!" the girl cried, giving her a hug and a kiss, "what a gorgeous eyeful you are!"

"I'm so glad to see you, dear," Mrs. Higson murmured, a trifle nervously, because the girl, Letty Dawson, had shouted her greeting.

"Got your gas-cart here, Auntie?"

Mrs. Higson seemed to be puzzled.

"Your car."

She nodded. "Of course, dear."

Letty turned to the baggage-man.

"Hey, George, got a red-cap to tote my Gladstones?" she asked, indicating her baggage.

The baggageman, who was also baggagemaster, station agent and ticket seller, as well as telegrapher, stared at Letty. Mrs. Higson, her cheeks pink with embarrassment, hastened to him.

REFUSES TIP

"Would you be good enough, Mr. Crowley, to take those bags to my car?" she asked.

He promptly touched his hat.

"Sure, anything to oblige you, Mrs. Higson."

He put the bags in the car. Letty handed him a coin.

"Thanks, here's two-bits for the old sock," Letty said to him.

Mr. Crowley stood grinning, and shaking his head. Mrs. Higson nudged Letty and got her into the car.

My dear Letty, Mr. Crowley doesn't accept honorariums, he is a member of our church and also of our literary club," she said.

"Well, can you tie that?" Letty answered.

Letty Dawson was Mrs. Higson's niece, her only relative, although there were probably a dozen extremely nice young people who called Mrs. Higson "Aunt Alice."

Mrs. Higson preferred to live quietly in Daleville. Mr. Higson had been dead many years. Mrs. Higson was active in the small social life in the town, just as she still kept her connections with several highbrow associations in the city. She had once been a teacher of English at a widely known girls' college, had written several text books and books of travel.

Letty Dawson had never visited her aunt at Daleville. She used to see her in the city and had been abroad with her some years before.

FIRST VISIT

Letty lived alone on a comfortable income and was in partnership with a friend as an interior decorator. This was her first real vacation in three years and the first time she had seen her aunt in that time.

The next morning Letty was anxious for the mail. When it was brought in she ignored the letters and grabbed at a city tabloid.

Mrs. Higson eyed her furtively.

"I read the—"

"Yes, I know, Aunty, you would, but I have to get the dirt."

She read and chuckled and seemed to enjoy herself thoroughly.

That afternoon a dust-covered car with a trailer made the curved driveway at Mrs. Higson's handsome home and a bare-headed young man in a tattered khaki shirt and mottled trousers that had orginally been white ducks, leaped out and ran up on the terrace.

"Hello, Aunt Alice — how's chances for camping down at the pond for a bit?"

He gave the dignified little Mrs. Higson a vigorous hug and a kiss.

Letty, coming down to the terrace, saw this. The young man saw Letty.

"Well and well, Aunt Alice—if this isn't hospitality for little Wally—a sweet and dizzy blonde all ready for his playmate!" he exclaimed.

"Wallace! My dear! you look a hundred per cent better than you did last year." Mrs. Higson beamed on him.

Then she introduced Mr. Wallace Nelson to Letty.

"Another niece? Glad you're in the family, Miss Dawson," was his greeting. "So far as I can recall, you're the prize winning beauty of the tribe."

"If you were smarted up you wouldn't give anyone astigmatism," Letty replied.

"Whatever are you two children talking about?" Mrs. Higson wanted to know.

REMAINS AT HOUSE

Wallace Nelson was surprised to learn that his "Aunt Alice," who was no relation whatever, really had a niece. His mother and Mrs. Higson had been great friends for years, in college as students, and later in another college as teachers.

He took a bag from his car and dashed up to a room. He came down later shaven, immaculate in sport togs, and smiling. He saw Letty's morning tabloid and made a grab for it.

"Great—I've missed half a dozen of them. What's Little Boy Peep got for dirt today?" he asked.

"Plenty, Big Boy, plenty. Dick Sherwin is wise at last to the way his wife and Sam Varney were burning up—but you'll have more fun reading it," Letty said.

"Wallace—do you read that?" Mrs. Higson asked.

"Who doesn't?"

"I don't."

Wallace Nelson had 10 more days for his vacation and then he had to get back to his office. Instead of camping down at the pond on Mrs. Higson's property, as he did every year, he decided to remain up at the house.

Every morning for 10 days Letty and Wally snuggled up in a corner of the breakfast room and read the column together. Mrs. Higson smiled feebly, shook her head a little and decided that this generation was past understanding. At the same time she found herself marveling at their line of talk. She secretly read the columns and found it to be as interesting as it was amazing.

Wally finally had to depart. Letty was to remain another fortnight. She received four letters from Wally during that time. Then she returned to the city.

A few days later Mrs. Alicia Higson received two letters. One was:

"What Ho, Auntie—Adonis and I went up to a hot spot in Harlem the other night. He's okey-dokey and dances like nobody's business. His line is lovely but decent. I'm sure getting that way about him. Of course I mean Wally."

Mrs. Higson replied to each letter in about the same manner. She regretted that she could translate but little of what they had written, but she did gather that they were becoming somewhat fond of each other.

Two more letters came. Wally wrote:

"Listen, Sweet Lady—Read that column and learn something. And 'Fond' is scarcely the word for it. Already we're blazing and it's serious. Wish me luck."

Letty wrote:

"It's high time you branched out into the higher level of modern English. What I mean about Wally is that I've got a yen for him, he's my idea of the right answer and if I can make him fall right we'll be riveted. I'm sure that's clear enough."

Again Mrs. Higson wrote almost identically the same letters, to the effect that while their modern tabloid column English had thus far failed to impress her, it both amazed and entertained her. She also wrote that, unless she was mentally a total loss she began to suspect that they were in love.

"Whoopee!" Letty wrote. "You're getting to be one of us, my dear Auntie—you actually pulled the 'total loss' line, which was getting hot on the trail of the new school of expression for one so erudite. I never can remember how to spell that pediculous word."

"Hello, there!" Wally wrote. "So you have a hunch that it's love. Correct as far as you go, but it's such an unemotional word. I'm blazing over Letty. Be a good girl, Auntie, and write and tell her I'm her One Best Bet. If I can get her to promise to ankle altarward with me—whoopee!"

WILL ATTEND WEDDING

"Perhaps," Mrs. Higson wrote to each of them, "you two ultra-modern people are really falling in love. I have a feeling that it would be a sensible thing to do—fall in love and then marry. More than that, I happen to know that if you declare yourself you will find that your affections are whole-heartedly reciprocated."

Wally and Letty met and dropped in at Ernie's place for one of his perfect Italian dinners and what goes with it. They had been showing each other their letters from "Auntie Higson." This time they produced her letters and read, then they compared letters.

"Exactly alike—darling, is she kidding?" Wally asked.

"Not about me."

"Nor about me."

On the way uptown to an opening night they stopped off and sent this wire to Mrs. Higson:

"We will Lohengrin it on the 25th. LETTY AND WALLY."

The next day they received a wire:

"Aunty will be there. Whoopee!"

Q. and A. DEPARTMENT

Dear Aunt Bella:

I think I saw you at the movies the other night. You sat through three performances of "Men, Women and Love." Was it you?—Curious.

Ans.—I'll say you're curious. It was me and I went to see the Mickey Mouse comedy. You'd oughta be reported to the usher.

SOUTHAMPTON, L. I.—To create the illusion that he is traveling on an ocean liner, H. H. Rogers, Standard Oil magnate, has built a room overlooking the sea and equipped it with a marine engine and special sound and motion paraphernalia.

If Mr. Rogers wants to carry the illusion further, he might try drinking a little warm water with mustard in it.

Election Reform

Senator Harris Calls Gov. Pinchot's Attention to Some Badly Needed Legislation.

Senator Frank J. Harris has rendered a service in appealing to Gov. Pinchot to include legislation for the correction of election evils in the program for the special session of the Legislature that the executive has announced he will call for the relief of the unemployed.

We have seen in the experience of the last few weeks that our present system is inadequate to insure a full, free and honest expression of the citizens' will.

The Registration Commission found it could not purge the polls of illegal voters without also disfranchising honest citizens.

Even the courts have been confused, with some of the judges taking one position and others opposing them.

Complete revision of the election code is recommended by a committee of eminent Pennsylvanians who studied the subject.

The regular session was too busy with other matters to give proper consideration to the proposed changes, and nothing was done.

The extra session would furnish a fine opportunity to act.

A Great Improvement

Meyersdale Officials Offer Testimonials as to the Advantages of Voting Machines.

The Sun-Telegraph takes pleasure in correcting an erroneous report from Meyersdale that voting machines used there last Tuesday failed to function satisfactorily.

Joseph F. Reich, custodian of the machines, and M. H. Hady, election inspector of the Third Ward of the Somerset County town, have both written to deny the story.

Meyersdale uses voting machines manufactured by the Automatic Registering Machine Company, of Jamestown, N. Y., a type of machine that has been in successful use in hundreds of municipalities for a number of years. It is the type favored by the Citizens' Voting Machine Committee of Pittsburgh.

The Sun-Telegraph holds no brief for any particular kind of machine, yet it is forced by Allegheny County's experience with voting machines of a new and untried type to the conclusion that the County Commissioners made a mistake.

Mr. Hady writes that the people of Meyersdale are strongly in favor of voting machines and in his opinion would oppose a return to the use of paper ballots.

Mr. Reich says that the election last Tuesday was the third in which Meyersdale used voting machines, and that they have invariably given satisfaction. They are a wonderful improvement, he asserts, over paper ballots.

The Sun-Telegraph is in favor of voting machines and has urged their adoption. It believes that much of the trouble experienced here last Tuesday was due to the use of the wrong type of machine.

It is to be hoped that if the investigations now being conducted by the citizens' committee and by the grand jury support this view the County Commissioners will take steps to abrogate the present contract and arrange for the purchase of workable machines.

Children and Pistols

Better to Take a Chance on Burglars Than to Keep Firearms Handy Around the House.

A 9-year-old Duquesne girl was fatally shot by a 6-year-old playmate Saturday night.

They were playing with a pistol that they found in a bookcase.

There have been a number of such tragedies lately.

Many persons feel that they must have pistols in the house as a protection against burglars. And, of course, if the weapons are to serve in such an emergency they must be kept handy, in places where they can be seized in a moment.

We do not often hear of burglars killed by householders. But we often hear of children killed while playing with pistols.

It is better to take a chance on burglars than to run the risk that tots will get hold of firearms.

Bigger and Better Dams

The Federal Government Continues to Improve Navigation on the Ohio River.

The War Department yesterday authorized the construction of a new fixed dam in the Ohio River, 31½ miles below Pittsburgh, to cost $6,000,000.

The federal government thus gives fresh evidence of its confidence in the future of the stream as a great carrier of freight.

The new dam will replace the present dams at Legionville, Freedom and Beaver. We shall then have but three dams in the Ohio in the vicinity of Pittsburgh in place of six that were used up until a few years ago to give a navigable stage of water; for the Emsworth fixed dam replaced two, and the Dashields dam replaced one.

With this reduction in the number of locks the time required for steamboat runs will be decreased.

Another advantage is that canoes and other small pleasure craft will be able to make longer trips without being interrupted by dams.

The passing in this vicinity of dams with movable wickets is due to the steep slope of the Ohio. It drops, for instance, nine feet in the two miles between Glenfield and Glen Osborne. Dams of the movable wicket type cannot be operated satisfactorily when the current is so rapid.

It is worthy of note, incidentally, that the first dam constructed in the Ohio, the movable wicket dam erected at Davis Island in 1885, was an experiment. Never before had a dam of this kind been constructed on so broad a river.

These dams sufficed for nearly 50 years. Now progress demands that they be replaced with a bigger and better kind.

The Liberty Tube Peril

Dr. Maits Might Give the Carbon Monoxide Menace in the Tunnels Some Study, Too.

A traffic jam in the Liberty Tubes, attributed to the withdrawal of county police to guard the Courthouse during the election excitement, resulted in many motorists being affected by carbon monoxide from the exhausts of automobiles.

This has long been a menace.

Dr. C. B. Maits, director of public health, is conducting an investigation of the effect of carbon monoxide on the health of traffic policemen at busy downtown corners.

With the co-operation of the County Commissioners he might advantageously extend the study to include the situation in the tubes.

These Modern Husbands

When a man's heart is broken he merely picks up the pieces and offers them to another girl as a "precious relic."

It takes a lot more to marry on these days than ever. I don't mean a lot of money—I mean a lot more philosophy, faith and courage.

"Desertion" is an Indian rubber term, warranted to stretch over a multitude of sins. There are husbands who take the wife to Paris, and help her to PROVE that they are "deserters." And there are those who "desert" by merely staying at home and looking after the Pekingese, while their wives go to Reno.

* * *

Thousands of jokes have been poked at the "can-opener wife," but you never hear of men carrying dyspepsia tablets around in their pockets these days.

The happiest marriages are those in which the man thinks he's got an ideal woman and doesn't WANT to change her, and the woman knows she's got a poor, weak human being and doesn't waste time TRYING to remodel him. It's this passion for reforming each other that turns marriage from a privilege into a prison.

Among all the things that a man gives up when he marries the thing that he misses most is "guessing."

Most dissatisfied husbands and wives are suffering merely from matri-monotony.

Men are beginning to go through the formula of a "petting party" with almost the same automatic precision and inertia with which they take their morning "daily dozen." But you can't expect a man to have much enthusiasm for a kiss when you make it an obligation instead of a privilege.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Life hasn't turned out as you thought it would, has it? You, yourself, haven't turned out as you thought you would. Those splendid records you were going to make . . . those sterling qualities you were going to develop . . . they're still in the offing, aren't they, stranger?

But you haven't lost hope. You're always expecting "something to happen." Some day something will turn up that will completely change you and your life . . . clear up your bad luck . . . eliminate all your bad habits . . . and solve all your problems.

Maybe you'll land a better job—

Or someone will leave you money—

Or you'll fall in love with A Wonderful Person—

Or you'll get a chance to travel—

Or the market will come back—

Or (if you're a woman) you may find a new complexion cream which will make you look 18 again.

Whatever it is, it's going to work miracles. And you wish it would come along quick.

Honestly now, isn't that the way you're thinking? Then take it from one who used to be that way herself—YOUR DOPE'S ALL WRONG.

Something ISN'T going to happen. Nothing WILL turn up to change you. People don't change that way. And even if something did happen, gloriously, miraculously, it wouldn't do you a mite of good . . . FOR UNDER THE NEW GLAMOUR YOU'D STILL BE THE SAME OLD HUNK OF CHEESE.

Remember when you were 10—how you used to lie out in the tall grass, eating cookies and planning what you'd be some day? A Pirate, maybe, with a Secret Cave! Or a Beautiful Princess with dozen of lovers and yards of jewels! And how would you get that way? You didn't give that a thought. You just would—that's all. Something would happen and, in the twinkling of an eye, you'd be changed from a freckled little boy with warts, or a snub nosed little girl with a squint, into the glorious creature of your fancy.

You smile when you think of those impossible, kid dreams. But your present hunch that something-will-turn-up is just as foolish and impossible. "Infantilism," the psychologists call it—and the term fits pretty, doesn't it? For only an infant would think that way about the grim business of living.

Come out of the tall grass, drop your cookies and face facts. Life is what you make it. AND YOU NEVER MAKE IT IN A TWINKLING.

Nothing will ever turn up to change you—but you're changing yourself every second that you live. You are your own fairy godmother, waving your own wand . . . THE MAGIC WAND OF YOUR WILL POWER. With each decision you transform yourself. And your career will be the sum of all your decisions.

What will turn up?

Only your yesterdays—

BUT THEY'LL BE PLENTY!

Bessel, Great Leader of Modern Astronomy

By Archibald Henderson

One of the great figures, who "showed the world" how to do an important thing not known before, was Friedrich Wilhelm Bessel. From the standpoint of the mathematician, he made an elaborate study of a certain sort of functions or methematical expressions not known before, to which was given the name of Bessel's Functions. In astronomy he taught astronomers how to handle a telescope, to get the most out of it, and to eliminate, as far as possible, the personal equation of the observer. There was not a department of the science of astronomy, dealt with by him, which he did not adorn or improve.

Friedrich Wilhelm Bessel was born at Minden, in Wesphalia, on July 22, 1784. He was intended by his father for a commercial career; but after working for a time in a mercantile house, he found himself irresistibly drawn towards mathematics and astronomy, which had appealed to him ever since his early youth.

Although connected with no university or astronomical observatory, Bessel in his 20th year made some elaborate calculations from the observations of Harriott and Torporley two centuries earlier. These calculations determined the position of a comet afterwards to be famous as Halley's Comet, because Halley demonstrated its periodical return. Young Bessel communicated his result to the famous astronomer, Olber, who was so favorably impressed that he recommended Bessel as assistant to Schroeter at Liliental.

On taking up this work, Bessel made elaborate studies of the sixth satellite of Saturn, which he published in several large memoirs. His researches concerning the comet of 1807 brought him the Lalande prize of the Institute of Paris.

In 1810, he was appointed director of the new observatory at Koenigsberg, then being established by the King of Prussia. From 1813, when the observatory was completed and observations began, until his death in 1846, Bessel carried on research of the highest possible value in astronomy. In the course of time, honors of all sorts were showered upon him for his notable scientific work. Two of his contributions to science are classic works: the "Foundations of Astronomy," and his work, with the Latin title, "Tabulae Regiomontanae."

His most spectacular single achievement was the devising of a technic for finding and the actual finding by this technic, of the distance from the earth to the star 61 Cygni, which is about 500,000 times as far from us as the sun. Another important service was the fixation of the Prussian standard of length, which required two years. Bessel, an honored figure in the world of science, died at the age of 62.

The Sales Tax in Canada

(Following is the second article in a series by M. Grattan O'Leary, one of Canada's well-known editors, explaining the benefits of the sales tax in that country. Bills to provide a permanent sales tax in the United States—long advocated by the Hearst newspapers—will be introduced into the next Congress.)

By M. GRATTAN O'LEARY

Distinguished Canadian Editor.

OTTAWA, Sept. 18, 1931.

ADOPTION of the sales tax as a permanent part of the Canadian taxation system was not achieved without opposition.

When first introduced, in 1920, it was met by the cry that it would heighten the cost of living, that it would be difficult and expensive to collect, and that it would subject business to unjust and unnecessary scrutiny by an army of government bureaucrats.

It was argued, too, that the tax would not be productive of a substantial revenue—that its collection would necessitate so much of inspection and litigation that the returns from it would be inconsequential.

TEN YEARS of experience with the sales tax have refuted all these fears. Insofar as revenue is concerned, the sales tax, over a period of 10 years, HAS ACTUALLY BROUGHT MORE MONEY TO THE TREASURY THAN THE INCOME TAX.

The returns from the two taxes from 1920 to 1930 are as follows:

Year	Income Tax	Sales Tax
1920	$20,263,740	$15,587,000
1921	46,381,824	78,803,000
1922	78,684,355	73,656,000
1923	59,711,538	100,482,000
1924	54,204,028	120,676,000
1925	56,248,043	85,810,000
1926	55,571,962	98,097,000
1927	47,386,309	82,306,000
1928	56,571,077	72,100,000
1929	59,422,323	63,646,000
1930	70,048,000	44,859,000
	$604,493,169	$836,122,000

The sales tax, therefore, has in 10 years contributed $231,628,831 in excess of the income tax to the Dominion's exchequer, and, as a matter of official record, has been a close second to the customs tariff itself in the provision of revenue.

Moreover, while the income tax has been increasingly attacked and agitated against, the curious spectacle was seen last year OF THE BUSINESS AND COMMERCIAL CLASSES ADVOCATING AN INCREASE IN THE SALES TAX. The sales tax, in fact, is no longer attacked as an improper tax, or as an uneconomic tax, or as a tax which injures business.

THE CANADIAN sales tax, of course, has been brought to its present state of public support by a process of change and experiment.

When first adopted it was imposed upon manufacturers, wholesalers and jobbers, this necessitating a great deal of costly supervision. The original intention of the government was to impose it also on retailers, but the retail trade was successful in resisting it.

Under the first experiment, however, the rate was fixed at 1 per cent, and in cases where the manufacturer sold direct to the consumer the rate was 2 per cent, so that, in actual practice, and insofar as the consumer was concerned, the rate was 2 per cent.

The tax was a separate and distinct one, and all those who paid it were compelled to make out separate forms, so that consumers could be aware of the exact amount it added to the cost of each article purchased.

IN 1923, yielding to much public opposition, the government took steps to change the tax from a direct to an indirect one. The tax was restricted to manufacturers and importers, and wholesalers or middlemen were released from it. Further, manufacturers and importers paid in a lump sum on their whole turnover, thus getting rid of a multitude of forms, and making it unnecessary to inform the purchasing public.

The tax thereafter was ABSORBED INTO THE MANUFACTURING AND IMPORTING COSTS, and the public knew no more about paying it than they knew about paying the customs duties.

It was accepted by the mass of the people, while with the commercial classes it became AS POPULAR AS ANY TAX POSSIBLY CAN BE.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—Some courageous examples of "putting on a front" have zipped out of the depression along with amazing loyalty among employes. Especially has this been true of the so called servant class.

On West Forty-second street there is a small shopkeeper whose cashier and two clerks have not received a cent in salary for 14 months. They have lived on their small savings. In this way the owner has been able to pay the rent and light bill and the business has been saved.

A fairly well-known theatrical man related to friends at the Lambs the other day that he had only been able to avoid bankruptcy through loans of his valet, who not only remained a faithful employe, but sold a piece of property in the Bronx to tide him over.

I know a man whose life savings were swept away by trusting a bank's advice in investments and whose position of $30,000 a year went with it. He now lives in a cheap rooming house in Staten Island. He keeps up contacts with old friends who never heard him whine. Early every morning he cries papers at a ferry entrance.

There is a manufacturer in Westchester who went to the wall seven months ago. The next morning he told the staff of servants at his country home of his plight. They pooled life savings to stave off foreclosure on his house and have remained on the job, without salary, since.

Social workers found an astonishing army of former stenographers, secretaries and other office workers whose plight is made doubly difficult to alleviate because they will not accept anything smacking of charity. Any number are reported eating one meal a day only.

To my notion the bravest spirit of all is a song writer whose tunes were whistled everywhere four years ago and then a sudden eclipse. He is the reception clerk, greeting other ambitious lyricists at a Broadway publishing house which once published his songs.

* * *

Speaking of eclipses, there is perhaps no figure in the public eye in New York who accomplished such a complete fadeout as the bespatted Grover Whalen. Two years ago he overshadowed even Mayor Walker, who appointed him, in public interest. He was in news pictures daily, news reels weekly and the topic of a thousand stage, comic weekly and comic strip jests.

Whatever may be said of Broadway, it mints picturesque comments now and then. A single at the Palace had finished in a burst of applause. A rail bird turned to the man next him and observed: "A neat hop on the ball."

* * *

The Tenderloin has not forgotten the cowardly shooting of children by gangsters. It has resulted in a revulsion among even flinty denizens of the Tenderloin. I am told that in a Forty-seventh street coffee pot the other evening a dice player passed a stool occupied by one of the brooze racketeers and sneered: "Hello yellow! Suppose you are all heeled to sneak up on a few baby buggies." The gangster sat stiff and white, but said nothing. When he finally got up to go his tormentor called out: "All the nurses should be sleeping by this time. Get working, hero."

"Legs" Diamond is reputed the most spineless of the press agented Broadway bad men. "Hopped up," he often displayed a fierce bravado, but afterward he hid in abject terror, popping into a sweat at every knock at the door, and sleeping under the bed.

In all the ripe modernity stuffed in Earl Carroll's magnificent new playhouse the most practical to me is the tiny push button light on the back of each chair so that customers facing them may read programs or look at wrist watches when the theater is dark.

From a Brooklyn column: "Then there are columnists who try to appear mossbacks from Gallipolis, adoring the Roys and Elmers out yonder and sighing to sit again in front of the hotel in a tilted chair. But when vacation comes they sail for the Riviera to hob-nob with expatriates."

That's telling Gallipolis where to get off allright, allright.
